The ONLOOKER
HENRY HOWLAND

TELL HER SO

If you think that she is fair, Tell her so; Think not that she will not care— Tell her so. If she gives you courage when you are wronged by other men, Let her know it now and then— Tell her so. If you love her as of old, Tell her so; If she makes you strong and bold, Tell her so; As she journeys by your side, If her beauty gives you pride, Still, as when she was your bride, Tell her so.

If her smile imparts a thrill, Tell her so; If her touch is soothing still, Tell her so; But if she has lost her grace, If you've ceased to like her face, Brother, do not, in that case, Tell her so.

CANDID OPINION.

There is no fool like an old fool who is trying to act like a young fool.

The average man would want to lock himself in his bedroom if he had as little on as a girl now wears in public.

It is easy to accept another man's opinions when you want him to grant you a favor.

Earn the honors and the praise you get. No press agent will work for you after you are dead.

Prudence is a thing that generally comes to a man after he gets too old to need it.

The Journey.

"If you were asked to get ready to start next Thursday on a long journey, do you think you could do so?" asked her rich employer, who was a widower.

"Oh, I—much would depend upon the kind of journey it was to be," she replied.

"I mean a pleasant journey—a journey that would last for a month or more."

"And should I have company on the journey?"

"Well, I hadn't thought of that. No, I don't believe you would. I should expect you to go alone."

"Then I don't believe I could get ready," she said, turning to her typewriter and making four mistakes in the first line of the letter she had begun.

Can This Be True?

"I can't understand it, don't you know, old chap."

"What can't you understand?"

"A fellow I was talking to a little while ago said some of the greatest men in the history of the world had died without ever having seen a squash court."

AN EXCEPTION.

"My boy, you will have to learn that you never can get anything without working for it."

"Oh, yes, you can, pa. I had something yesterday that I didn't work for."

"What? I'd like to know."

"The stomach ache."

Satisfied and Optimistic.

"Are you one of those who believe we are on the verge of a revolution?"

"No, sir; at least, I hope we're not. I'm satisfied with things as they are in this country at present. I won a bet of $2 yesterday."

Trouble With Some Kinds of Trouble.

"Troubles sometimes come to us as blessings in disguise, you know."

"Yes," replied the chronic pessimist, "but the trouble with them is that they generally go away without having taken off their masks."

Pessimist's Outlook.

"I look for a sharp rise in stocks now."

"What reason have you to expect a bull movement?"

"I've just closed out all the shares I had."

Inconsistency.

"I always try to keep from worrying over things that I can't help."

"But you have just been worrying because your wife agreed to meet you here more than an hour and a half ago."

Speaking of Settlements.

Bill—This paper says that Clayton, Mo., is about to annex nine small settlements on its borders.

Jill—Well, the lady I board with is trying to do the same thing.

Cold Indeed.

"Give me the janitor," said the shivering man at the telephone.

"Can't reach him," replied the operator.

"Isn't he tending the furnace?"

"Yes. But he has crawled inside and shut the door after him."

Troublesome Entertainments.

Redd—He's become a great entertainer since he got his automobile.

Greene—You don't say so!

"Sure! He's had a blow-out nearly every day."

SOME OF CARRANZA'S HARD FIGHTERS

This is a detachment of General Carranza's constitutional troops, fighting from behind a stone wall in the mountains.

MEN OF FIFTH BRIGADE ABOARD SHIP

Some of the men of the Fifth brigade, which went to Vera Cruz under General Funston, are here seen through the deck of one of the transports which carried them from Galveston.

These are the first boatloads of armed bluejackets going ashore at Vera Cruz to take possession of that city.

STARS AND STRIPES RAISED IN VERA CRUZ

The first public building in Vera Cruz over which the American flag was raised was the postal and telegraph building.

GENERAL "PANCHO" VILLA

WED BEFORE FLEET SAILED

Mrs. Donald Taylor Hunter was the latest navy bride when the fleet sailed from Hampton Roads. On the day before she was Miss Emily Hancock Hughes, and she was to have been married to Lieutenant Hunter of the Arkansas on May 14. When sailing orders were received the lieutenant radiographed to his bride, she hurried to Fortress Monroe and the wedding ceremony was performed at once.

Feminine Master Mariner.

Mrs. Von Bauditz, Denmark's only woman sea captain, now commanding a vessel running between Russia and England, claims to be the only real feminine master mariner in the world. Mrs. Van Bauditz, who is the wife of a physician, was for a long time interested in yachting as a sport and, after passing an examination for a master's license, she took up the sea as a profession. So adept did she prove herself that a shipping company soon gave her command of one of its largest steamships.

Here is a characteristic portrait of "Pancho" Villa, the indomitable general of the constitutional armies in northern Mexico.
