IS EPILEPSY CONQUERED?

New Jersey Physician Said to Have New Cures to His Credit.
Red Bank, N. J. (Special).—Advice from every direction fully confirm previous reports that the remarkable treatment for epilepsy being administered by Dr. Perkins of this city, is achieving wonderful results. Old and stubborn cases have been greatly benefited and many patients claim to have been entirely cured.

Persons suffering from epilepsy should write at once to Dr. H. W.
Perkins, Branch 49, Red Bank, N. J., for a supply of the remedy which is being distributed gratuitously.—Adv.

Many "Holy Cities"

This is a name bestowed by any sect or nation upon the city most closely associated with its religious beliefs and observances, and that has become a place of veneration consequently, or special worship.

Allahabad is the holy city of the Indian Mohammedans.

Benares is the holy city of the Hindus, while Cuzco is that of the ancient Incas.

Jerusalem is the holy city of the Jews and Christians.

Mecca, Medina and Damascus have the first place in the affections of the Mohammedans.

Moscow and Kiev are the holy cities of the Russians.

Told in a Few Words.

An Englishman had bought through an agent an estate in the northern Highlands, and when summer came he went to inspect it. One part of his journey was by coach, and he thought to get some information about the preliminaries: "You may know a place called Cloch na Kilty?" "I do that." "And what do you think of the place?" "I will not be thinking much." "Oh! Tell me what you think." "If ye were to see the de'il tethered there ye'd say, 'Fair brute!'"

Strain Was Too Great.

"Heath about Chawlie?"
"No. What's wrong with him?"
"Brain fever."
"My word! What caused it?"
"Trying to roll a cigarette in a high wind."

Its Advantage.

"I want to get a certificate of membership in a Wanderlust club."
"Well, that is one society where you can be in good standing when you get your walking papers."

SELF DELUSION.

Many People Deceived by Coffee.

We like to defend our indulgences and habits even though we may be convinced of their actual harmfulness.
A man can convince himself that whiskey is good for him on a cold morning, or beer on a hot summer day —when he wants the whiskey or beer.
It's the same with coffee. Thousands of people suffer headache and nervousness year after year but try to persuade themselves the cause is not coffee—because they like coffee.

"While yet a child I commenced using coffee and continued it," writes a Wis. man, "until I was a regular coffee fiend. I drank it every morning and in consequence had a blinding headache nearly every afternoon."
"My folks thought it was coffee that killed me, but I liked it and would not admit it was the cause of my trouble, so I stuck to coffee and the headaches stuck to me."

"Finally, the folks stopped buying coffee and brought home some Postum.
They made it right (directions on pkg.) and told me to see what difference it would make with my head, and during that first week on Postum my old affliction did not bother me once.
From that day to this we have used nothing but Postum in place of coffee —headaches are a thing of the past and the whole family is in fine health."
"Postum looks good, smells good, tastes good, is good, and does good to the whole body."

Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. Read "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs.

Postum now comes in two forms: Regular Postum—must be well boiled.

Instant Postum—is a soluble powder.
A teaspoonful dissolves quickly in a cup of hot water and, with cream and sugar, makes a delicious beverage instantly. Grocers sell both kinds.

"There's a Reason" for Postum.

As far as the congress of the United States is concerned, the currency law is an experimental measure. Senators and representatives know what the banking interests have said in favor of the bill and against it. They realize that the "doctors" disagree and if the doctors disagree how can the layman decide?

Wilson Seems Confident.

So it is that the currency measure, over the passage of which a sigh of relief went up because it brings with it cessation of congressional labors and a surcease of present sorrows, will become the law of the land and go into operation without any definite knowledge, so far as Washington officials are concerned, as to whether it is to "do" the country or to do something for the country.

President Wilson seemingly is sure that money will be easier, that Wall street will not get its "hog's share" in times of stress, that stability underlies the law in every one of its classes, and yet Mr. Wilson may be mistaken.
He admitted before the bill was introduced that he did not understand the currency question thoroughly. Has he been able to master it in three months? Other men who have studied money and its ramifications through the avenues of peace for years are ready to confess today that they are still groping. The law is to go into operation. There will be no more surprise in Washington at its failure to do what it is intended to do than at its success. On currency matters the lawmakers have been guessing and now after all the weeks of debating it can still be said that perhaps one man's guess is as good as another's.

Remarkable Work in Alaska.

Lieut. Col. Wilds P. Richardson, United States army, chairman of the board of road commissioners for Alaska, has come "out of the wilderness" to Washington to report at headquarters. Colonel Richardson and his fellow road builders, Lieut.
Glen Edgerton, corps of engineers; and Lieutenant Louis A. Kunzig, Thirtieth United States infantry, have attended to the details of administration of a government road which runs from Valdez near the coast to the town of Fairbanks, and over which in the summer time automobiles find easy passage.

Perhaps when one reads this short statement of road construction the task appears to be nothing phenomenal, but it must be remembered that this road which the army officers planned, laid out and built runs through 400 miles of what is virtually a wilderness. The natural difficulties which are overcome seemingly were enough to dishearten the hardiest and most resourceful of men, but the government has built it and has cost the government $1,000 a mile less than the estimate made by engineers who went over the proposed road nine years ago.

