Certify Election Ballot.
The form of the November election ballot as it relates to the election of judges will be certified to the commissioners of each county together with the nominations made for judge. The ballot contains five party squares, Republican, Democratic, Prohibition, Socialist and Keystone in the order named and the spaces are for election of judges of Common Pleas, Orphans' and County Courts and Associate Judges. The two constitutional amendments are placed beneath the judicial election spaces, and "yes" and "no" spaces are to the right of the sections quoted for amendment.

Joseph Belingo, Luzerne, serving eighteen years in prison for second degree murder, was recommended for pardon. He has been in prison since 1906.

State Zoologist Surface has summoned the orchard inspectors and demonstrators, who have been handling the State's educational campaign for the extermination of fruit tree pests, to a conference here on November 1. The conference will probably last for three days. Dr. Surface says that from reports which he has received he is satisfied that the work of the orchard men this year has resulted in a gain of thousands of dollars for the fruit growers.

Attack Fair Appropriation.
The York Ministerial Association sent a protest to Auditor General A. E. Sisson against payment of any State appropriation to the York County Fair in case the County Commissioners certify to the State the usual payment in aid of fairs. The protest, signed by Adam Stump, president, declares that the management permitted "offensive and immoral dancing girl shows," and allowed games of chance and gambling on horse racing.

END OF OLD GARDEN

Horse Show Last in the Famous Old Structure.
Foreign Army Officers to Compete With Those of Our Establishment in Riding Classes—$40,000 Worth of Prizes.
New York—New York's twenty-seventh annual horse show, which opens November 18, will have more than usual significance, for it will be the last of these famous gatherings to be held in Madison Square Garden.
The abandonment of this famous building marks the passing of many things written intimately into the history of the city, but especially its loss will be felt by the thousands, who for years have thronged its arena at the horse shows. While a home can be found for the show, it will take some of the older patrons a long time to accustom themselves to new surroundings.
For a sentimental reason, if for no other, the management of the National Horse Show of America, Limited, has planned to make the show of November 18-25 more brilliant than any of its predecessors in order that the farewell to the old home literally may be made in a blaze of glory. Plans to this end have been under way for months, and as the day for the opening approaches it becomes more and more evident that they will succeed.
One feature that will contribute largely to the success of the coming event is the imposing array of prizes, their total value being $40,000. Among those who have individually and jointly offered cups and cash prizes are Alfred G. Vandenbilt, president of the association; J. W. Harriman, Robert A. Fairbank and Frederick M. Davies, as well as various societies including the English Hackney society and the International Horse Show of London.
Several trophies which must be won two or three times in order to be retained by the winner probably will be won permanently during the coming show. Among these is the $500 gold cup for the best mare or gelding sired by a stallion registered in the English Hackney Stud book. The cup is one offered by the English Hackney society and must be won three times to be retained. Both J. W. Harriman and Judge Moore have two "legs" on the trophy and one of them will probably win it for all time next month. Judge Moore and Fairmont Farms each has a leg on the $600 cup offered by Jay F. Carlisle for park teams.
In all there are 152 classes shown, the most of them being the same as last year. An entirely new class is that for delivery wagon outfits in actual service to be shown in single harness. The prizes for this class were donated by Frederick M. Davies. Of the total number of classes 36 are to be judged as breeding stock.
But what will add as much as any thing else to the spectacular features of the show will be the array of foreign army officers who will compete with the officers of our own army. Chief interest will center on Lieut. C. F. Walswyn of the Royal Horse Artillery of England, who last year won the Canadian Challenge cup donated

