"IN A BAD WAY."

Many a McConnellsburg Reader Will Feel Grateful for This Information.

If your back gives out; Becomes lame, weak or aching, If urinary troubles set in, Perhaps your kidneys are "in a bad way."

Doan's Kidney Pills are for weak kidneys.

Local evidence proves their merit.

Mrs. Lucinda Clevenger, Water St., McConnellsburg, says: "I was in poor health for some time. My back ached badly and I couldn't do my housework. I had dizzy spells and chills and was annoyed by the kidney secretions. Often swelling appeared under my eyes, and I was very nervous at night. I was troubled by rheumatic twinges. I finally used Doan's Kidney Pills procured at Trout's Drug Store, and since then I haven't been troubled by my back or kidneys."

Price 50c. at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Clevenger had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

WELLS TANNERY.

The stork left a little son in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Moseby last Sunday.

Miss Lillian Burkett, of our town has accepted a position as stenographer in the offices of the McConnellsburg and Port London Railway Company at McConnellsburg. Lillian is a good honest girl and will doubtless fill the position to the entire satisfaction of the Company.

The banquet given by the Knights of the Golden Eagles last Saturday evening to the Ladies Temple was a delightful affair. Thank you, brothers.

Mrs. Laura Rowells, of Fanettsburg, is visiting in the home of her sister, Mrs. Robert L. Moseby.

Roy Shaw, of New Grenada, spent last Sunday in the home of his sister, Mrs. Russell Swope.

Mrs. Abram Burkett and Mrs. A. S. Greenland are on the sick list.

Dr. J. L. Dalling will preach in the Presbyterian church at Wells Tannery on Easter Day.

Miss Alice Wishart was called to Saxton and State College to speak at missionary meetings. Before returning, Miss Wishart will visit friends in Johnstown.

Calvin Aman and family have moved from Center county to Reichley Brothers Lumber Camp. Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Cobert, near Three Springs, have moved into a part of Harry E. Spangler's house, and will assist in the farming this summer.

Mrs. Roddy Gibson is visiting her parents in Altoona.

Glenn must have wanted to stay for dinner the next day when he went to see his best girl a few Saturday evenings ago. Report says he took a chicken along.

Mrs. R. C. McQuade spent the time from Thursday until Saturday of last week in the home of her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Houpt, near Mercersburg.

The High Calling of Motherhood

Demands the utmost precaution in maintaining health at high efficiency because it is doubly important and nothing in the world is so needful as Scott's Emulsion, good cheer and sunshine. Scott's Emulsion makes the blood rich and pure. It contains the vital flesh-building and bone-building properties and insures abundant nourishment. It strengthens the nerves and vital forces and creates energy during this period.

Scott's Emulsion is healthful and wholesome medical nourishment, so scientifically predigested that it is promptly absorbed without taxing digestion and distributes strength to every organ, and muscle, and fibre.

Expectant and nursing mothers always need Scott's Emulsion, but refuse the alcoholic substitutes. At any drug store, 12-149 Scott & Bowne, Bloomfield, N. J.

A Gigantic Red Oak(?)

EDITOR NEWS:—Probably it was last September that you published a statement from a lady of Fulton county, who, on a visit to Franklin county, had seen a tree of remarkable size on the farm of a Mr. Kline, or a Mr. Rankin. This tree was named a Red Oak, and it was credited with a girth of 31 feet at a height of 2 or 3 feet from the ground. I saw the article at the time and wanted then to make a counter statement; but my physical disabilities rendered this impossible. If not too late, let me do so now. There are no trees in our forests more admirable, in all respects, than the family of the Oaks—known to botanists as QUERCUS: And, of the Oaks, none are finer in general appearance than a typical Red Oak; but this species does not, in point of size, compare favorably with the White, the Black, the Scarlet and the Pine, which normally surpass it. Now, if the tree referred to in the article has a circumference of 31 feet at 2 or 3 feet up, the probability is that it is not a red oak—for I have never seen nor heard of a Red of so great size. In order to maintain its integrity that tree should measure at least 25 feet at 4 to 8 feet up (the place of usual measurement,) and that, I venture to say, is not true of any Red Oak in Pennsylvania. I once knew a White Oak, since blown down, of 25 1/2 feet at 6 feet up—but that was supposed to be the thickest oak in the State. The Franklin county tree, if an oak at all, is likely a White or a Black. Few persons can tell one oak from another. The difference is readily told, but trees do not attract the multitude save as they display some unusual quality, such as great size, symmetry of form, conspicuous flowering, etc. A little knowledge of botany would open a new and wonderful world to most people, who are content to remain ignorant, and to behold without seeing the beauties of God's creations—even of those which appear upon the surface.

