Story For Farmer Boys.

It is a long time since I wrote a "story" for the farmer boys of the NEWS, so I will tell you of a dream I had one day when I was thinking how to help the boys to have a better time in the country. It was not the kind of dream we have while sleeping, but it was one of those "dreams" we sometimes have when we are widest

I dreamed of what Fulton county would be like if each and every man and woman over eighteen years of age was a doctor-a real doctor-educated in our schools of medicine, so that they were skillful in the prevention, detection, and cure, of all ills. What a wonderful county this would be! Think of it! Can you imagine how it would feel to live in a place ike that? Stop a moment and read that again. It sounds funny, does it not? "Foolish to think of it," do you say? Well let us

"Sickness" is not confined to your, and to my, body. There is sickness on every farm in this and in every other county in Pennsylvania that is costing us so much money that thousands of us are kept poor during all our lives. It is called Soil Sickness, and it needs just as intelligent attention from a doctor as do meas les, typhoid, or tuberculosis, for which we call in the best doctor in the community. The man or woman who can intelligently treat soil sickness is every whit as much of a doctor as is the man who can cure typhoid. There is not a man or a woman in the country, if he or she have average intelligence, that cannot become a skiliful soil doctor. There immediately north of the church are a few counties in the State in which a start has been made to make every farmer a doctor, and it was my dream to picture to my mind what it would be like to live in a county like that. Hundreds of changes in our daily work will take place when each man beengaged and a game of base ball comes his own soil doctor. Today we buy fertilizer just like we All cordially invited. By order buy patent medicine-nostrums about which we know nothing; but we buy it because the quack Mr. Joseph Claster, proprietor who compounded it says it is of the famous "Jay See Brand" good for pretty nearly everywholesale clothing and notion thing; and many of us will not house in Harrisburg, passed listen to the advice of the dealer through this place last Thursday, who would rather sell us the accompanied by his family, en- proper kind, and would do so it route to Bedford Springs for a we told him what we wanted to little rest.