ASKS PRISONER BE STRIPPED

Man Who Finds Stolen Clothes Wants to Wear Them Home—Suggests Barrel for the Thief.
New York—John Dougherty reported to the police of the East Thirty-fifth street station two weeks ago that a new suit of his clothes had been stolen from his office at East Forty-second street, but, having got no results, he decided to do his own detective work.
Passing the corner of Twentieth street and Second avenue Dougherty met a tall man wearing a suit exactly like the stolen one. The clothes were much too small for the wearer. Dougherty approached him and said:
"You have on my clothes. Take 'em off."
The man ran. Dougherty followed, and after a chase of three blocks overhauled the fugitive. In the station house the man said he was Edward Marsh, an aviator, living at Mills hotel, No. 3. He added:
"These are my clothes, but I have grown a lot in two weeks, and the clothes couldn't keep pace with me."
Dougherty said he had a scapular and a small horseshoe in an inside pocket of the coat. The scapular and horseshoe were found. Then Dougherty demanded his clothes, explaining he wanted to wear them today.
"But what will the prisoner wear to court?" Lieutenant Burk asked.
"Get him a barrel," said Dougherty. "I don't care whether it fits or not."
Marsh was locked up, charged with grand larceny. Dougherty was told he could get his clothes after the prisoner had been arraigned in police court.

NATIVE WOODS TO BE USED

Building by Government of Insular Lumber Yard at Manila Means End of Importation of Lumber.
Manila—The exclusive use of lumber grown in the Philippine Islands in the construction of all buildings erected by the government will follow the completion of the lumber yard to be built near the quartermaster's reservation by the bureau of supply.
This was the statement made by Major Shields, chief of the bureau of supply. Imported lumber has been used to a great extent in the past owing to the inability of native lumber growers to supply the demand for seasoned wood. The government proposes to buy up the entire wood supply of the islands as soon as it is taken from the tree, and store it in the new lumber yard until it has become properly seasoned.
For the first three months following the completion of the yard, it was stated, the supply of native wood on hand which had become seasoned during the construction of the sheds, would run short of the demand of the government for lumber, and imported woods would be put into use. Following this period, however, native materials will be used exclusively, as the lumber yard, which will have a capacity of over 4,000,000 board feet, will be filled at all times with timber in the process of seasoning.
The construction of the new lumber yard awaits only a final decision on its site. Plans are in the hands of the governor general, however, for its location adjacent to the quartermaster's reservation. Upon the approval of the plans work will be begun immediately. More than a dozen sheds will be constructed 40 meters long and with a width of 16 meters. They will season from 15 to 20 varieties of native-grown woods of the first and second group, which will be held in the yards until their construction qualities are the equal of those of the best imported materials.

UNIQUE TRIP OF A BOTTLE

Letter Makes Journey From New York to Ireland and Thence Back to Its Author in Chicago.
Chicago—From New York city to Erin's Isle in a bottle was the journey of a letter which returned to its author, Fred J. Butler, 1407 Republic building, Chicago.
With a party of friends, Mr. Butler went abroad last November. They sailed from New York and when two days out enclosed the note in a bottle and tossed it overboard. For nearly ten months the glass-encased message was washed by the waves. Then it was found by P. L. MacHale of Aillebrack, Clifden, County Galway, Ireland.
In a letter to the Chicagoan Mr. MacHale said:
"In compliance with your request, I beg to inclose your note—found at Shyne Head, 53 degrees 40 minutes north and 10 degrees 4 minutes west—and remain, yours faithfully."
The letter found was only a brief note, as follows:
"To Whom It May Concern—The finder of this note is requested to write to the Moose club, 56 State street, Chicago, Ill., care of Fred Butler."
The letter was dropped overboard from an Atlantic liner on November 6 and the reply, inclosing the original, was dated August 24. The original note was darkly stained, the cork of the bottle probably having leaked during its ten months at sea.
Mr. Butler is wondering whether he will ever receive two other notes thrown overboard in bottles at the same time as the one just returned. With one of the letters he says he inclosed a five-dollar bill. With the other he says he sent a check for $100, payable at a Washington (D. C.) bank. Neither has been heard from yet and payment has not been demanded on the check.

