The Finishing Touch.

The young man hesitated to believe the statement of her little brother that the young lady was not at home. He repeated the question, at the same time displaying a quarter. The boy eyed it longingly and again replied in the negative.

"But didn't she leave a message for me?" asked the disappointed swain. "Yes," said the lad-and nothing

As one who sees a great light, the young man tossed him the coin. "Now." he said, "out with the message.'

By whole region where Sisera's armies the brotherhood here is meant those that are in Christ. Josephus says that when Barak saw Sisera's army drawn up, and attempting to surround the mountain of his encampment his heart failed him, and it will never know fellowship with he determined to retire to a place of greater safety. Deborah, however, urged Barak to attempt the battle, "for this is the day in which the Lord hath delivered Sisera into thine hand." The thing was as sure to be done as if it were done already. As we read verses 11 and 12, together with 5:17-19, it would look as though Sisera seemed to have the advantage against Barak and his ten thousand men. Sisera did not, however, count upon Barak's powerful ally-God. "Is not Jehovah gone out before them?" Deborah had enthusiasm and zeal, but needed Barak's action. World Slipping Away.

(4) Separation from the world thus becomes a fourth means of walking in the light, verses 15-17. There is a proper love for the world, but it is not that which is incompatible with the love of the father. There are two arguments against the love of the world: first, it passeth away and the lusts thereof, and second, "he that doeth the will of God abideth forever."

Chauncey M. Depew was defending the second marriage, late in life, of his colleague, Senator Platt, and said that a time came when the love of power, of wealth, of fame, of pleasure receded, and left nothing to a man but the companion of his fireside. The difference between Chauncey M. Depew and the apostle John is this, however, that in the one case we have the world slipping away from the man, and in the other the man is slipping away from the world. It is the last that understands and appreclates the fact of fellowship with God.

D. L. Moody's Memory.

Oh the tombstone which marks the grave of D. L. Moody at Round Top, Northfield, Mass., is engraved that inspiring sentence of John, "He that doeth the will of God abideth forever." How true it is that D. L. Moody abideth still in the hearts and lives of thousands in this country and Great Britain, whom, by the grace of God, he won to Jesus Christ, and in the missionary and philanthropic enterprises which were set in motion as the result of his great evangelistic work. But he himself abideth in another sense-the literal sense that John meant, because the life of God was communicated to him through his son, Jesus Christ. In this sense it is the privilege of every one of us to abide forever. "Because I live," said Christ, "ye shall live also." "The wages of sin is death, but the gift of God is eternal life." Who would not accept this gift so freely offered through the son of God? Who would not walk in the light here, that he might forever walk in it in the life that victory was certain, for God had said so (v. 7). Her charge, "Up, Barak!" was a clarlon call and served to nerve the entire army of Israel. Verse 15 tells us who it was that won the battle that day (see also 5:20, 21; Josh, 10:10; I Chron, 15:15-17). Even the stars fought against Sisera, meaning that God turned the elements to the advantage of Israel's army. Showers of meteors have been recorded in this land in recent times and 5:21 tells of the floods of water that "swept away," overthrew, the charlots of Sisera. The word "discomfited," we are told, scarcely suggests the sudden terror and confusion which fell upon Sisera's army. Like all of God's victories, it was most complete. By this battle the resistance of the Canaanites is completely overthrown and the Israelites secured the complete ascendency over the land. Sisera fled northward toward Hazor, the capital city, along the same path followed by the Turks in 1799, when Napoleon and his allies defeated their army on this same field Barak followed the main army and the chariots and thereby missed the chief prize. Sisera in his flight came to a settlement of the Kenites, which he thought he could trust, and turned into the tent of Jael, the wife of Heber. Weary, he fell into a deep sleep, which gave Jael her opportunity. Taking a hammer and a tent pin she drove it through his temples into the ground, completing the victory of Deborah and Barak, and fulfilling the prophecy of verse 9. We are told that the Bedouin tents of the women are always closed, whereas those of the men are always open on one side. For a man to enter the tent of a woman, other than that of his wife, is punishable with death. Jael defended her life and her reputation by the only course open to an Arab woman, and especially in a time of war.
