ACT QUICKLY.

Delay Has Been Dangerous in McConnellsburg.

Do the right thing at the right time.

Act quickly at the right time.

In time of kidney danger Doan's Kidney Pills are most effective.

Plenty of McConnellsburg evidence of their worth.

Miss Susan Peightel, Main St., McConnellsburg, says: "I was in poor health for some time and I believe that weak kidneys caused the trouble. I suffered greatly from severe pains in my back, which often darted into my head. I became dizzy and had chills. I was losing strength daily, and felt poorly in every way. Doan's Kidney Pills were brought to my attention and I procured a supply at Trout's Drug Store. They acted just as represented and brought me quick relief.

Price 50c. at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Miss Peightel had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

SALUBRIA

Our aged neighbor, John H. Klime, is quite poorly and has been for several days. His feet and legs are much swollen—has been complaining of shortness of breath indicating heart trouble.

Mrs. George F. Metzler was taken singularly ill latter part of last week. It may have been a stroke of paralysis, judging from the symptoms and total prostration.

Dr. Watson Swope and Mrs. Henry Truax, of Pittsburgh, came to Green Hill last week in the Doctor's car. Mrs. Truax is the widow of Henry Truax. She came to visit her uncle, Edward W. Swope, and her father and mother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Hartman Truax. Ed met her at Green Hill with a horse and buggy, and the Doctor went on to make a tour of the East.

Mrs. Fernando Decker who had been visiting her two sons and two daughters in Ohio during the past three weeks, returned home last Friday evening. She reports that her son-in-law, Frank Melott who recently had both arms broken, is recovering as rapidly as could be expected.

An automobile party consisting of Sander Cline, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Hann and their daughter and Bert's mother, autoed in the Cline car to Gettysburg last Sunday.

Quite a good-sized congregation met at Green Hill Presbyterian church for preaching last Sunday; but the pastor, Rev. J. L. Yearick, failed to come.

Standard Barrel Now.

The bill for a standard barrel passed by Congress during the closing hours of the last session went into effect July 1.

For fruit and vegetables and other dry commodities, the bill provides that the barrel must be made of staves 2 1/2 inches long, with heads 17 1/2 inches in diameter and a distance of 26 inches between the heads. The outside measurements of the bulge must be 64 inches.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Campbell Patterson and Mr. and Mrs. Wilson L. Nace spent the Fourth and fifth in a motoring trip which included Bedford Springs, Johnstown, Holidaysburg and Altoona.

HAVE YOU BEEN SICK?

Then you realize the utter weakness that robs ambition, destroys appetite, and makes work a burden.

To restore that strength and stamina that is so essential, nothing has ever equalled or compared with Scott's Emulsion, because its strength-sustaining nourishment invigorates the blood to distribute energy throughout the body while its tonic value sharpens the appetite and restores health in a natural, permanent way.

If you are run down, tired, nervous, overworked or lack strength, get Scott's Emulsion to-day. It is free from alcohol.

Political Announcements.

For President Judge of the Court of Common Pleas of the 51st Judicial District.

DONALD P. McPHERSON, Gettysburg.

Subject to the Non-Partisan Primary.

In announcing my candidacy for President Judge of the Court of Common Pleas of the 51st Judicial District, I wish to thank my friends who, without regard to Party, have so generously expressed their approval of it and to assure every voter of Adams and Fulton Counties that I shall appreciate his suffrage and support.

The Judgeship is now non-partisan—made so specifically by Act of Assembly—and if nominated and elected to that high office it will be my endeavor to observe the spirit of that act and to administer the duties of the office with fidelity and impartiality, to the end that the law may be enforced and justice done.

DONALD P. McPHERSON, July 1, 1915.

J. L. BUTT, Gettysburg, Pa.

To the Voters of Adams and Fulton Counties:

In announcing my candidacy for the nomination for President Judge of the Fifty-first Judicial District I desire to state that I consented to become a candidate because of the number of members of the bar who urged me to do so and pledged me their support, and while I had the matter under consideration, assurance of support and approval came from voters all over the county and district urging the step, and confiding in these assurances, I consented. The office of President Judge is the highest honor in the gift of the people of this district and carries with it the gravest responsibilities. A Judge must not only know the law and be a student of the law, but must be without prejudice and bias in the administration of the law, the rights of the humblest citizen must be as sacredly maintained as those of the most exalted or of the great corporations. He must weigh all matters carefully so that only justice and righteousness is done. The non-partisan ideal in the separation of the Bench from politics and party organizations I pledge myself to the highest ideals of justice and right in the discharge of every duty if nominated and elected to preside over the Courts of this district, and as an assurance of such pledge let the life I have lived in your midst speak for itself. I will highly appreciate all support.

