The Forgiveness : of Sin

By REV. L. W: GOSNELL the Dean, Moody Bible Institute

600000000000000000000000 TEXT-Blessed is he whose transgression is forgiven, whose sin is covered. Blessed is the man unto whom the Lord imputeth not iniquity, and in whose spirit there is no guile.—Psalm 32:1, 2.

Psalm 32 is supposed to have been written after the visit of Nathan to our text, three words are used to describe our offenses against God: "transgression" means rebel lion against authority; "sin" is iquity" is distortion, crookedness. Likewise, three words are used to describe God's graclous dealing with sin: it is "forgiven," lifted up as a burden; "covered," and so hidden from sight; it is not "imputed," but canceled like a debt.

Men speak lightly of forgiveness until a deep sense of sin settles upon them, then they wonder whether their guilt may be put away; they no longer question the Bible teaching on the punishment of sin, but find it difficult to believe in its forgiveness. For such troubled souls we have good news.

To begin with, the Bible revelation of God is full of comfort for them. He is "the Lord God, merciful and graclous, long suffering and abundant in goodness and truth; keeping mercy for thousands, forgiving iniquity and transgression and sin." God was revealed in Jesus Christ, and we knew our Lord's attitude to the penitent during the days of his flesh. The woman who bathed his feet with tears, the shrinking adulteress, publicans and sinners, all attest that there is forgiveness with the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ.

Peace Through the Cross.

But it is at Calvary, especially, that assurance for the penitent is found Such a soul will not be satisfied lightly. He demands that, for the awfulness of his sin, some awful reparation be made. But the cross fully meets this demand. God's Son, our substitute, holy and undefiled, hung there and all God's waves and billows swept over him. Calvary tells of love, indeed, but it also tells of wrath, for the wrath of God against sin exhausted itself in the dark hour of the crucifixion. This is the meaning of the Savior's cry, "My God, my God, why hast thou forsaken me?" Gazing upon the cross, the penitent may assure himself that all that needs to be done has been done and full pardon is provided

That such provision has been made is further attested by the experience of men. Luther tells us that the pains of hell got hold upon him, but when he looked to the wounds of Christ he found peace. John Wesley, after seeking rest for his soul for years, trusted in Christ and felt his heart strangely warmed and assured. Spurgeon was so happy when he experienced forgiveness that he wanted to tell the crows of the field about it. These men were not deluded; the experience of Luther led to the Reformation, that of Wesley to the Evangelical revival and that of Spurgeon to years of a fruitful minis

Sin Against the Holy Ghost.

But though so clearly attested, we occasionally meet one who declares this blessing is not for him, for he has committed the sin of which Christ said it "hath never forgiveness"-the blasphemy against the Holy Ghost. But what is this sin? As the result of careful study one writer gives this definition: "The blasphemous manifestation in word or deed of an internal state of soul to which a man has arrived by a continual resistance and increasing opposition to the clearest and most undoubted revelation of God's spirit; which state, when once attained, is one of contemptuous and malicious hatred of all that pertains to the Son of God and which, by its very nature, is bound to manifest itself as such." We never met a soul, troubled over this sin, who gave evidence of having descended to such depths of willful opposition to Christ. Indeed, one who has committed this sin will not be distressed over it, and the fact of distress is itself an encouragement. Over against all our fears stands the word of Christ, "Him that cometh unto me I will in no wise

How we should love him who forgives so much! the psalmist says, "There is forgiveness with thee that thou mayest be feared," fear here meaning reverent tove. A story is told of General Havelock which illustrates this text. One of his soldiers violated regulations and continued to do so in spite of discipline. Someone asked the general if he had "tried forgiving" the offender, and the suggestion was acted upon. The soldier was sent for, and came defiant, expecting another reprimand. He was surprised when his officer said, kindly: "Johnstone, I have determined in the queen's name to forgive you all these offenses." He went away a subdued and changed man and gave no further trouble. May we learn the lesson: "There is forgiveness with thee that thou mayest be feared."

