> Salt Lake City, Utah.-Swept from the alfalfa crops in sunny Italy; frozen stiff and transported in cigar-boxlike cages in the cold-storage vauits of a liner across the Atlantic ocean to New York, and then transferred again to the refrigerator compartment of a transcontinental train and hurried to Utah, is the experience of the alfalfa weevil parasites which, it is hoped, will save the alfalfa crops of Utah and all intermountain farmers from the ravages of the alfalfa beetle.

> The parasites are now coming to life again in the sunshine which filters through the windows of the United States entomology experiment station in the Utah capital, and they will be used in a series of experiments planned by the government with a view to helping the farmer in his fight against one of the most destructive pests of recent years.

The work is under the immediate supervision of A. H. The work locally with the Italian parasites and the alfalfa weevil is purely experimental. The idea is to will be no danger of fire. have the parasites lay their eggs in the eggs of the weevil and so destroy the weevil, while propagating the parasites. When it is known that the weevil's eggs, in which the parasites' eggs are to be laid, are only about the size of a pin point, it can be readlly understood that the men in charge of the work are called upon to use great skill in watching developments in such minute forms of life. Europe and western Asia. In those countries, however, its ravages are kept down by a parasite. It is that parasite we have brought from Italy to experiment with in this country.

"There is no telling how long ago the weevil was introduced into the United States. It may have been brought over in hay used as packing or something of that sort. At any rate it got here, and when it reached Utah it found conditions just right for propagation."

Black Bass Chews Tobacco

New Yorker Discovers Fish That

Bartletts, N. Y .- John J. Flanagan, manager at Bartletts, has as one of his proteges a black bass which uses tobacco. The fish, being an intelligent one, does not smoke cigarettes.

Mr. Flanagan got acquainted with the habits of the bass about a month ago. The bass' favorite loafing ground is near a power-house. Always, when Mr. Flanagan goes to the powerhouse, he flings the cigar he happens

He flung his cigar into the water by the power-house one day and the bass made a rush for it and grabbed it, disappearing under the water. Mr. Flanagan thought little of that at the time, for on certain days bass will strike at nearly anything, while on other days the most alluring bait will not tempt them. A day or two later he flung another cigar butt into the water and the same fish rose to it

After this had happened a dozen times, Mr. Flanagan was forced to the conclusion that it was not mere cradicate the alfalfa weevil pest will random hunger on the part of the posits in her ame aggregating $5. be successful. much torn and raveled, have risen to the top of the water half an hour or so after the fish has grabbed them, thus showing that the intelligent bass. really tried to smoke the rigar, but being handicapped by certain natural disadvantages, contented itself by merely chewing the weed.

Some of the summer boarders, after observing Mr. Flanagan's bass came to the conclusion that a natural taste for tobacco might be inborn with fish, just as it is with deer and goats. They experimented on several other fish, notably a number of catfish. The catfish, however, when put into a tub on shore, and fed small portions of navy plug chewing tobacco, became very sick at the stomach, showing every sign of nausea, and mewing pitiably. This, and other research along the same lines, with dog fish and pickerel convinced them that the black bass who hangs around the power-house is unique in his habits.

Why Uncle Reuben Could Not Meet Debt He Acknowledged as an Obligation.

Uncle Reuben, the village whitewasher and man of all work, was a frequent borrower of small sums from his neighbor, Colonel Arkwright, and as a rule he repaid these little debts at the appointed time; but on one occasion, when he had been accommodated with a loan of two dollars and a half, which he promised to return in a few days, he allowed two or three weeks to pass without making any mention of his indebtedness, and, in fact, seemed to avoid his creditor.
