We enjoyed a call from Rev. W. M. Cline, of Fort Littleton, last Friday. He and that fine horse of his are looking well since quitting the circuit.

Harrisonville's popular and prosperous merchant, M. H. Hollinshead, took a spin in his Ford last Friday, and attended to some business matters in town.

HIDES.—Frank B. Sipes pays the highest market price for beef hides at their butcher shop in McConnellsburg, also highest price paid for calf skins, sheepskins and tallow.

An item of interest to ladies (and to some men) is, that after many trials and failures, a perfect, mechanical dishwasher has been made and put on the market. They cost $15 for family size.

The very efficient and popular priced little Ford autos have become so numerous that they are now referred to as "road lice," not a very euphonious term, but is American, inasmuch as it is expressive.

While John Shaffer who lives west of town, was standing on a ladder picking cherries, one day last week, a hog knocked the ladder from under him and he fell about eight feet. Mr. Shaffer was considerably bruised, and pretty sore for a few days.

Suppose that one—just one—little boy should die of lockjaw, as a result of burns from the little toy pistols used during the week of July fourth, wouldn't it throw this town into a frenzy of excitement? We have been hearing the snap, snap of the deadly caps for some time. Will the victim be your boy? Death from tetanus is a fearful thing.

A combination boat and flying machine has been completed at Hammondsport, N. Y., in which several men will attempt to fly across the Atlantic ocean. The machine has been tried thoroughly on a lake, and it seems to do all that will be required of it. The flyer will be shipped to a point on the Canadian coast and the start made some time in July. Total weight of the machine and its load will be over 3,000 pounds.

Areduke Francis Ferdinand, heir to the Austro-Hungarian throne, and his wife, the Duchesse of Hohenberg, were assassinated on Sunday while autoing in the streets of Sarajevo the Bosnian capital. The young man who killed them, first threw a bomb which the Duke saw coming and which he warded off with his arm. The bomb fell under another auto and exploded. Had the Duke lived, he would have succeeded Emperor Francis Joseph.

WHY FULTON COUNTY MERCHANTS SHOULD ADVERTISE IN THE FULTON COUNTY NEWS.

"Going Some!"

If grandfather could be shown a business which had developed from nothing a year to as much as ten million a year in the short space of five years, he would be more astounded than at the sight of a flying machine, a ride in a submarine boat or at receiving a wireless message.

The Firestone Tire Rubber Co., of Akron, Ohio, built their sales up from zero to ten million dollars a year within five years, through advertising.

For a Chinaman there would be some excuse for following antique commercial methods of the forefathers. It is a part of a Chinaman's upbringing.

For you, there is no excuse. You live in a progressive age. In the most progressive country, and in FULTON COUNTY NEWS, have a thordium, the advertising columns of which are at your command.

Will Pennsylvania Join?

Nineteen states now require an examination in agriculture to be passed before a teacher may obtain a certificate to teach. An exchange asks the question "Will Pennsylvania join this group?" We are a little surprised at that exchange. Does it not know that there are no pickings in it for politicians? Does that exchange forget why this state lost Alva Agee, the best friend the farmer ever had? Money appropriated to State College could not be diverted into the pockets of politicians, and for that reason that school was given as little as possible. The result was, that Prof Agee was ashamed of the niggardly way in which the school was handled, and he and two others left that institution more than a year ago. Such a howl then went up from the press of the country that the bosses had a spasm of reform for a short time, and they granted a few reforms, to save their faces. Our present governor said in just this many words, "The farmer is getting too much now." Well, three other states think differently, and three other states now enjoy the work of three of the most conscientious friends our farmers ever had.

The Information Free.

State Veterinarian desires to make known to the public that if the head of a dog, or any other animal that dies or is destroyed, suspected of being affected with rabies, is severed from the carcass near the shoulders, promptly forwarded to the laboratory of the State Livestock Sanitary Board, 39th Street and Woodland Avenue, Philadelphia, plainly marked with the name and address of the sender, a careful examination will be made and a report submitted free of cost. All positive cases are investigated by the Board and exposed animals destroyed or placed under quarantine. General quarantines are established only when all other methods have failed to check the spread of infection in a given locality.

An Automatic Plow.

A plow has been invented that will work night and day without the aid of either horse or man. A little tractor with plow attached is connected by a cable to a post set in the center of the field, like a piece of chalk on the end of a string when used to draw a circle. The motor plow is then started at the outer edge of the field and as it can move only in a circle, the cable is wound around a drum on the post in the center of the field, and the plow made to work inward just the width of another furrow, until all the rope is wound up and the motor plow in the center of a nicely ploughed, circular field. We cannot conscientiously recommend this plow for Fulton county; but we publish the foregoing item just to show the progress that is being made toward solving the farm labor problem. Do not be in any hurry to buy this automatic plow. Better buy an automobile.

Postmaster in Trouble.

On May 27 last, Postoffice Inspector A. B. Crawford found that J. Frank Raifsnider, postmaster at Orrstown, was short in money orders, $94.57; postal receipts $18.95. The amounts named were demanded by the inspector but Raifsnider would not or could not pay. Later it was paid for him by some friends.

Raifsnider admits the shortage but claims that it was not in violation of the code.

Last Friday, Deputy U. S. Marshall Snyder, of Harrisburg went to Orrstown, arrested Raifsnider on the charge of embezzlement, and took him before Commissioner Bonbrake in Chambersburg, who set the bail at $500.00. After having furnished the necessary bondsmen, Raifsnider was released for a hearing in the U. S. District court in Harrisburg on the 7th of December. He was promptly removed from the office and a successor appointed. He is a Democrat and took the oath of office about the first of the year succeeding a Republican.

Uncle Sam's Birthday.

Uncle Sam will be 138 years old on Saturday. The age limit of the class to which he belongs is not three score and ten, so that he is but a young fellow yet. About fifty years ago he donned long pants, but some of his loving friends succeeded in forcing him to continue to wear several little foibles of boyhood days. He is putting up such a kick about it, now that he has grown a mustache, that the little bows and ribbons will not be worth replacing when he is through. We cannot find fault with his desires in that matter.

Some historian says that Uncle Sam was officially born on July 8th, instead of the 4th, and workmen are at present digging in Independence Square, about fifty feet from the present site of Independence Hall, to find the old foundations of another building from the porch of which it is alleged that the Declaration of Independence was read in public for the first time. But no matter what the find may be, we have accepted July 4th as the day to celebrate, and July Fourth it will continue to be. We may modify our form of celebration, but cannot change the day.

Uncle was born in time of war, and it seemed but natural, that the booming of cannon should be part of the day's festivities. Americans, however, are prone to take short cuts to an end, and they imported a contraption invented by the heathen Chinese to scare away devils and evil spirits. This handy firecracker cracked so many fingers and thumbs of our boys, and so many of them died horrible deaths from tetanus, that city fathers yielded to the demand of the times and forbade their sale. Maybe there will be enough old cannon before long to supply each and every town with one, and then we will return to the old safe and sane way of celebrating the fourth of July, by looking at the cannon instead of listening to it.

Children's Day.

Children's services were held in two of the churches in town last Sunday. In the morning, services were held in the Reformed church, and, in the Methodist, in the evening. Careful preparation had been made by the teachers and friends of both Sabbath Schools, and the delightful manner in which the young people rendered their parts reflected credit on both teachers and pupils. All who attended speak in glowing terms of the services. Miss Lena Dunlap, of Newark, N. J., entertained the audience in the Methodist church by reciting an appropriate piece.
