

IN WAYNESBORO OCTOBER 17TH.
Glidden Tourists Start From New York Previous Saturday Enroute for South.
The Glidden automobile tourists will pass through Waynesboro Tuesday, October 17, the start being made from New York the previous Saturday.
The first day's run is from New York to Philadelphia, 90 miles. The second day is to Gettysburg 120 miles and the third from Gettysburg to Staunton, Virginia, 180 miles. The tour is from New York to Atlanta, Georgia, and Jacksonville, Florida, and is the largest and most important event of its kind in the United States this year.

DAIRY AND CREAMERY
A CONCRETE MILK HOUSE.
Any Farmer May Make One at Small Expense.
A house for keeping milk cool in the summer and storing fruit and vegetables in the winter may be constructed out of concrete from floor to roof. A man in a little Missouri town built one in the following manner, says the Kansas City Star. An excavation was made in the ground four feet deep the desired length and breadth of the building. Two posts were then set in the ground at each corner, leaving a space between them the thickness of the walls. Inch boards a foot wide were placed on the inside of these posts next the ground. The first layer of concrete which was made from cement and tolerably coarse gravel was put between them. After this was finished another round of boards was put just above the first ones and these were filled between with concrete also. Then another course of concrete was put above this and so on until the desired height was reached. As the concrete hardened the boards were removed. The door frame was set between the boards in one end of the building when the walls had been built up to a level with the top of the ground, and it was made secure by long bolts extending from the sides of frame into the concrete walls. The roof was made an oval shape by semi-circle rafters, the ends of which rested on the top of the side walls. After being covered over with boards a layer of concrete was spread on, leaving a place for a cement chimney at the center of the roof. The rafters and sheeting were left to give strength to the concrete. The floor was also made of cement and inclined slightly toward one corner where an eight-gallon jar had been sunk, into which any water might drain. The doors of the house were made double, one opening inward and the other outward. When shut they kept out the heat in summer and the cold in the winter.

Buying a Cow.
When I started out to replace our herd I had nothing to rely upon but my poor judgment, and the only thing that saved me from almost total failure was that I found lots of men who did not know much more about their own cows than I did, never having tested them in any way.
For instance, I found a man in Winthrop who offered me a small four-year-old cow for $26, and a two-year-old that had just dropped a calf, for $12, which was so very cheap I took them. The heifer is now four years old, and will make when this year is out about 225 pounds of butter. The cow failed to get in calf for a long time, went dry four months and got very fat and dropped her first calf last Jan. 18. She had given 5,929 pounds of milk that tested 6.8 per cent. butter fat and dropped another calf Nov. 25, after going dry only four weeks; if nothing happens to her she is going to make considerable more than five hundred pounds of butter in the year and dropped two calves in the time.
To offset that I paid another man $40 for a cow that had just dropped a calf and looked perfection itself. I thought I never saw a much handsomer cow stand up. But if I had given him the $40 and left the cow with him I should have been dollars better off. She gives a fairly good mess of milk when fresh, but soon begins to fall off and goes dry half the year.
Some of our new herd are far ahead of any of the old, and some are as far behind; they will average about the same. One of the new ones has gone to the butcher and others will follow as soon as they are ready. When the year is out we shall publish the results realized from the herd. Now I want to emphasize what I have said very many times, no man can afford to be in the dairy business unless he knows precisely what each cow is doing.—R. W. Ellis, Somerset County, Me.
Oat Straw Feed.
If oat straw is intended for feed, the oats should be cut before they are fully ripe, when the grains are in good dough. Oat straw if stored in the barn is almost equal to timothy hay in feeding value. Do not let oats stand in the field too long before threshing.
Makes Better Milk Yield.
Many veterinarians believe that if cows are kept during cold weather in buildings where the temperature is high, the milk yield will be greater than if they were kept in buildings of comparatively low temperature.
The Twist of Trees.
A singular uniformity has been observed in the twist of tree trunks. In 990 trees out of every 1,000 whose trunks show torsion, the direction of the twist is from right to left. This accords with the direction of the revolution of cyclonic storms in the northern hemisphere, and also with that of whirlpools, which the French savant, Jean Brunhes, says almost invariably turn from right to left. The question arises whether in the southern hemisphere the torsion of tree trunks has an opposite direction, like the cyclonic motions of the atmosphere in that half of the globe.

PROPOSED AMENDMENTS TO THE CONSTITUTION SUBMITTED TO THE CITIZENS OF THIS COMMONWEALTH FOR THEIR APPROVAL OR REJECTION, BY THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY OF THE COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA, AND PUBLISHED BY ORDER OF THE SECRETARY OF THE COMMONWEALTH, IN PURSUANCE OF ARTICLE XVIII OF THE CONSTITUTION.

