Occasionally you hear a man bewailing his fate because he must work for a living. Humanity is given to mistakes, but it makes few that are greater or more blindly made than this. Look about you at those who do not work, either for a living, or the joy of work. There comes within your vision most of the unhappiness of life. The pampered boy who is trained to idleness and luxury, dies young, or grows old before his time. It is one of life's paradoxes that the surest way to fail to find pleasure is to pursue it. You are having more fun working for a living than fell to the lot of Harry Thaw or Henry Clay Beattie, neither of whom had to do it.

Wants The Girls as of Yore.

Backward, turn backward, O, Time, in your flight and give us a maiden dressed proper and right. We are so weary of swatches and rats, Billie Burke clusters and peach basket hats. Wads of jute hair in a horrible pile, stacked on their heads to the height of a mile. Something is wrong with the maidens, we fear. Give us the girls we once knew of yore, whose curls didn't come from a hairdressing store. Maidens who dressed with a sensible view, and just as Dame Nature intended them to. Give us a girl with a figure her own and fashioned divinely by Nature alone. Feminine style's getting fiercer each year—oh give us the girls as they used to appear.—Ex.

It Is Very Important.

Before placing your advertisement in a newspaper, always personally demand an inspection of the list, in order that you may know just how many families you are reaching and where they are located. This is a very important point in advertising, and you have a right to the information. The News list is open for the inspection of all advertisers. We do not mean to say that newspaper men wilfully stretch the truth, but a few of them have very large imaginations, and the tongue slips without much effort, and sometimes prompts them to make their circulation double what it really is.
