MISS FANNIE SLACKER.

Good Woman Dies at Presbyterian Hospital in Baltimore Last Friday.

Miss Frances Slacker of Hancock, Maryland, died at the Presbyterian Hospital in Baltimore last Friday. For several years she had been living with Dr. Tabler and wife who were greatly attached to her. She had complained greatly of her head for two or three weeks, at times suffering excruciating pain, at others, comparatively free from it, but she continued to grow worse until her mind seemed affected at times. Wishing to get the best medical aid possible Doctor Tabler took her to Baltimore, but an abscess had formed on her brain, and nothing could be done to save her. She lingered a few days, then sank into a state of coma from which she failed to rally. The body was shipped to Hancock and buried at the Antioch Christian church, Rev. Munger officiating.

Fanny was the oldest of seven children her mother having been left a widow when her children were small. She has played the part of second mother to her brothers and sisters and was loved and respected for her sterling worth of character by all who had the pleasure of knowing her well.

Dr. Tabler and wife, also his mother and sister, came out to attend her funeral which was a large one.

Miss Slacker was born September 15, 1870 and died on her forty-first birthday, September 15, 1911. She leaves a mother and the following brothers and sisters: Charley, in Texas; Ben at Big Cove Tannery; Mrs. Mary Fisher and Mrs. Anna Lynch at Plum Run, and Mrs. Winnie Reel at home.

The sympathy of the community goes out to Mrs. Slacker who has paid a heavy toll from her family, she having buried a son and a son-in-law and a daughter within the last two years.

Mitchell's Letters to Appear in Sunday North American.

The Sunday North American has arranged to publish a series of twelve articles by John Mitchell on important phases of present-day industrial conditions. One will appear each week, beginning next Sunday, September 24.

No man in the country is better fitted by experience and temperament to discuss the vital issues which affect the wage earner and industry. He has earned the confidence of his fellow-workers, the respect of employers and the admiration of the great public. His integrity is unquestioned; his grasp of these big questions unequalled. And he writes with a direct simplicity that gives vigor to his views. Every worker—every citizen, indeed, who is concerned in the problems of the day—should follow this series in the Sunday North American.

Following are some of the subjects to be treated:

The Wage Earner and the Trusts.

The Wage Earners and the Judiciary.

The Wage Earners and Labor Organizations.

The Wage Earners and Occupational Diseases.

The Wage Earners and Compensation for Accidents.

The Wage Earners and Industrial Efficiency.

The Wage Earners and Immigration.

The Wage Earners and the Church.

The Wage Earners and Unemployment.

These articles are bound to create an unusually large sale for the Sunday North American, and it would be advisable for all who are interested in the above articles to see their newsdealer and order him to reserve a copy.
