Miss Alice Speer was a guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Whitehill, in Hopewell township, on last Saturday night and Sunday.—Everett Republican.

Shellbarks must be more plentiful in other parts of the country than in Fulton county, since the New York quotations on these nuts is but $1.50 a bushel.

HIDES.—Frank B. Sipes pays the highest market price for beef hides at their butcher shop in McConnellsburg, also highest price paid for calf skins, sheepskins and tallow.

Rev. A. Dotterman, pastor of Bethany church at Big Cove Tannery, spent about a month in New York and New Jersey visiting his mother and other relatives, and returned latter part of last week.

Trappers will have to be content with lower prices on furs this season, owing to the European war. The bulk of American raw furs is sent to Europe, and the average European needs his money for something more substantial than ornamental furs.

The Hagerstown and Mercersburg Trolley Company that has been busy building a trolley connecting those two cities for quite a long time, is attracting public attention again and reviving the hopes of those interested by recently having had printed a nice lot of letter heads and envelopes.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey H. Clevenger (Amy Lodge) of Taylor township, drove in to McConnellsburg last Sunday, spent the night with Amy's mother, Mrs. Emma M. Lodge, north Second street, and on Monday Harvey attended the meeting of the stockholders of the Valmont Telephone Company.

A man who gave his name as Theodore Spangler, of Carlisle, was arrested in Washington last week. He was trying to see the President, and had a loaded revolver in his pocket. He said that he wanted to see the president because the people of Carlisle said he was insane. He was locked up, and will be examined for insanity.

The high price of wheat, together with the possibility that wheat flour may go to a price too high for poor people to buy, is causing alarm in the cities. Newspapers are recommending that more corn and rye be used. A paragrapher rises to remark that "Owing to the fact that so many now use corn and rye, they are unable to buy wheat." Not a bad knock at booze, and it is only too true.

George W. Fisher, of Thompson township, spent a few hours in town Monday. Mr. Fisher is agent for the heirs of John Brakeall, deceased, and he was arranging for the advertising of sale of the personal property and real estate on the 16th of February. This will be a good opportunity to get a good farm at a reasonable figure, as on account of other business none of the heirs will be in the market for it.

While farmers of the United States are deploring the shortage of potash salts, Germany is equally anxious about her supply of nitrogen-bearing materials. Germany practically controls the world's supply of potash, and South America supplies the bulk of the nitrogen. Owing to the blockade of German ports, that country cannot obtain sufficient quantity of nitrogen, and on that account, she seems to be in greater fear for the safety of her crops than are American farmers on account of the shortage in potash.
