Two young traveling men appeared before magistrate Orr in Chambersburg one day last week and tried to enter suit against one of the hotels of the town because they were refused liquor. The magistrate would have nothing to do with it. We will wager that those two gossings have not been "on the road" very long.

Stimulated by the success of the Rufus F. Dawes hotel in Chicago, in its first year as a shelter for men who can pay only a nominal sum for board and lodging, similar hotels are to be built in other cities. The Rufus Dawes hotel was erected by Charles G. Dawes, as a monument to the memory of his son. It stands in West Madison street, a crowded district, and in its first year housed 179,000 men and served 59,000 meals. Charge for a bed is five cents a night. On its bill of fare meat hash and beans can be had for 3 cents, coffee for 2 cents, soup and bread for 2 cents and pie for 3 cents.

W. C. T. U. Meeting.

At a meeting of the local organization of the W. C. T. U., held on Monday evening, Hon. Jno. P. Sipes was elected to go to Harrisburg on Monday, February 1st, which is to be a red letter day in the fight for a County Option law in Pennsylvania. It is the day on which there will be held in Harrisburg a State Convention of Anti-saloon League forces, for the purpose of helping Governor Brumbaugh and our friends in the legislature to secure the enactment of a County Option law. The legislature will be thoroughly organized and down to business by that time, when a demonstration will be made to our lawmakers that they are expected to fulfill the pledges made by the new governor, and to grant the state relief from the intolerable condition under which we are living.

MRS. W. B. KENDALL,
President W. C. T. U.

Think It Over.

The weekly newspaper promotes the interests of the town in which it is published to such an extent that it becomes impossible to place an estimate upon its worth. There is no enterprise that does so much for the corporation or the individual citizen as the paper. It stands opposed to the town knocker, the town kicker, the town fanatic and the town drones. It stands for action as against dry rot. It stands for progress as against stagnation. It is ever ready to combat the schemes of visionaries and as ready to aid the constructive plans of the wise and level-headed citizens. It is for the upbuilding of the community. The paper has not yet come into its own, however, because it is never appreciated to the extent of its worth by the people at large. Yet when battles are to be fought for town or county a rush is made to the newspaper office always to find the loyal editor ready, frequently without hope or reward. Many other enterprises are encouraged by a bonus, but rarely is the newspaper offered any such help and still more often not given the support it is entitled to. Communities frequently lose sight of their real benefactor when they fail to recognize the weekly journal as such. The editor and his paper stand as the bulwarks of defense against the attacks of evil or designing schemes affecting the good of the individual or the town. For these and other reasons the newspapers of the town and county should receive the support of the public at large in a very liberal degree, for it is really the most important business enterprise of the community.

More Foot and Mouth Disease.

A herd of cattle belonging to Guy Myton, of Shavers Creek Valley, Huntingdon county, has something wrong with them, and indications point strongly to foot and mouth disease. This is the first instance of the appearance of the disease in that county. How did it get there? How does an epidemic start anywhere? Some person, beast, or bird must have been where it was, and carried it there on clothing, fur or feathers. Or, something that had been in contact with the disease might have been shipped to this farm. Our own county has escaped thus far; but there is no telling when the foot and mouth disease may break out in the very centre of the County, in probably the same mysterious manner in which it did in Huntingdon county. It would be very wise policy to make sure that nothing from the neighborhood in which the scourge is known to exist be permitted to come to our farms until the plague is stamped out of the sixteen, or more, states in which it is now found.

Gettysburg Reunion Report.

The report of the Pennsylvania Commission of the fiftieth anniversary of Gettysburg has been printed in substantial book form. We have received one at this office, and we find that it is an excellent write-up of the great reunion of the Blue and Gray that took place at Gettysburg in 1913. The book is profusely illustrated with photos of scenes on that occasion, and every veteran of the Civil War will find days of pleasure in perusing the work.

Blames the Goosebone Men.

On last Friday, when S. D. Mellott had finished counting out a pile of greenbacks which he gave to the editor in exchange for sale bills, advertising, subscription, &c., he told a story that should make those Down-East goosebone men sorry for the way in which they have succeeded in mixing up the calculations of the present generation of wild geese. Mr. Mellott related that some time in last December, during the week in which the thermometer registered below zero, the Misses Katharine and Diana Smith, of Pleasant Grove, observed a large flock of wild geese flying northward. The geese were flying in regulation style, and, to all appearances, were perfectly intelligent geese. It will be remembered that one set of goosebone men predicted an early, short winter, while another set prophesied that we would have a long, hard winter. Therefore the explanation that our Belfast township friends can give for the strange action of our migratory relatives is, that they read the report of the short-winter prophets, and, being industrious creatures, they attempted to steal a march on their more stupid brethren, in order that they might select and preempt the most favorable feeding grounds for the spring and summer of 1915. We are inclined to think that those goosebone men should get together and establish a more reliable school of philosophy.
