His Face Called for a Touring Car.
That it is expected of some very plain women to have money in their own right, and some very unattractive men to possess motor cars in order to maintain their popularity, was shown the other day in a conversation between two young women on a street car. They were speaking of a man they had just met, who supposedly had accumulated quite a bit of wealth. Said the first one, eagerly: "Has he a motor car?" Replied the second: "No, I think not." And the first one looked up in an evident manner of surprise. "What!" she exclaimed, "that face and no motor car?"

Secretary of War Garrison has designated a board of ranking officers to report on the defenses of the Panama canal, the construction work on which is being done by these young lieutenants of the engineering corps, George K. Goethals (right), son of the chief engineer of the canal, and Albert H. Acher, son-in-law of Col. H. F. Hodges, also one of the canal commissioners.

Marlborough Mascot.
The duchess of Marlborough was in great distress the day she officiated at the opening of the Mary Curzon hotel when she discovered she had lost a tiny buckle she had been wearing on a bit of black velvet around her neck. "It only cost a shilling," she said, "but I would far rather lose my best string of pearls." This little mascot, daintily carved out of a bit of old iron, was sent her some years ago by a loyal friend when she was far from happy and was not recognized by royalty. Ever since she received it the atmosphere seemed to clear, misunderstandings were dispersed and the duchess came gradually into her own. Even Queen Alexandra, a great believer in mascots herself, helped the duchess in the search for the lost one. It was while looking for it her majesty wandered into an apartment she was not supposed to enter and noticed two of the inmates of the hotel gazing eagerly out of the window trying to get a glimpse of her departure. She greeted them kindly. In due time the little buckle turned up and the duchess rewarded the finder with a sovereign.

To Minimize Fire Hazard.
"The fire waste in the United States, owing to the failure to build in this country as securely against the ravages of fire as they do in Europe, has been estimated to be not less than $200,000,000 a year. This is forcing the rebuilding of many structures and will force the rebuilding of a still greater number in our cities to minimize the fire hazard. The rebuilding must be done and the problem is how to finance it. From actual experience in Chicago, Milwaukee, Pittsburgh and some other cities," says an expert, "the answer is—the first mortgage real estate bond."

Salisbury Not a Courtier.
The bishop of London on one occasion when he went to Buckingham palace told the king that he had passed Lord Salisbury in an anteroom, but the latter did not seem to know him. "Oh," said King Edward, "Lord Salisbury never recognizes anyone," and going to a bureau he took out a new portrait of himself and handed it to the bishop, saying: "What do you think of this?" "A very excellent likeness, sir," said the bishop. "When I showed it to Salisbury," said the king, "he looked hard at it and then said: 'Poor old Butler! I wonder if he's as stupid as he looks.'"

SKIN CLEARED. By Simple Change In Food.

It has been said by a physician that most diseases are the result of indigestion.

There's undoubtedly much truth in the statement, even to the cause of many unsightly eruptions, which many suppose can be removed by applying some remedy on the outside.

By changing her food a Kan. girl was relieved of an eczema which was a great annoyance to her. She writes: "For five months I was suffering with an eruption on my face and hands which our doctor called eczema and which caused me a great deal of inconvenience. The suffering was almost unbearable.

"The medicine I took only gave me temporary relief. One day I happened to read somewhere that eczema was caused by indigestion. Then I read that many persons had been relieved of indigestion by eating Grape-Nuts.

"I decided to try it. I liked the taste of the food and was particularly pleased to notice that my digestion was improving and that the eruption was disappearing as if by magic. I had at last found, in this great food, something that reached my trouble.

"When I find a victim of this affliction I remember my own former suffering and advise a trial of Grape-Nuts food instead of medicine."
