How We Know From the Dead

By REV. JAMES M. GRAY, D. D.

TEXT-Now if Christ be preached that he rose from the dead, how may some smong you that there is no resurrection of the dead?-I Cor. 15:12.

At this sesson of the year our thoughts are turned more than usual to the resurrection of Jesus Christ. This is the keystone of the arch of Christianity and the basis of our own hope of life be yond the grave. Therefore it is of the first importance to sure about it. We ought to have a firm foundation for our faith, for which reason we ask, and will try to answer, the question, How do we know that Jesus Christ arose from the dead? Historical Monuments.

Antiquarians say that the strongest evidence of an event of early times is a historical monument erected to establish it. Take our Fourth of July. What an ever-recurring proof it is of the Declaration of Independence put forth by our political fathers as the Magna Charta of our nation! We trace the history of this day from decade to decade until we reach the point when it first came to be. What then originated it, or what explanation shall be given for its observance at that time? There must be some cause adequate for such an effect, and we find it in that action of the continental congress.

Just so we have the first day of the week which we keep as one of rest and worship. All the people do not keep this day, but many do, who are called Christians. They are found in all nations and among all tongues. Moreover they have kept this day for nearly 2,000 years, and yet there was a time when it began to be. What originated it, what explains its coming into being? There must be a cause adequate for such an effect, and it is found in the resurrection of Jesus Christ from the dead on that day. This proof is all the stronger when we recall that the first Christians were Jews, and that until that time they had always kept the seventh day of the week, and not the first. It must have been a revolutionary event indeed to produce a change like this.

The Testimony of Eye-Witnesses. But going further back, what ground had our Christian fathers for believing that Jesus Christ arose from the dead on that day? To mention only a single fact, they had the testimony of 514 eye-witnesses, mentioned by Paul in I Corinthians 15:5-8, One eye-witess might be mistaken, or three might be mistaken, but 514 hardly! And not when you remember that 500 of them saw him at once. And furthermore the post-resurrection appearances of Jesus Christ were many, for he remained upon the earth for six weeks. And not only were they many, but very intimate, if we may so express it. He walked and talked with his disciples, and he ate and drank with them. And he afforded them the evidence not only of the senses of sight and sound, but of touch, too. Thomas was directed to thrust his hand into the wound in the side of Jesus, and told to "be not faithless, but believing." The man who rejects such testimony is incapable of accepting any similar testimony to anything or anybody.

Personal Experience.

And yet the man who truly believes on the Lord Jesus Christ, has evidence of a more intimate and satisfactory kind than either of those named. He has the witness in himself, for he himself is risen from the dead, not as yet physically, but in a spiritual sense. He has risen from the death of sin into the life of righteousness. He knows this to be a fact, and it is so great a marvel in his experience that the physical resurrection to follow is altogether removed from the region of uncertainty or doubt.

But how did this resurrection take place in his case? Simply by believing the testimony of God concerning the death and resurrection of Jesus Christ. This is a great mystery, but the moment a man believes what God has said about his son who died for our sins and rose again for our justification, that moment he is born again, he is a new man, in a new world, with a new hope in his heart. You do not need to offer him further proof that Jesus Christ rose from the dead, he carries with him all the proof he requires in his own soul.

Once I was blind, but now I can see, The light of the world is Jesus,

No power can effect this change in a man but God; and if God effects it when a man believes, that is all the testimony the man needs that his Son died and rose again. Why not try it for yourself? It costs nothing but the surrender of your will to God, but It is worth more than everything else you have in this world.

Tasted Death for Every Man. We see Jesus, who was made a lit tle lower than the angels for the suffering of death, crowned with glory and honor; that he by the grace of God should taste death for every man.-Hebrews 2:9.

We have more to do today than to make a living; we have to make a life. Let us not spoil the one in seeking to gain the other .- J. H. Jowett.

So long as mankind lasts there will be differences of opinion; but that is no reason why there should not be unity in diversity.—Lord Norton.

