

Christ at the Right Hand of God

By REV. L. W. COSNELL, Assistant to Dean Moody Bible Institute, Chicago

TEXT—"He was received up into heaven, and sat on the right hand of God." Mark 16:19.

These words give us a vision of our enthroned brother. Our Lord Jesus Christ will have forever a human body and soul and when we see him in glory it will be "this same Jesus" who was received up from earth to heaven.

Our bodies are now in humiliation and grow weary and ill; but they shall be made like unto the body of his glory—wondrous thought!

The vision assures us of Christ's sympathy. He is touched with a feeling of our infirmities, having been in all points tempted as we are, apart from sin.

Though now ascended up on high He hangs on earth a brother's eye. Partaker of the human name He knows the frailty of our frame.

Our entrance to heaven is secured. Joseph's rude brothers were out of place in the palace of Pharaoh, but because Joseph was on the throne they were soon set at ease.

Christ "sat" on the right hand of God, for the work of atonement was done. Other men die feeling their work is incomplete, but he could cry "It is finished." Mr. J. Hudson Taylor, when a boy, picked up a tract in which he noted the words, "the finished work of Christ."

Bishop Moule and a party of friends stood one night in the Coliseum and thought of the countless martyrs who there had died for Christ. By the light of the moon he read the closing words of Romans 8: "Who is he that condemneth? It is Christ that died, yea rather, that is risen again, who is even at the right hand of God, who also maketh intercession for us."

Our Mighty Helper. The verse following the text reads, "And they went forth, and preached everywhere, the Lord working with them, and confirming the word with signs following." Christ does not sit idly on his throne; but, as Stephen saw him "standing" on the right hand of God, he rises to help his people.

Remove Old Shamrock Mast. The mast of Sir Thomas Lipton's ship Shamrock III, which has stood in Long Island city for the last four years, will shortly be removed to make way for the Queensboro station of the dual subway.

Our Language. A heated discussion, but ended up with a laugh when, in answer to a statement made by one of the group, Doctor Shurovitz retorted that it is true, for all that, that that that man used was not a verb.—Judge.

FOOD FACTS. What An M. D. Learned. Prominent Georgia physician went back to a food experience which he had had. He had his own experience that led him to advocate Grape-Nuts and I also know, from having tried it to convalescents and weak patients, that the food is a powerful builder and restorer of brain tissue, as well as muscle. It improves the digestion and patients gain very rapidly, just as in strength and weight.

Little Johnny's Guess. Little sister, who was fond of asking questions, asked Johnny, "Why do they call Captain Spearpoint a veteran?" Johnny thought for a moment and then answered, "I guess it's because he's a horse doctor."

Staggered the Witness. "Now tell us," sternly demanded the young legal luminary whose brow overhung like the back of a snapping turtle, addressing the cowering witness, "what was the weather, if any, upon the afternoon in question?"

Carefully Dressed High Coiffure

OF SEVERAL new high coiffures there are a noteworthy number in which the hair is waved in the even, Marcel wave, and parted either in the middle or to one side.

Both sides are arranged in the same manner. The hair is drawn loosely back to give a soft appearance about the face and to allow the waves to retain their position. Any short locks about the forehead are trimmed off in a light, even fringe and curled slightly.

The middle part is suited to very youthful faces and those past middle life, but the woman in her prime should experiment before adopting it. A side part is more pliant and imparts a youthful look.

With the return of wide-brimmed hats we are likely to have the return of puffs. They are always admired and for the woman who must resort to false hair they are the lightest and most convenient substitute for natural locks.

The front hair is parted and combed down on each side, just above the temple. It is turned back and combed off the face from the temple to the ear. It is brought up to the knot with the ends curled into a puff. The puff is pinned beside the twist.

This arrangement gives the effect of three puffs across the top of the crown when viewed from the front. Both sides are arranged in the same manner. The hair is drawn loosely back to give a soft appearance about the face and to allow the waves to retain their position.

Any short locks about the forehead are trimmed off in a light, even fringe and curled slightly. They are to be arranged in short curls at each side of the part, or combed across the forehead, according to their becomingness to the wearer.

The middle part is suited to very youthful faces and those past middle life, but the woman in her prime should experiment before adopting it. A side part is more pliant and imparts a youthful look.

INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

(By E. O. BELLERS, Director of Evening Department, The Moody Bible Institute, Chicago.)

LESSON FOR SEPTEMBER 13 THE TEN VIRGINS.

GOLDEN TEXT—"Watch therefore for ye know neither the day nor the hour when the Son of Man cometh." Matt. 25:13.

A parable is "an earthly story with a heavenly meaning." An analogy is "a likeness." This story is a parable. It is to illustrate the vigilant, expectant attitude of faith, Heb. 6:28; II Tim. 4:8. Leaving the temple, Jesus drew the disciples' attention to its buildings and predicted its destruction.