This government road, which has opened up Alaska to wagon traffic in summer and to the traffic of mail sleighs and other "aldding vehicles" in the winter, cost $2,500 a mile to build. Army engineers fixed the prospective amount of expenditure at $3-500 a mile. The road today is as good as the ordinary country road and if the government chooses to expend an additional $1,000 for each mile of construction, which the engineers recommended, it can be made one of the model roads of the country.

Hardest Kind of a Job.

There is a plan at present for the government to build railroads in Alaska to be owned and possibly to be operated by Uncle Sam. It is said in Washington that if the government's railroad shall be constructed as well and as economically as the wagon road which Colonel Richardson and his associates have just completed, the tax payers of the country and the travelers who use the railway well may be satisfied with government work. Road building in Alaska is a hard task. All sorts of conditions must be met. Landslides, torrents, glacial action and a variety of assortment of problems, to the layman seemingly impossible or foolish, confront the builders at intervals all along the line of construction. For years Colonel Richardson has been at his work, and last fall with his colleagues he made the trip over the new roadway the whole distance from Fairbanks to Valdez in an auto truck.
Lieutenant Colonel Richardson, who has spent so many years in the government service in Alaska, is a sturdy Texan. He graduated from the United States military academy in 1884.

Gaelic Tongue.

The Gaelic language was once spoken by a considerable number of the human race in the British Isles, the Isle of Man, northern France and Spain. There is evidence that the Gaelic branch of the Celtic breed was widespread. For instance, it is maintained by some excellent authorities that the Cimbr, who threatened at one time to overwhelm Rome, and who were stopped by Marius, were of Gaelic speech. The ancient language is found today in the Isle of Man, Wales, the Highlands of Scotland, western Ireland and in Britany, northern France.

Leadless Glaze Unknown.

Englishmen demand "leadless glaze" when they buy pottery, for leadless glaze does not poison the pottery workers. We in America do not ask for it in the china shops—most of us have never heard of it. Yet Dr. Alice Hamilton's study for the federal bureau of labor shows how serious a form of lead poisoning is the disease contracted by workers in American potteries, says the Survey. All table and toilet wear, including bathtubs and sinks, is lead glazed—the glaze containing from 5 to 20 per cent. of unchanged and therefore poisonous white lead. In decorated ware the per cent. is as high as 40 to 50. The dangers that follow from dust filled atmosphere, dusty floors, hands carelessly washed, if washed at all, at lunch hour, are conditions that should call for immediate remedy.

Exploring the Air.

All records for altitude tests and investigations into the skyward regions where air grows scarce and illimitable space begin have been broken in southern California.

The results of the investigations into the upper air currents conducted at Catalina Island last July by government experts show that one of the automatic recording balloons used in the tests reached the immense altitude of 20,4 miles, or a greater distance from the earth than man has hitherto had knowledge of.

The southern California "climate" is approximately three miles in thickness.

"Poor Mr. Diggleham! Isn't it a shame that he has been so foolish! I can't understand why a man should go wrong as he has. It seems to me that he ought to have known he would get found out. What do you suppose he did with all the money?"

"Lost it speculating, I suppose."
"I'm awfully glad they are not going to send him to jail. It would kill his poor wife. She seems to be awfully crushed."

"Well, I am inclined to believe they are making a mistake in letting him off so easily. That's the sort of thing that causes people to ignore our laws.
When one man is let off others think they may go wrong and also get their ishment enough, I should think."

"Great heavens! you don't call being turned out of church punishment, do you?"

O, Noble Judge.

The world again seems fair,
My heart once more is light;
Around me everywhere
All I behold is bright;
I feel superbly rich;
The alimony which
In future shall be mine Will be enough to take A way the foolish ache.
The judge was just divine!

"I'm free again! I'm free!
How beautiful and bright The old world seems to be—
My heart once more is light,
The alimony I Shall have to pay her—why
'Tis small beside the price I had to pay before She turned me from the door; Gee, but the judge was nice!"

Why She was Worried.

"But, mother, why do you object to my being pleasant to the young men? You can't hope to keep me with you always, you know. One of them will take me away from you some day."
"Take you away from me? Well, if that happens I shall not complain. It is the certainty that none of the young men who have been coming here so far would take you away that has worried both your father and me."

His Winning Way.

"It seems queer that she ever took a fancy to him. He isn't at all the kind of man one would expect her to admire."
"I know; but he always had a way of noticing it when she happened to have on a new hat or a gown that had just come from the dressmaker's."

Hard for Mother.

"I suppose you often find it rather trying to have six marriageable daughters on your hands?"
"Oh, I don't mind it so much myself, but my wife has a pretty hard time of it, seeing that she can't possibly watch at more than one keyhole at a time."

Why?

"Do you believe the truth should be spoken at all times?"
"No. When your wife comes home with a new hat and wants to know whether you think it is becoming you tell her that it isn't, even if it makes her look like a fright!"

Wait and See

I'm going to journey far away.
Some day;
I'm going to seek a fairer clime.
Some time;
I'm going to do some splendid thing.
To cause
The world to get to noticing And pause,
No longer disinclined to see,
But very glad to tender me Applause.
Some day I'll cause world-wide surprise—
I'll rise
To proudly claim success as mine
And shine;
Some day I'll take my place among The few;
Some day my praises shall be sung I'll do the great thing—wait and see—When there is naught else left for me To do.
