Some three weeks ago, Court Carbaugh, who is working for Walker Richards on the F. McN. Johnston farm in lower Ayr township, was taking the horses to water, when one of them kicked him violently on the breast fracturing one rib, and bruising him severely. About two weeks later, another horse kicked him in the face. Fortunately the horses were not shod; for had the first been sharp, Court would likely have missed the kick that came from the second.

Chambersburg had the greatest poultry show last week ever held in that place. These shows are not intended merely for the entertainment of the public, but for the poultrymen who desire to place in contrast all breeds, as developed by different fanciers. Great strides have been made within the present generation in the development of the poultry industry, until the value of eggs in the United States now almost equals the total value of the wheat crop. No matter how rapidly the business grows, the demand seems to keep pace with the supply, and eggs are steadily going up in price in the cities every year.

Apples For A Home Orchard.

A correspondent from the eastern part of Pennsylvania wrote to State Zoologist H. A. Surface asking for information concerning the varieties of apples to plant for a "family orchard of fifty to sixty trees, that would give as near as possible apples for the whole year around. How far apart should they be planted and what is best to use as fillers? Would you advise digging holes with dynamite?"

To this Professor Surface replied as follows:

"If I were planting an apple orchard of about fifty or sixty trees in this State for family use, for the purpose of obtaining apples the whole year round, I would plant one-year-old trees, forty feet apart, and would use for fillers some peach, some sour cherry, some sweet cherry, some plum and some dwarf pear trees.

I would not dig the holes with dynamite, as I consider it very expensive and generally useless as far as practical results are concerned, if the soil is properly adapted to tree growth. The varieties I recommend are as follows:

Yellow Transparent, 2; Red Astrachan, 2; Maiden Blush, 2; Summer Rambo, 2; Sweet Bough, 2; Smokehouse, 3; Grimes Golden, 2; Jonathan, 3; Rome Beauty, 2; Stayman Winesap, 4; Winter Sweet Paradise, 2; Lady Sweeting, 2; Tolman Sweet, 2; Hyslops Crab, 2; Transcendent Crab, 2; Baldwin, 2; King, 2; Gravenstein, 2; Delicious, 2; Stark, 2; Hubbardston, 2; Ben Davis, 2.

If you should wish to increase the apples for winter and spring use I should select and make this increase among such as Jonathan Rome Beauty and Stayman for the southern part of the State, or Baldwin, Spy and Hubbardston for the northern part. Please remember this is for home planting only, and is a larger list than is needed in most home orchards. For commercial purposes I should cut it down to one or two good varieties for each season, or not more than three or four of the winter varieties.

Hawks Protected.

It should be remembered that there are more species of Hawks in Pennsylvania that are protected by law at some time of year than there are not protected or upon which a bounty is offered. It also is true that a bounty of fifty cents each is now offered, in the different counties that have provided for it according to law, upon all hawks of the kind not protected, and which are as follows: Duck Hawk, Goshawk, Pigeon Hawk, Sharp-shinned Hawk and Cooper's Hawk.

The two most common hawks in this State are the Red-shouldered and the Red-tailed Hawks, and these are as fully protected by law as are wrens, bluebirds or robins, State Zoologist H. A. Surface and Dr. Joseph Kalbus, Secretary of the Game Commission, whose offices are in Harrisburg, are uniting their efforts to bring the facts of the law before the public and teach gunners that killing a Hawk of a protected species must lay them liable to prosecution, the same as for killing other species of protected birds or animals.

It is not uncommon for persons who have shot Hawks to stretch them out to the gaze of the public, by nailing them on boards or trees along the roadside near their buildings. This is a display of cruelty and ignorance. A person doing so at once shows how little he knows of the habits and value of some of Nature's crop preservers and man's best friends. These Hawks in most cases are the Red-shouldered and Red-tailed species, commonly, but wrongly, called Hen Hawks, which are protected by law excepting when actually caught in the act of attacking poultry. At such time it is legal to kill them, but they live most of the time on insects and mice and rats. The number of grasshoppers and caterpillars that they eat in a season is remarkable, while the damage done by mice is so great as to be appalling. Hawks and Owls are the chief enemies of the mice in fields, orchards and woods. They should be preserved for the sake of saving the crops on trees.

All Owls are protected in Pennsylvania excepting the Great-horned Owl, and, consequently, the smaller or more uncommon species of Owls, such as the Red or Barn Owl, also called the Monk-faced Owl, the Short-eared Owl, the Long-eared Owl, the Barred Owl, the Acadian Owl, the Saw-Whet and the Screech Owl all are protected by law at all times.

The Game Commissioner is obliged by law to perform his duty and is determined to do so. Persons who display dead Hawks and Owls of varieties protected by law must be prepared to take the consequences of their ignorance both of natural history and of the Laws of the State. It is better to let these birds stay where they belong and do the work for which God intended them. A little practical study of natural history in our schools, farmers' clubs, granges and in all of the press of the State would do much toward relieving the difficulty now existing and preventing embarrassments when some person makes the mistake of displaying some Hawk or Owl which he has shot illegally and ignorantly.

The Names of McConnellsburg Persons Familiar to All.

Who are the witnesses? They are McConnellsburg people—

Residents of McConnellsburg who have had kidney backache, kidney ills, bladder ills; who have used Doan's Kidney Pills. These witnesses endorse Doan's.

One McConnellsburg resident who speaks is L. A. Youse, retired butcher, of E Water St. He says: "About three years ago my back ached badly and it hurt me to stoop or lift. Doan's Kidney Pills, procured at Trout's Drug Store, soon gave me relief. I gladly endorse them."

Mr Youse is only one of many McConnellsburg people who have gratefully endorsed Doan's Kidney Pills. If your back aches—if your kidneys bother you, don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—ask distinctly for Doan's Kidney Pills, the same that Mr. Youse had—the remedy backed by home testimony. 50c all stores Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N.