INTERNATIONAL That Christ Rose SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

LESSON FOR APRIL 11 DAVID ANOINTED KING.

LESSON TEXT-I Samuel 16:4-13. GOLDEN TEXT-Man looketh on the gutward appearance, but Jehovah looketh on the heart.-I famuel 15:7 R. V.

After the events recorded in last Sunday's lesson Samuel retired to Ramah never again to see Saul's face. Samuel "mourned" (15:35) 1. e., bewalled and lamented the deposed king. It was noble for Samuel thus to be grieved over Saul's sin; still, God had work for him to do. There is a sorrow that "worketh repentance" which is pleasing in the sight of God, but that idle sorrow which spends itself in unprofitable mourning is detrimental to man and a hindrance to the Eingdom of God (ch. 8:7; 15:1). Men may fail but the kingdom goes forward. We do not interpret verse 2 as suggesting any subterfuge on God's part but rather that God refused to pay any attention to Samuel's fear. God answers fear by giving us duties to perform and in their performance we are delivered from our fears.

I. David Chosen to Be King, vv. 4-10. Saul, the clamorous choice of the people, was not succeeded by David-"the man after God's own heart"-for several years after this lesson. God's will in this matter was shown to Samuel progressively: (a) in chapter 13:14 Samuel is informed that God hath sought "a man after his own (b) in 16:1 he is told to go and find the king whom God had provided; (c) in verse 12 Samuel is at last definitely told whom God has selected. This selection is in accordance with the prophecy made centuries before regarding the kingly scepter (Gen. 49:10). Of course it was high treason, this act Samuel was about to perform, and Saul yet bad many friends and supporters (v. 2). God seems to have permitted Samuel to use one avowed purpose to conceal the real one, but "such a course is one to use but sparingly" (Maclaren). God can and does protect those whom he sends (Ps. 24:7) and "man is immortal till his work is done." Just what or how did not concern Samuel for he had God's promise (v. 3). A step at a time was sufficient and in taking each step Samuel was to tell the exact truth.

Thus God guides and tests his servants. Samuel was a judge as well as a prophet (ch. 7:16) and the people of Bethlehem were agitated at his arrival. It may be, too, that these elders were fearful of incurring the displeasure of Saul. There was no occasion for fear, as Samuel's purpose was to sacrifice and his mission one of peace even as the angelic messengers who quieted the shepherds with their message of "peace" when "great David's greater son" was ushered into the world. Jesse was a grandson of Ruth the Moabitess and also a descendant of Rahab the harlot. On his father's side he belonged to the strong tribe of Judah. He was evidently a man of some wealth, certainly in his children. After the sacrifice and before the feast Samuel is made acquainted with the sons of Jesse. The first, Eliab, was tall and good to look upon and at once Samuel fixed upon him as the certain choice for Jehovah. Samuel made this choice in spite of his disappointment in Saul, likewise of attractive physique. There are no more eloquent words in the Bible than those found in verse 7. We have only to read of Eliab's subsequent unjust treatment of David (17:28) to see that God was amply justified in his judgment of this candidate. Social rank, lineage, fortune, physical prowess or age will never be a sufficient substitute for character. It is a subtle snare to be deceived by outward appearances. "If I take care of my character my reputation will take care of itself" (D. L. Moody). The Lord looks upon the heart; what does he see in yours?