Most respectfully yours, J. L. BUTT, July 8.

County Treasurer

I hereby announce myself as candidate for nomination for the office of County Treasurer of Fulton county, to be voted for by the voters of the Democratic party at the primary election to be held Tuesday, September 21, 1915, and I pledge myself to support the ticket nominated as I always have been loyal to the support of the Democratic ticket. Your vote and influence are solicited.

DAVID GREGORY, Thompson township.

County Commissioner

I hereby announce myself as a candidate for the nomination for the office of County Commissioner of Fulton County, subject to the decision of the voters of the Republican Party, at the primary to be held Tuesday, September 21st, 1915, and pledge my support to the ticket then nominated. Your vote and influence are solicited.

GRANT BAKER, Dublin Township.

Watch Your Wife.

Keep your eye on your wife. Not to keep some other man from stealing her—for wives worth having are not stealable.

But keep her contented, for that will help you keep cheerful. And to keep her cheerful—for that will keep her pretty.

To keep her pretty is to help yourself keep your eyes off other women, a very necessary thing for a married man if he would be happy.

Keep in mind the girl you led to the altar—for your wife is that girl; just as good, just as lovable just as sincere, just as honest.

Keep in mind also that you were ready to do almost anything to get her—and so you are reminded that it's up to you to make some little sacrifice in order to keep her.

Just keep your eye on your wife and do your share toward making a success of your greatest business undertaking—the business of being a happy married man.

Mr. and Mrs. John Rummel and Mr. Eller Campbell—all of Baltimore—and Miss Lizzie Rummel of Gettysburg spent Sunday and Monday in the home of James W. Rummel, South Second Street. Miss Nellie Rummel, of Gettysburg, came to the same home on Tuesday for a short visit.

F. R. Shives says our press room reminds him of the time the Irishman sheared his pig—"more noise than wool". As the NEWS never goes "wool-gathering", that accounts for it.

A meeting of the Veterans Association will be held at Hoops Grove, Saturday, August 7th, at 1 o'clock for the purpose of selling privileges and fixing the time for the coming Reunion.

Mrs. Lou Jackson has been confined to bed for several days on account of hemorrhages of the lungs. She is in a very weak condition.

BELGIUM'S GREAT SONG.

The national anthem of Belgium, "La Brabançonne," is set to lighter music than the dignified British and Russian compositions. Its author and composer were both Belgians, and the song was written to meet the public need at the time of a great crisis in the country's history, the revolution of 1830, when Belgium repudiated its so-called amalgamation with Holland. The music was the work of a reputable musician of the time, Francois Van Campenhaut, a violinist, a fine tenor singer, and a composer. "La Brabançonne" constitutes Van Campenhaut's principal claim upon posterity. Van Campenhaut concentrated his efforts upon giving the soldiers of the revolution a good marching tune, one which would carry along the burning enthusiasm of Jenneval's words without emphasizing any of their deeper qualities. He caught something of the impulse of Rouget de Lisle in the composition of "La Marseillaise," and even produced a hint of the rhythm of the Great French song.

AHEAD OF HIS TIME.

"Do you have trouble in remembering to write '1915'?" "A great deal of trouble," admitted the eminent statesman.

"You still cling to '1914,' I suppose." "No, sir. The date I can't get off my mind is '1916.'"

THE EXTINGUISHING.

"He was positively burning with love for her." "Oh, there was no danger. Her father put him out."

RAT KILLING IN MANILA.

Doctor Heisen says Manila, in 1900 to 1905, paid $15,000 in rat bounties and $325,000 in other rat-catching expense, without decreasing the number of rats.

The way they succeeded in getting rid of bubonic plague was to catch a few rats in each part of town, examine them for bubonic plague—a rat sampling process, if you please—and then draw circles around the places where plague-infected rats were found. They then began rat extermination and rat proofing at the periphery and worked toward the middle.

GOLF.

"What do you call it when you strike at a ball and miss it in golf?" "That depends on whether there are any ladies present."

EQUIVOCAL.

"Do you believe in putting up with this sale of spirits?" "I believe in putting 'em down every time."

SOMETHING LACKING.

"Pa, what is a song without words?" "I don't know exactly, son, but to the average low-brow a song without words is about as unsatisfactory as a philanthropist without money."

OUR FUNNY LANGUAGE.

The Clerk—Am I to understand that you intend to dispense with my services?

The Druggist—Yes; and I also intend to dispense without your services.

WHERE THEY RESEMBLE.

"Men are like tea." "How so?" "Their real strength is not drawn out until they get into hot water."

WISDOM OF THE CHURCH.

"The early bird catches the worm," observed the Old Fogey. "Yes, if it doesn't catch pneumonia," added the Grouch.

REVERSE CONDITIONS.

