A Palace or a Hovel

REV. WILLIAM WALLACE KETCHUM Director of the Practical Work Course Moody Bible Institute, Chicago

TEXT-For other foundation can no an lay than that which is laid, which is Jesus Christ. But if any man buildeth on the foundation gold, sliver, costly stones, wood, hay, stubble; each man's work shall be made manifest, for the day shall declare it, because it is revealed in fire; and the fire itself shall prove each man's work of what sort it is. If any man's work shall abide which he built thereon, he shall receive a reward. If say man's work shall be burned, he shall suffer loss; but he himself shall be sayed; yet so as through fire.—I Cor. 3:11-

Two workmen are building separate structures. One is a palace of costly precious gold and silver; the other a hovel, into which he is putting the flimslest material — wood, hav, stubble. Both workmen are building side by side upon the same foundation. At length the two structures are completed and the builders rest from their labors. Sud denly one day a It sweeps up one fire breaks out. street and down another, licking up the buildings that lie in its path, and finally envelops the palace and the hovel. When the fire ceases, not a vestige of the hovel remains. The flames have wiped out the structure built of wood, hay and stubble; but the palace stands. The marble in it gleams the brighter and the gold and silver shine the more resplendently. The fire has proved each man's work what sort it is. The workman whose structure stood the test receives his reward; while the other, whose hovel was swept away, suffers loss, he himself being saved, yet so as by fire. Such is the picture presented by the text. What are some of its lessons?

The Only Foundation.

There is only one foundation upon which a man can build a superstructure of works. That foundation is Jesus Christ. This is a simple, elemental truth, but one which needs a deal of emphasis in these days, for many have not yet discovered that ed, brings back the natural color and the divine order in grace is the same lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray; also ends dandruff, itching order which holds in the putting up of a building-the foundation first, then scalp and stops falling hair. Years the superstructure. Salvation first, then works; and not works first and then salvation. "For by grace have ye been saved through faith; and that not of yourselves, it is the gift of God: not of works, that no man should glory" (Eph. 2:8, 9, R. V.).

Some years ago at Catawissa, Pa., after the destruction of a bridge, the can possibly tell that you darkened removing the first pier, prior to the building of a new and evenly. You dampen a sponge or one, discovered that underneath there soft brush with it and draw this was no foundation. The pier simply through your hair, taking one small rested upon the bed of the river, and strand at a time, by morning the gray when a heavy flood came the entire structure was washed away. Yet, how plication or two, your hair becomes many there are who are building a superstructure of works without the real foundation, Jesus Christ! They give their money to feed the poor. clothe the naked, house the homeless, educate the ignorant, heal the body, relieve distress. In works they are ceaseless and untiring, but they are building their structure without the foundation. They are doing like the man in the parable, of whom our Lord told, who built his house on the sand and when "the rains descended and the floods came, and the winds blew, and smote upon that house it fell." "For other foundation can no man lay than that which is laid, which is Jesus Christ."

We need to take heed how we build thereon. For it is possible to build on the only foundation a palace or a hovel.

This is a truth which concerns the saved and not the unsaved. It is not matter of salvation, but of service. Between salvation and service there is a wide difference. Salvation is a work of God for us and in us and is all of grace. Service is work which those who are saved render unto God, and for which they shall receive a reward, or shall suffer loss.

The Testing Day.

A testing day is coming when the character of our work, as Christians, shall be made manifest.

"The day shall declare it." Not a day of judgment for our sins, which were judged in Jesus Christ on the cross; but a day when our work shall mebbe I oughtn't to say that. But be made manifest. The day when the If he has one, it can't be much use to Lord comes, "who will bring to light him. They say conscience is a still, the hidden things of darkness, and small voice, an' the way he talks make manifest the counsels of the would keep it drowned out all the hearts" (I Cor. 4:5). Then the fire itself shall prove each man's work of what sort it is. Not literal fire, but the holy, consuming energy of the Lord himself, for "Our God is a financial condition, that you would corsuming fire." not worry if there were a diamond

If we have built only a hovel, we shall suffer loss, irretrievable loss, but we shall be saved, yet so as by fire. worry if there were a shortage of Must I go, and empty-handed? Must I meet my Savior so?

Indeed not, for we may build a palace instead of a hovel, and be not only saved but rewarded for our work. That each man may in that day have his praise from God (I Cor. 4:5). let us, as Christians, in our work heed three simple rules:

First, a right purpose: the glory of God (I Cor. 14:3). Second, a right plan: the word of lod (II. Tim 3:16-17). Third, a right motive: the constrainng love of Christ (II Cor. 5:14). Whier is it to be, a palace or a

LESSON FOR JANUARY 31

THE BIRTH OF SAMSON. LESSON TEXT-Judges 13:8-16, 24-25.