Proceeding to the Mount of Olives, his disciples ask him, "Tell us, when shall these things be? And what shall be the sign of thy coming, and the end of the world?" In reply Jesus gave the disciples his Olivet discourse and prophecies found in chapters 24 and 25. To fully comprehend this parable we ought to review all of this teaching.

The discourse as a whole falls into these parts: (1) 24:1-44 deals with Israel as a nation; (2) 24:45-25:30 deals with the church as being responsible for the king during the period between his two advents; and (3) 25:31-46 deals with the judgment of the nations when the Son of Man comes in his glory. It will be seen then that this lesson comes in the second part and is one of three parables concerning the responsibility of the church.

Jesus is the bridegroom, John 3:29, 29; Eph. 5:25; II Cor. 11:2; Rev. 21:9, and sets forth the love of Christ for the church, Eph. 5:25, 25, 30-32.

Two Classes. "While the bridegroom tarried" vv. 1-5. The first and strongest idea of this section is that he, Jesus, the bridegroom, is coming again. Among those who wait are two classes, the wise and the foolish, though both were right intentioned.

The lamps symbolize Christian profession, Luke 12:35; II Tim. 3:5, and the oil that which is essential to give us power whereby we maintain our profession. Acts 10:38; I John 2:20-27. The foolish virgins were superficial and had not enough to maintain their professions. The wise virgins had enough oil; so also may the believer have the abiding spirit of Christ's presence wherein to maintain his Christian profession.

Waiting they all nodded (slumbered) and others evidently lay down (slept). The wise virgins could afford to rest as they had all things ready. If they had been awake, however, they might have seen and rendered aid to those who were in the sorry plight of not being ready. The tarrying was a test of the faith and patience of both the wise and the foolish as both awaited the "fulness of time" when he should appear.

The Great Question. "Behold the bridegroom cometh" vv. 6-13. All are awakened by this midnight cry. The hour was one when he was least expected, and the church of today needs to be awakened to a realizing sense of this truth. Both the wise and the foolish have to meet him, but the wise were the only ones whose lights could shine and show the way into the banqueting room. They all outwardly appear alike even to the very point of separation. The church of God individually and collectively, has yet to sense the danger to it and to others if its light for any reason be not continuous.

This cry was a call to "meet him" and we all need to ask ourselves, "are we ready to meet him?" The hour was too late to make needful preparation to meet him. In their emergency they turned to the five wise ones but the wisdom of one cannot supply the deficiency or the foolishness of others (v. 9). There is no Scripture to support the teaching that one man's merit is applicable to another except the merit of the God-man Jesus as applied to sinful humanity. Hence the wise sent their sisters to the original source of supply for oil, and as they went "the bridegroom came." So will it be with all who put off too long the securing of the Holy Spirit in their lives.

"They that were ready" went in, they that were not ready when they came found the door "shut." To attend a marriage feast is highly esteemed everywhere, but it is a privilege that is worthy of careful preparation. Remember that Jesus is here showing the attitude towards himself of those who profess to be devoted to him during the period of his absence, and who expect his return as king. That being so, we need to remind ourselves of the laws of the kingdom as he gave them.

Jesus knows those that are his, John 10:27; II Tim. 2:19; I Cor. 8:3, but such are not those who make a mere outward profession of faith and lack the abiding presence and power of the Holy Spirit. The day of separation between the true and the false is surely coming, a time when the real, genuine, Spirit-filled Christians will rejoice "at his coming."

The lesson for us is "Watch." Because we do not know the day nor the hour when he will come, therefore, "watch." This word does not mean simply to look or to gaze but to keep awake, to be vigilant.

Ambition. To one hard-working man of this busy generation success means time to retire to a quiet, book-lined room overlooking an old-fashioned garden, and read Dickens leisurely through again from Plekwick to Drood. Failing in that ambition, he would like to spend the evening of his life raking leaves in the peace and beauty of Branch Brook park with the other old men there employed. The commissioner will please consider this an application.—Newark News.

GOODYEAR TIRES AT ANTE-BELLUM PRICES

The Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. announce "No war prices on Goodyear Tires." Mr. F. A. Steberling, president of the Company, thus explains their unique position.

"We advanced Goodyear prices, as others did theirs, when the rubber panic came. Almost in a day crude rubber rose in New York from 55 cents per pound to much over a dollar.

"The New York supply was too small to consider. We cabled our London people to buy up the pick of the rubber there. By acting quickly and paying cash they obtained 1,500,000 pounds of the finest rubber.

"That big supply of rubber is now nearly all on the way to the Goodyear factory in Akron. It constitutes the best of the London supply.

"We are using the same grade of rubber and the same amount of it as we always have used in these tires. We are running our factory with three shifts of men, twenty-four hours a day. So long as we remain in this fortunate position on rubber, we shall supply tire users at before-war prices to the limit of our capacity."