The Choir Solist at Lunch

The tenor of the choir sat down and softly cleared his throat; he hummed and hawed a moment as though feeling for a note. He gazed upon the bill of fare his noon-day lunch to plan. Then warbled to the waiter: "Bring—O—bring to me a can—Bring me a can—Me a can—A can—A cantalope!"
And then he said: "I wish some gum—I wish some gum clear." The waiter with a startled face lent an attentive ear; the singer studied for a while and cleared his throat again. Then he called to the waiter: "Bring—O—bring to me a ten—Bring me a ten—Me a ten—A ten—A tender steak!"
"I want a waif—I want a waif—I want a waif now." He trilled upon the waiter with the words on his brow. But what induced the waiter to say things that caused remorse Was when the tenor told him: "With my steak I would eat horse—I would eat horse—Would eat horse—Eat horse—Horseradish sauce."

Political Prophecy.

Dear Sir: The present turmoil over Reno divorces, which is simply a recurrence of the continuing argument over the divorce question, moves me to the suggestion that unless the agitation ceases we will have a divorce party in this country. There are enough divorced people—men and suffragettes—to cast an important vote at any election. As things now stand, people may be married in one state, single in another, and doubtful in another. A man may be a benedict in Illinois, a Romeo in Nevada, and a woman-hater in California. He has to look at the geography to find out what he is, if he is traveling. This is too distracting. Unless the question is settled once for all, as I say, we will have a Divorce party.

It Caused a Delay.

"We owe our readers an apology," says the Bowersville Clarion, "for failing to appear on time this week. But the festive goat belonging to our genial liverman, Mr. Patrick Casey, got into our press room Tuesday night after our entire edition had been printed, and ate the paper all up. Consequently, the entire resources of our editorial and mechanical forces have been called into play in a strenuous effort to get out another edition to replace the one that was eaten. While we admire the literary taste of the aforesaid goat, we shall hereafter keep the press room locked."

How They Prove It.

"You men are always prating of your superiority over women," said the Argumentative Female. "Why do you not show that superiority by demonstrating how to clean house?"
"My dear lady," answered the Self-Satisfied Male, "we show our superiority by refusing to have anything to do with housecleaning."

In the Realm of Shades.

"What is all that row over there by the Styx?" asked the shade of Napoleon of the shade of Ben Jonson.
"Why, that is Bacon, Shakespeare and that newcomer, Donnelly. Each is trying to convince the other that he is wrong."

Could Have Waded.

Mrs. Woop—What do you think of my new rainy-day costume, dear?
Mr. Woop—I think that if Noah had thought of it in time he wouldn't have built the ark.

All the Same to Her.

"Don't you think that if I had lived in the days of old I would have made a good knight?" asked the young man who had been talking ancient history from 8 to 11 p. m.
"I don't care so much what you would have made then," wearily observed the young lady, "but you might see what kind of a good knight you can make now."

Paradoxical Prevarication.

"John Henry," said Mrs. Givmifitz to her husband, who had excused his late arrival by saying that he had sat up with a sick friend, "that is not only a barefaced lie, but it is such an old excuse that it has whiskers on it."

If You Have a Sickly Youngster Try This Free
The family with young children that is without sickness in the house now and then is rare, and so it is important that the head of the house should know what to do in the little emergencies that arise. A child with a serious ailment needs a doctor, it is true, but in the majority of instances, as any doctor knows, the child suffers from some intestinal trouble, usually constipation.
There is no sense in giving it a pill or a remedy containing an opiate, nor is flushing of the bowels to be always recommended. Rather give it a small dose of a mild, gentle laxative, tonic like Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which, by cleaning out the bowels and strengthening the little stomach muscles, will immediately correct the trouble.
This is not alone our opinion, but that of Mrs. N. H. Mood of Proseport, Kans., whose granddaughter has been taken ill successfully and of Mrs. J. R. Whitehead of Lena, Wis., who gives it to her children and takes it herself. It is sold in fifty-cent and one-dollar bottles at every drug store, but if you want to test it, address to Dr. Caldwell and he will forward a supply free of charge.
For the free sample address Dr. W. J. Caldwell, 301 Caldwell building, Monticello, Ill.