GOLDEN TEXT-Beware, I pray thee, and drink no wine nor strong drink.

Judges 13:4. The story of Samson bulks large in the book of Judges and in the interest and imagination of all men ever since his day. This being the only lesson in a seven years' course we suggest, in-

1. Samson's Parents. God chooses

outline, Samson's entire life.

a humble man and woman, folk of piety and prayer, to bring forth and rear this great deliverer. The angel's most improbable promise (13;3) is accepted by Manoah and his wife (13:6, 7). They express a desire to be able to measure up to the responsibility-a suggestion to parents. There is also a hint of the dual responsibility of parents in the words, "teach us." (See Eph. 6:4; Jas. 1:5-7.) It was reasonable to believe that the one who brought the promise could also tell them how to train and nurture the child. God honored the mother's prayer and she shares her experience with the father (v. 9). As the mother of a Nazarite she must keep herself from all things unclean (v. 14; II Cor. 6; 17), even as Mary, the mother of Jesus (Luke 1:38). The experience of the sacrifice, the worship of Manoah and his wife and the fact of Samson's birth completes the record of chapter 13. Manoah could not worship the angel, but could show him hospitality. Verse 18 (R. V.) seems to indicate that this was another premanifestation of our Lord Jesus. II. Samuel's Power. Every race has its superman, and usually it is one of physical strength. That Samson had no physical evidence of his superior strength is evident from the fact that Delilah asked to know his secret. Nor. was his strength in his hair, else there was no need that the "Spirit of Jehovah" should come upon him. The secret of his power is indicated in 13:25. The word "move" suggests to play upon a harp, as if Samson's heart was open to God as a harp is open to human touch. "Samson's power was the result of a faith that was open to the infinite storehouse of the divine dynamic," Such spiritual power is within the reach of every man. Samson ("sunny") was full of laughter; not the comic, but the joyous, He did the big things God gave him to do and was filled with gladness. But Samson came under the spell of an evil woman and all of this true laughter and glad lovousness left his soul. Chapter 13, verse 25, Illustrates the anointing of the Holy Spirit for service as perhaps distinguished from the same Spirit for holiness. The laughter heard in the haunts of sin has lots its that of men whose hearts are unclean.

she associates. As a Nazarite, Samson of which I cry hourly, with feebler low a razor to touch his head, was not to make him dash the sparkling bevto touch anything unclean, nor drink erage to earth, in all the pride of its intoxicating liquor. This vow was mantling temptation." usually for a short period. Samuel and John the Baptizer are other Nazarites recorded in Scripture, and are said to have been such from birth (3:14; 16:17; Luke 1:15). Samson's head in a harlot's lap and the laughter went out of his soul. It was that and God Samson's birth in a godly home, his knowlege of his relation to God and the experience of God's power did not keep him from an ignoble failure. He left the atmosphere of God's spirit for that of sin (Prov. 4:

IV. Samson's Imprisonment. We find him after his excesses grinding in the Philistine prison, where he perhaps overheard praises being sung to Dagon who had overthrown Jehovah's judge. It is never safe to play with temptation though conscious of our own strength; then it is we are most apt to fall (I Cor. 10:12). One act and the gay hero is grinding in a prison house. Directly a man goes into impurity, whether in act or thought, he loses the power that formerly moved men or worked wonders. Year after year Samson plodded his round of enforced toil, a type of the force and power of intemperance and other impure habits. During these years he doubtless put his hand upon his head and said, "My hair is growing again." and it gave him courage to believe that God would yet give him another Finally, "when their hearts were merry" (16:25), he is brought out to make sport. During one of his resting periods he said to a boy near by, "Let me feel of the two pillars," those upon which the main walls rested and which were within a man's reach. Then it was that he was able to grip the mysterious power of the unseen (16:30). Was Samson a suicide? No! He accepted death as the inevitable consequence of his act of duty (See Heb. 11:32).

The growth of his hair was only a token of that consecration which he had surrendered when he failed to withstand the wiles of Delilah.

The Temperance Teaching of this lesson is all too plain. It must begin in the home and continue throughout all of life. As we have scattered information throughout our land we have seen the work of temperance advancing mightily. Samson's exploit with the lion is a temperance sermon in parable (14:5, 6; Prov. 20:1). The business of the temperance forces is to slay the lion. We are also to eat honey out of the rock," to gain vietories within and without, and. Ifke Samson, we can give honey to others. hunts for the boy.-Clinton N. How-To have a part in helping to redeem a ard lost world requires that we keep clean.

IN WEST VIRGINIA.