Number One.
A JOINT RESOLUTION
Proposing an amendment to the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, so as to consolidate the courts of common pleas of Allegheny County.
Section 1. Be it resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met. That the following amendment to the Constitution of Pennsylvania be and the same is hereby proposed, in accordance with the eighteenth article thereof:—
That section six of article five be amended, by striking out the said section, and inserting in place thereof the following:

Section 6. In the county of Philadelphia all the jurisdiction and powers now vested in the district courts and courts of common pleas, subject to such changes as may be made by this Constitution or by law, shall be in Philadelphia, vested in five distinct and separate courts of equal and co-ordinate jurisdiction, composed of three judges each. The said courts in Philadelphia shall be designated respectively as the court of common pleas number one, number two, number three, number four, and number five, but the number of said courts may be by law increased, from time to time, and shall be in like manner designated by successive numbers. The number of judges in any of said courts, or in any county where the establishment of an additional court may be authorized by law, may be increased, from time to time, and whenever such increase shall amount to the whole or to such part thereof as shall be provided by a distinct and separate court as aforesaid, which shall be numbered as aforesaid. In Philadelphia all suits shall be instituted in the said courts of common pleas without designating the number of the said court, and the several courts shall distribute and apportion the business among them in such manner as shall be provided by rules of court, and each court, to which any suit shall be thus assigned, shall have exclusive jurisdiction thereof, subject to change of venue, as shall be provided by law.
In the county of Allegheny all the jurisdiction and powers now vested in the several numbered courts of common pleas shall be vested in one court of common pleas, composed of all the judges in commission in said courts. Such jurisdiction and powers shall extend to all proceedings at law and in equity which shall have been instituted in the several numbered courts, and shall be subject to such changes as may be made by law, and subject to change of venue as provided by law. The president judge of said court shall be selected as provided by law. The number of judges in said court may be by law increased from time to time. This amendment shall take effect on the first day of January succeeding its adoption.

Number Two.
A JOINT RESOLUTION
Proposing an amendment to section eight, article nine, of the Constitution of Pennsylvania.
Section 1. Be it resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met. That the following is proposed as an amendment to the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, in accordance with the provisions of the eighteenth article thereof:—
Amendment to Article Nine, Section Eight.

Section 2. Amend section eight, article nine, of the Constitution of Pennsylvania, which reads as follows:—
"Section 8. The debt of any county, city, borough, township, school district, or other municipality or incorporated district, except as herein provided, shall never exceed seven per centum upon the assessed value of the taxable property therein, nor shall any such municipality or district incur a new debt, or increase its indebtedness to an amount exceeding two per centum upon such assessed valuation of property, without the assent of the electors thereof at a public election in such manner as shall be provided by law; but any city, the debt of which now exceeds seven per centum of such assessed valuation, may be authorized by law to increase the same three per centum, in the aggregate, at any one time upon such valuation," so as to read as follows:—
Section 8. The debt of any county, city, borough, township, school district, or other municipality or incorporated district, except as herein provided, shall never exceed seven per centum upon the assessed value of the taxable property therein, nor shall any such municipality or district incur a new debt, or increase its indebtedness to an amount exceeding two per centum upon such assessed valuation of property, without the assent of the electors thereof at a public election in such manner as shall be provided by law; but any city, the debt of which now exceeds seven per centum of such assessed valuation, may be authorized by law to increase the same three per centum, in the aggregate, at any one time, upon such valuation, except that any debt or debts hereinafter incurred by the city and county of Philadelphia for the construction and development of subways for transit purposes, or for the construction of wharves and docks, or the reclamation of land to be used in the construction of a system of wharves and docks, as public improvements, owned or to be owned by said city and county of Philadelphia, and which shall yield to the city and county of Philadelphia current net revenue in excess of the interest on said debt, or debts and of the annual installments necessary for the cancellation of said debt's or debts, may be excluded in ascertaining the power of the city and county of Philadelphia to become otherwise indebted. Provided, That a sinking fund for their cancellation shall be established and maintained.

TWO CARLOADS.
Two Carloads of Buggies at one time, seems pretty strong for a Fulton county dealer, but that is just what
W. R. EVANS, Hustontown, Pa., has just received. In this lot are 5 different grades and styles, of Buggies and Runabouts including the Millingburg. He has on hand a large stock of Hand Made Buggy Harness.
The Prices? Don't mention it. If the prices were not below the lowest, he would not be selling by the carload.

Quarrel Led to Suicide.
Walter Boxley aged about 21 years, of Fredericksburg, Va., had employment in Chambersburg since last January. Walter had a girl—Miss Ann Freet, of Chambersburg. Last Saturday afternoon Walter called to see Ann. They had a little quarrel. Walter told Ann he had a notion to kill himself, and left her home. While she pretended to take this as a bluff, she did not sleep well that night, and early Sunday morning went out to look for him. She had not gone far until she came across the dead body of her lover. Walter had gone to a store, purchased a cheap revolver and a box of cartridges, walked into a nearby cemetery, and fired a shot through his heart.
