Fruit Growers, Attention.

In packing and shipping fruit for exhibit at the show of the State Horticultural Association at Duquesne Garden, Pittsburgh, January 15-20, 1912, the following rules should be carried out:

Pack the fruit in a good substantial box or barrel, each specimen carefully wrapped in paper. The apples should be laid firmly in the box, and if the space is not entirely filled, it should be filled up with crushed paper or excelsior, so as to hold apples perfectly tight and avoid bruising.

Each package should be plainly marked with the name of the shipper and with the name of the variety or varieties contained therein. This information should be on the outside of the box and it is quite advisable to have it repeated on the inside.

Apples for storage should be picked before they become soft, but allowed to color as much as possible without destroying their firmness. After picking, they should be placed in cold storage without delay.

Let Dr. King's New Discovery cure you at home. "It cured me of lung trouble," writes W. R. Nelson, of Calumne, Ark., "when all else failed and I gained 47 pounds in weight. Its surely the king of all cough and lung cures." Thousands owe their lives and health to it. It's positively guaranteed for Coughs, Colds, LaGrippe, Asthma, Croup—all Throat and Lung troubles. 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free at Trout's Drug Store.

The Boosting Of Sugar Prices.

If the Sugar Trust did not have a worse reputation than any other one might be persuaded to believe the short crop explanation of the phenomenal rise in the price of refined sugar. Because its reputation is so very bad, because it has bought legislation, because it has cheated both consumers and the government, there is little disposition now to put any faith in the explanation. It is said that prices are going up because the American refiners are empty, the sugar beet crop in the United States is below the average and because the cane crop in Cuba is comparatively bad.

A few months ago Congressman Pou, of Louisiana, (a sugar State) said that the American Sugar Refining Company was not only a trust but a monopoly; that it controlled more than fifty per cent. of the refined sugar business of the country and probably dominated more than eighty per cent. of it. The trust controls imports of raw sugar from Cuba. Its dominance in Porto Rico has been made easy. It controls the beet sugar industry in the United States. Whenever it wants to create a shortage of the supply it can do so. Its strength was created and its revenues swollen by its "scientific" manipulation of the "scientific" high tariff laws.

Here are a couple of facts that increase disbelief: One who is quoted by those who are predicting higher prices for sugar says that the Louisiana cane crop is about normal but that the sugar beet crop in the United States is bad. The official report of the Agricultural Department gives crop conditions and comparisons of the date of September 1. The average for the previous ten years is set down as 100. In the comparison the so called "normal" sugar cane crop is really 103.1, and the "bad" sugar beet crop is an even 100. Perhaps there is a similar mistake in the reports from Cuba.—The Star-Independent.