A passenger conductor of the Chesapeake and Ohio railroad writes to Hon. Fred O. Blue, state tax commissioner of West Virginia, as follows: "I was doubtful, as was everybody else, as to the effect such a law would have. I must confess that the immediate effect has been almost beyond belief. We have now passed several pay days and Saturdays, and there has been absolutely no drinking worth mentioning, and where I had to endure personal risk in fist encounters almost every week to secure order from some drunks. I now handle even larger crowds with comparative ease. The women and children are now traveling, partly on the money that was spent for booze and partly because they are not afraid to travel. The results seem too good to last, but if all the officers of the law keep after it, I see no reason why things shall not be even better as time goes on. This is a pretty unqualified indorsement for a railroad conductor who has been up against the world and a rough part of the world for 30 years, but I feel that the changed conditions warrant it." The following was received from a large coal operator of the state: "I never in my life saw such a great improvement in the way of behavior and manly conduct as on the passenger train of the Cabin Creek branch of the Chesapeake and Ohio since whisky ceased to be a merchandising proposition in our state. Further, I notice with great pleasure that a large portion of our men who used to go out to whisky are now spending this time with their families or at the Y. M. C. A., and a portion of the money which originally went for whisky is now going toward the entertainment of their families, which means untold pleasures for the children."

Mr. Blue concludes his report with this statement: "Such letters from men in touch with the practical, everyday life speak with more convincing | mousand. power than anything I can say."

A WARNING.

"I can drink or let it alone-as he does," says the young man, pointing to a respected member of the community who is a "moderate" drinker. Too often the followers of such an example make good on the first part of their boast but not on the last. The brilliant Charles Lamb, a victim of the liquor habit, left this warning to the young man taking his first glass:

"Could be look into my desolation, and be made to understand what a dreary thing it is when he shall feel himself going down a precipice with eyes open and a passive will; to see his destruction, and have no power to stop it, to see all goodness emptied out of him, and yet not be able to forget a time when it was otherwise; to bear about the piteous spectacle of his own ruin-could be see my febuoyancy, is forced, is different, is vered eye, fevered with the last night's drinking, and feverishly looking for to-III. #### ACCIDENTS DUE TO LIQUOR.

"It will not be long before the saloon will be as much separated from the industrial plant as it is now from strength burned out when he lay his the church. As a matter of business we will have to furnish workmen bet ter entertainment than saloons do. which broke the contact between him We also will have to pay in cash to prevent men from going to saloons to convert their checks into currency. Sixty per cent of industrial accidents in the United States are due to liquor."-L. R. Palmer, chief inspector of the Pennsylvania department of labor and industry, in an address before the national congress of industrial

A BLESSING TO LABOR.

An authority on the labor question makes this statement:

"The wiping out of the liquor traffic will throw two thousand millions of dollars annually into the legitimate channels of trade and industry. This would take the entire output of every factory now in existence and necessitate the building of new factories. It would give employment to every idle person at increased wages. The bene fits thus accruing to labor would far exceed the demands that labor is making of capital if all these demands were granted today."

BLOT IT OUT.

The manufacture and sale of liquor is responsible for: Seventy-five per cent of our crimi-

Fifty per cent of the inmates of our insane asylums. Eighty per cent of the inmates of our poorhouses.

Ninety per cent of our tramps. The destruction of homes. The corruption of voters.

Who is responsible for the saloon? BUSINESS SIDE OF QUESTION. "The work of the sawmill," said

Rev. Charles Scanlan in a recent address, "increases the value of the raw lumber: the product of the flour mill is more valuable than raw wheat: butter is worth more than cream, but the drunkard, who is the finished product of the saloon, is of less value than he was before liquor touched him. The saloon destroys, but does not create values."

BURIES THE DEVIL.

Abolishing the liquor traffic does not kill the devil; but it puts him under ground; it drives him into subways, cellars and hidden pipes. When you bury the devil, a boy has to hunt for him; when you license the devil, he

Reducing Illiteracy.

Only fifteen out of every one thousand children from ten to fourteen years of age in the United States are unable to read and write.

These figures just announced by the federal bureau of education show a striking decrease in child illiteracy during the last fourteen years. In 1900 the number of illiterate children be tween the ages of ten and fourteen was forty-two in every thousand. It 1910 this number was reduced to twenty-two. Four years have further lowered it to more than 33 1-3 per cent.

Assuming only the latter rate of decrease, twenty years more may see youthful illiteracy in this country almost cease to exist save among newly arrived immigrant families. Nor can the present rate of improvement fail to produce in the same period a marked change in the percentage of illiteracy in the entire population of ten years and over-which in 1910 was 7.7, or seventy-five illiterates for every