Too Little "Puritan Restraint." The Puritan restraint which rested so marvelously long upon American customs and manners has lifted, until, some of our critics believe, self-control, discipline, conscience, are seriously threatened. The pendulum is swinging far. Only one thing can help us, Prof. Hugo Munsterberg says, and that is to plant in the heart of every boy and girl a belief in self-control.

"The pursuit of happiness" is an ideal which ranks in the American mind with the pursuit of life and liberty. We're not going back to Puritanism. But the "pursuit of happiness" can be overdone.—From the Delineator.

RASH ON CHILD'S HEAD. 2127 Division St., Baltimore, Md.—"The trouble on my child's face and head appeared as a rash and then it got so that the skin looked drawn and water and blood would run out. That would cause a scab and her head and face were a mass of sores. They would crack and bleed and then her head began to get scaly and I thought it was dandruff. I started to take the scab off and found her head was a mass of them. When she would cry it seemed worse because the water would stream down her face and itch and she would dig and scratch. Her little head was bald as it was so sore that all the hair came out. My baby used to cry at night and I could not sleep.

"Then I decided to get Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I would make a lather of the Cuticura Soap but her face and head were so sore I hated to touch them so I would take a soft cloth and wash her head. After I dried it with a soft towel I would gently apply the Cuticura Ointment. With the first treatment I could see a change in my baby and before I used the whole treatment she was completely healed and her skin is beautiful." (Signed) Mrs. Lillie Owens, Jan. 31, 1914.

How He Won. "I can't understand why I have failed to get a situation. I have called at a dozen places and have shown my diploma to all the men who employ help."

"I got a job the first place I struck." "That is certainly a piece of luck. Your diploma is exactly like mine."

"I didn't show the boss my diploma. I told him to feel my muscle."

Tact. "What makes you limit the weather forecast to the word 'fair' so frequently?" "We want to show a little tact," replied the climate expert. "The word 'fair' is pleasant and reassuring, and we want to keep the idea of sunshine and skies of blue prominent without dwelling on the temperature."

Corset Cover for the Thin Woman

A FIGURE which is deficient in bust development, either from lack of flesh or other causes, must be helped out by some device. Any number of corsets, corset waists and bust forms are on the market, to supply the deficiency of the too slender woman.

For present styles the fitted corset-cover or fitted waist, with inside ruffles, is the most satisfactory garment which the thin woman can adopt.

These waists are cut to fit a normal figure. The waist, therefore, is made too large across the bust. To fill this extra room ruffles of fine muslin are sewed to the under arm seams and arched at the bust. These ruffles are made by stitching tape or bands of the fabric to a long piece of cambric muslin, or nainsook to form casings. Tapes are run through these casings. The ruffle is made as full as the figure requires and the tapes are drawn up and tied at the center of the bust.

When it becomes necessary to launder a waist of this kind the tapes are untied, and the fullness of the ruffle eased along them. They are starched with very thin starch and ironed flat, so that laundering preserves the bust form. Waists of this kind are made to fasten either in front or back.

Those fastening in front are provided with buttons and button holes. An excellent model, which fastens in the back, does not require either buttons or button holes. The back pieces are sloped down in a "V" shape and finished with tapes which tie around the waist. That is, the back pieces cross and overlap, and the tapes are tied in front.

The most convenient way to make a shapely waist of this kind is to buy a ready-made corset cover or brassiere and supply it with ruffles. This will give the wearer a normal figure. There is no economy in making a plain undergarment of this kind at home, because the ready-made brassiere sells so cheaply. But there is economy in placing the ruffle, for the simple reason that the work required doubles.

Perhaps the greatest advantage derived from a waist such as is pictured here is the fact that it may be worn as a substitute for a corset.

Colored Handkerchiefs. The snow-white handkerchief is ousted for the moment; not for every hour of the day, but for morning wear especially, and then it is that fanciful in colors have the lead. These colored handkerchiefs are not of violent coloring as they were some time since. Instead, they are soft and gentle in tone, some being quiet even to the point of dullness. Quiet grays and browns, yellows and greens, purple tones and dull reds all come with the morning handkerchief, which may be of lawn or, more fanciful still, of the finest nylon. Those of nylon are mostly in fine stripes with a narrow border of the main coloring; but the lawn handkerchief is more often plain in its quiet coloring with a quarter or half-inch hemstitched border of white.

Peppermint Candy Sashes. One of the newest sashes, or made girdles, is of peppermint candy satin. This design has come to the front with amazing swiftness. It is not only used on frocks for waist drapery, but as cravats for negligee skirts of silk or muslin, for Panama hat bands, for high standing collars and for coat lapels.

Ruchings. It is a good plan to sew snaps, every two or three inches along the facings of your ruchings and the corresponding parts at equal distances on the necks of your dresses.

This permits you to change the ruchings from one dress to another and get the benefit of variety, and also to remove the ruchings when the dresses are hung up, and thus save them from crushing and mauling. It is far superior to sewing them in, for they can be kept fresh and dainty by putting them in a covered box, and are removed quickly when the dress or waist is ready for the laundry.