Will the lady who was enough interested in the tree to report its existence to you, please take a second look at it when opportunity occurs, and inform us whether her measurement was correct, and state some reasons for her belief that it is a Red Oak? By so doing she will greatly oblige many tree-lovers. Sincerely yours, WM. F. HUGHES.

AN EXAMPLE OF WATERED LABOR

Statement Showing How Excess Trainmen Hurt Railroads and Labor.

New York, March 20. Business men and others are finding food for much sober thought in an editorial just published by the "Wall Street Journal," entitled: "An Example of Watered Labor," in part as follows: "It is stated in the recent report of the Pennsylvania Railroad that the superfluous train hand demanded by the extra crew law of the state of Pennsylvania costs the road upwards of one million dollars a year. This represents 5 per cent upon a capital of $20,000,000. The payroll is therefore watered to that extent. This is in fact watered labor, of a kind far more intolerable than watered capital. "If this is multiplied by all the railroads affected by such laws, the watered labor may be easily and conservatively estimated at $100,000,000. Suppose the railroads of the United States were to issue a like amount of capital stock, with nothing behind it? What an outburst of public indignation there would be! "It has been justly pointed out that the sums thus expended to subsidize idlers would have at least five times the employing power if diverted into upkeep and improvements. In other words, the labor unions, instead of employing more men, are really reducing employment to that extent. "There is another way in which the railroad worker suffers. These superfluous employees choke the channels of promotion. "This may suit the well-paid labor leader, who would sooner rest his power upon ignorance and dependence. But how does it strike the ambitious train hand on a road like the Pennsylvania, where practically every officer, from the president down, has risen from the ranks?"

Electric Power.

If, by the aid of electricity, Fulton county breaks the shackles of progress, and at one bound leaps into the enjoyment of the very latest type of railroad, she should not be content at that. Look at little Belgium the worlds acknowledged centre of electrical activities. Before a ruthless foe destroyed her industries, she defied the world to compete with her in the production of low-priced articles that required the use of innumerable pieces of machinery, each machine driven by a little motor supplied with power from a central station sometimes miles away. America is rapidly adopting her system of doing away with dangerous, costly shafting and belting to convey power to distant rooms in factories. While Belgium led the world in the use of electrical appliances, it was not on account of a water source of power to run dynamos. Fulton county with its small streams which could be harnessed at frequent intervals, could probably, outdo Belgium in the production of cheap power. We confidently predict that men now living will see Licking Creek valley farms lighted by electricity, little portable motors no bigger than the crown of your hat will find a place on every farm to take the place of present little internal combustion engines, and little manufacturing plants will spring up for the utilizing of many waste products.

ENID.

Miss Wealthy Foster and niece Bessie, of Defiance, visited relatives in the Valley Saturday. J. Eshe Foster and family, who had been in Altoona for the winter, returned to the Valley last week.

Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Edwards are spending Easter week with their daughter Mabel and other relatives in Akron, Ohio. Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Foster spent the last of the week with friends in Trough Creek. James Woodcock and his sister Ruth spent a day with their sister Mrs. David Knepper in Taylor.

Chas. Schenck expects to move his sawmill to Jesse O. McClain's this week.

Our schools will all close within the next two weeks. Mr. and Mrs. Meade Barnett visited his mother and other relatives last week in Taylor.

Judge W. B. Stigers brought Lewis Yonker, 'Squire Job L. Garland, and Edward Ritz to town yesterday in his automobile. The Judge is the executor in the estate of Rebecca Gordon, deceased, and they came up to probate the will.