II. David Anointed King, vv. 11-13. Seven sons are set aside and yet Samuel did not hear the voice of God's approval. In seeming dismay he asks, "Are here all thy children?" Jesse seems to have made a careless and reluctant reply that the youngest was away from home tending sheep. Thereupon Samuel asserts that "we will not sit down (to the sacrificial feast) till he be brought hither." It is from such lowly positions that God is constantly promoting men to positions of responsibility and prominence. Witness Carey, Livingston, Moody and a hundred others past and present. David at this time was about fifteen years old (Beecher). His name means "darling," significant of the affection of his mother, whose name is unknown, but to whom David twice makes reference (Ps. 86:16; 116:16). David was short, compared with his brothers, but had bright eyes (v. 12 marg.) and a fair face-a "comely person" (v. 18). David was agile and strong and though seemingly scoffed at by his brothers and neglected by his father it did not pervert his good nature nor turn him from the performance of his duties. Samuel did not greet David as he had greeted Saul, he may have been dispappointed. This gives emphasis to the words in verse 12, "Arise anoist him; for this is he." How God spoke to Samuel is of small moment. The man who does not believe God is able to come near to his creatures and communicate his will to them might as well not believe in God at all.

David is anointed, set apart, for the kingship, but is not equipped nor does he enter upon his offices till later, Saul had been thus set apart when one were present (9:27; 10:1). So it is possible that Jesse and his family connected this ceremony with some work for God rather than with

INFLUENCED BY MUSIC

EFFECT OF SWEET STRAINS ON DOMESTIC ANIMALS.

Lecturer Urges Farmers to Place Phonographs Near Their Bee Hives and Stables-Tells of Her Own Experiences.

Farmers who want better honey richer milk, and more of both, should put phonographs near the hives and In the pasture or stable. Dr. Alma Webster Powell, LL. B., M. B., A. M. Ph. D. of New York and Columbia university is authority for the assertion. She declared to an audience at the University of Washington recently, while lecturing on "Music Is a Human Need," that she herself had tried the experiment on her farm, and that it had proved absolutely success-

Nor are bees and cows the only creatures influenced by music. Doctor Powell and her daughter keep four or five crickets in their hearth, and evenings they attract them forth to a dance in the middle of the living room in their farm home by singing to them. Madam Powell says she has had many scientists as her guests to witness the phenomenon.

Six little crippled girls, of particularly unlovely natures, whom she found in the slums of New York, were other objects of Madam Powell's study. She gave musical training to these children, putting phonographs in their homes, and not only succeeded in entirely reforming their dispositions, but in effecting marked changes in all of those with whom they associated.

At Coney Island, she said she ran a tent where mobs were incited to riot every evening by radical speeches. After a few months of experiment in this direction she introduced music at the meetings, and though the speeches became more flery than ever the crowds were invariably peaceful.

She contended, as a result of these experiments, that music stirred the sluggish and tranquilized the nervous person, animal or insect.

Madam Powell believes in ragtime for all who like it, and she is one, though a highly educated and successful prima donna soprano and pianist. "A good ragtime piece sets me beating time, and if I don't do it on the outside I feel it on the inside," she said.

Gamblin' Man Led to Repentance.

During the recent revival in Ebenezer chapel Goat Simmons, the gambling man, "came through" amid a thunderous concomitant of triumphant hosannas. He sprang to his feet with a loud shout and immediately tumbled down in a fit on the floor, where he postured and gyrated like an unfortunate toad in the embrace of a hot compopper. An especially animated squirm sent a couple of dice flying from the pocket of the groveling wretch, to be followed a moment later by another which caused a deck of cards to be widely "Hallelooyer!" shouted good old Parson Bagster. "It's de sin dat's bein' shuck out'n our sufferin' brudder! Shake him ag'in, Lawd!--shake him twell all de sin am purged fum him!

British Army's Black Bands. At one time much of the music played to enliven British troops was furnished by black bandsmen. These were first attached to the army in the seventeenth century, owing to one of the guards' bands having refused, in a body, to play at an entertainment organized by the officers. As pone of the men were attested, they could not be punished for insubordination, so the officers petitioned the duke of York, then commander-in-chief, that bandsmen should in future be made subject to military law. To this the duke would not agree, but he brought over from Hanover for the guards a complete German military band, which included negro players of the bass drum, cymbals and triangles. Nearly every regiment in the service hastened to reorganize its band, engaging colored performers for all percussion instruments. Down to 1841 the band of the Scots Guards included a negro musician.