Flushman—I say, old man. I'd like change for a five. De Broke—Would you? I'd like five for a change.

Mr. Husband, Help Your Wife in the Kitchen!

No, not peeling the potatoes, washing the dishes and the other familiar kitchen duties, but help her by buying a cook stove that will make her work easier and more comfortable. You're not the one that stands over a red-hot stove preparing meals and you're not always around when coal is needed or there's wood to be split or ashes to be taken up.

What's more to the point, you don't have to be if you buy a

NEW PERFECTION OIL COOK STOVE

And your wife won't have to stew herself to a frazzle in a hot kitchen getting breakfast, dinner and supper ready. Now, be fair to your wife and relieve her of a lot of the drudgery of the kitchen with a New Perfection. Think how easy it is for her to simply scratch a match and have a stove ready for instant use—no poking and raking and waiting for it to "burn up." Save money? Why, of course! There's no fuel being consumed when the stove is not in use. And think of the time and labor saved, too. With the separate oven and fireless cooker the New Perfection has the utility of other stoves. Your wife can bake, roast, fry, broil and boil. Can heat water for wash day and irons for ironing day.

Don't put it off any longer. Go now to your dealer and examine the New Perfection Oil Cook Stove with the perfected oil reservoir, the regulated flame control, the combination chimneys that prevent smoke and smell and the improved wick that outlasts the ordinary kind. Give your wife a square deal and investigate today this safe, sane, saving and satisfying cook stove.

Indiana Normal, A School For Ambition

A Pittsburger's Impression of the Famous School at Indiana, Pa. The other day I went up to Indiana, Pa. It's about 60 miles from Pittsburgh. I didn't know we had the biggest Normal school in America right here by us, did you? You ought to see that school—fifty hundred eager, busy students, full of life and work—a group of splendid buildings in a setting of fine old oaks and oaks on the wide-spreading campus. There are two great things about this school: you remember them above all the rest. First, those fifteen hundred students, brimful of ambition and youth; second, the fact that Indiana has a definite well-defined purpose. That definite purpose is the reason for the school's tremendous success—the one essential and basic reason. I think, of course, it is a good to have a property worth a million dollars and to have the finest kind of equipment, and the best professors you can employ, and all that. Indiana has all these and more. But in spite of all its bigness and its beauty the most impressive thing to me everywhere, when we see Indiana in thinking over my visit is that steady, clear purpose. It's in the air. Normal knows what he or she is doing, why he or she is doing it—and they're all solid and eager in the doing. There's no laissez-faire, culture for show-off, or sake fallacies at this school. There's plenty of music—but you have to work at it and get it—and there's Latin and Greek, and German and French. I don't believe there's a school anywhere which gives a wider range of studies. They certainly do let the young people work; but they don't neglect athletics as we all realize, when we see Indiana play baseball, football or basketball, or when their track team comes around collecting cups. I know about Indiana in athletics all right; we all do. We know Frank McPheasant, William J. Jack, and W. F. Smith among the coaches, and R. A. Carroll among the runners. A Practical School This school seemed to me to have a broader, freer scope than others; it stands upon a hill, intellectually as well as physically. It may be said to specialize on Ambition. It inspires Ambition and then trains that Ambition. I believe there's more practical, sensible Ambition at Indiana than at any other place I've ever visited. This school provides a thorough training in aims to equip young men and young men to find, to win and to deserve true happiness—the happiness that comes from doing efficient work in the world and from appreciating the good and beautiful things of life. While I looked over the happy, busy throngs at Indiana I kept thinking what a wonderful thing it is to be fitting fifteen hundred girls and boys to become truly valuable workers for good. All of these Indiana students, when graduated, are independent—in the best meaning of that word—for they are fitted to earn their own living. Even though one doesn't have to do that, it is a comforting thing to know one can, if the need comes. Most of the students will become teachers. Think of the thousands of Indiana graduates now spreading that philosophy which is so dominating at Indiana that one reads it in their faces, the philosophy of cheerful service and of joy in good work. Honestly, I believe there is no greater work for the good of the world being done anywhere than the work that Indiana does so well. The state is proud and has good reason to be proud of this big school. Many Comforts—Small Expense One of the many wonderful things at the school is the quality and number of things they provide for a very small amount of money. The school is very like a college in appearance. In furnishing and equipment it is very like the homes of well-to-do men of excellent taste. The rooms are perfect for comfort; there's steam heat, electric light, running water, elevators. The school has its own power plant, which cost $125,000; its own ice plant, cold storage room, fruit cave, bakery, laundry and tuffon for $200 a year, if you are preparing to teach for $260 if you are not going to teach. Not $200 a term—$200 for a school year. A few days after visiting Indiana I paid $3 for the opportunity of trying to sleep in a study hotel room not equal