FIT MATES FOR WARRIORS

Natural Beauties of Women Enhanced by Heroic Wars, is the Opinion of American Writer.

For are not the most beautiful generations of the women of any race produced during its long, heroic wars? Is it not what women think of distant fighting men that alone carries their natures to certain loftiest ranges of human expression? Not such beauty as comes to other women from thoughts of God—women whose brows, dedicated to heaven, have the pitifulness of blanched flowers; whose eyes are ever turned toward the dust as though the bold, burning sun were too human a light, and these could be opened wide and unafraid only in dark places before the undesirable radiance of silver lamps. But beauty which answers with frank and full understanding to all there is in the eyes of men, when these come home to them, as their saviors and lovers, from battle plains where blood ran reddest and fiercest near the very vines presses of death and the young vineyards of the slain. Is it nature's compensation to women for their passionate unfitness to carry on war that they can yet win its victories as the mates of warriors who after the lapse of all Christian centuries are still to them the foremost and the fullest of men?—From "The Sword of Youth," by James Lane Allen, in the Century Magazine.

WAR CHANGES GUIDE BOOKS

Experts Very Much at Sea as to What Will Be Result of the European Conflict.

One of the multitude of effects of the war is its alteration of the guide books to the continent, says the Westminster Gazette. The majority of these have needed little change for several years in the bulk of their pages. But now—! A publisher of guide books says that as regards Belgium, Austria and France there will be wholesale corrections needed. And the end is not in sight.

The year books, several of which are now in active preparation, are experiencing similar difficulties. The statistics of various public departments have been "held up" owing to the enlistment of officials concerned in this work. And when one does not know what a day will bring forth it is impossible to use "close" pages for press.

DISEASE GERMS.

During the recent outbreak of the foot-and-mouth disease at the Chicago stockyards hundreds of thousands of pigeons were killed by the state and government authorities. They were said to be carriers of the disease germs.

Thousands upon thousands of rats were also exterminated at the same time. Poison fumes were sprayed into all holes and crevices in the brick pavements of the stock pens as the work of cleaning and disinfecting was completed.

MUSICAL IMPRESSIONS.

"You don't seem fond of music." "Well," replied Senator Sorghum, "I try not to harbor resentments, but whenever I hear music I can't help being reminded of the campaign funds that we recently wasted in employing a brass band."

ACCOUNTED FOR.

"How did the hunters manage to thread their way through the jungle?" "I guess they used needle guns."

ON THE CONTRARY.

"They don't take Wall street lams with mint, do they?" "Take 'em? They grab 'em, if it's a mint of money."

QUEER ARRANGEMENT.

"Charge this telegram, please." "Have to pay cash, sir." "Why I thought all telegraph messages went on tick."

QUITE DISTANT.

"What distant manners your guest has!" "Well, you see, she came from Canada."

A DIFFICULT CASE.

Maud—Have you given Jack any opportunities to propose? Betty—Yes, but I couldn't tell him they were opportunities.

PLAINLY EVIDENT.

"I saw Smith pitch his alarm clock out of the window." "Ah! I suspected he was throwing away his time."

MAKING THE POINT.

"My boy, is the girl you are going to marry a good plain cook?" "No, uncle; she's a good, pretty one."

Fifteen Years Ago.

Henry Ford, the automobile manufacturer, was engineer in an electric light plant in Detroit. Charlie Murphy, the base ball millionaire, was a reporter on the Cincinnati Enquirer. Thomas H. Ince, the motion picture magnate, was a comic opera comedian, glad to get $50 a week. Charlie Weegham, owner of the Chicago Federal base ball team and a string of restaurants, was a waiter in a quick-lunch room. And so it goes. The list could be strung out to a column's length. Therefore, when you hear a boy or a man complain that he has no chance, take him by the arm and tell him a few things. There never was a time in the world's history when there were more opportunities for a young man to push to the front. There never was a time when a little intelligence and determination would provide a man with a competence in a few years. This is particularly true in the farming business—for farming is a business. The young man of today who will take hold of a farm with the idea of making it the best farm in the county and who will work intelligently for ten years, with that idea always before him, will not have to work for the remainder of his life.