LESSON FOR JULY 18

SOLOMON CHOOSES WISDOM.

LESSON TEXT-I Kings 3:4-15. GOLDEN TEXT—The fear of Jehovals is the beginning of wisdom. Prov. 9:10 R. V.

Last week we had the story of a young man whose childhood was unrestrained and ungoverned, who proved to be a sad failure, unable to govern the kingdom he so much desired. Today, by contrast, we study the life of a younger brother, who, under better influences, chose the way that leads to true success. Emphasize therefore the fact that this Sunday is Decision Day. I. Solomon's Part (vv. 3-9) (1)

Preparation (v. 3). Solomon was lookng out of the open gateway of life. Still the text suggests that there was preparation for his hearing of God's wonderful promise, "Ask what I shall give thee." (a) He "loved the Lord" (v. 3). It was a wonderful kingdom David had bequeathed to his son. enough to entice any young man, yet it was in the "statutes of David" and in the worship of Jehovah that Solomon had his chief delight. (b) He "went to Gibeon" (v. 4) because there at the tabernacle (the temple was not yet built) Jehovah particularly manifested himself to the people (1 Chron. 21:29; Ex. 29:42, 43 R. V.). The people were still adhering to the ordinance found in Ex. 20:24.

(2) Presentation (v. 4). He offered burnt offerings," a thousand, when legally one would have sufficed. The tabernacle was a type of Christ (John 1:14 R. V. and John 14:6) and each of the one thousand sacrifices also pointed forward to the Christ. The Christian has a better ground whereon to approach God (Heb. 10:1-22) than that of countless sacrifices of rams and bulls.

(3) Revelation (v. 5). God appeared to Solomon in a dream, we have a better revelation in Jesus and the in spired Word, still it was a real appearance to him as subsequent events prove. (Gen. 28:12, 13; Matt. 1:20; Acts 18:9, 10). Scientists themselves confess that they know comparatively little about dreams. That God can and does even in modern times give us revelations of truth by such means is witnessed by the book by the late Dr. A. J. Gordon, "How Christ Came to Church." That dream transformed a pastor. Dreams are, however, most probably the "concentrated essence of the main stream of waking thoughts. Visions furnish ideals and inspirations. Let the church keep before itself the vision of a perfect church, world and city of God. "Life is no dream, but life is nothing without great dreams."-Doctor Cope.

(4) Position (yv. 6, 7). In reply to God's wonderful permission to Solomon, the setting before him of his infinite resources, Solomon first of all acknowledged his debt to David. his father. God's kindness, his faithfulness and "bounty" (marg.) to David had been according to the manner of his walking in "uprightness of heart"; and to crown that kindness, he, Solomon, is "the son to sit on his throne." This acknowledgment involved a definite obligation or service for which Solomon felt his unworthiness. It is such a spirit that God delights to honor and in response to it he has set the infinite resources of his power (John 14:13, 14: 15:7; 15:16; 16:23, 24; Mark 11:24; I John 3:22; 5:14, 15). Solomon was perhaps twentyone years of age yet in God's sight he is but "a little child"-teachable, obedient, trusting.

(5) Petition (vv 8, 9). Seeing the greatness of the responsibility now resting (v. 8) upon him Solomon's plea is for wisdom. Already he had shown that he had in him the root of true wisdom (Prov. 1:7 and Golden Text). Solomon seemed to realize his responsibility, first to God and then to the people, for he said, "Who is able to judge this Thy great people' R. V. This is the true and right relation of duty, public or private, God first, the people afterward. Solomon asked for a "hearing heart" (see R. V. marg.). Such a request was of more value than great riches (Prov. 3:13-18) and was in line with his father David's petition (I Chron, 22:12; 29:19); another suggestion as to how fathers should pray for their sons. Christians may pray this same prayer (James 1:5-7) and in addition have the promise of One, the Holy Spirit, who shall guide them into all truth (John 16:13). It is the Spirit's work to impart wisdom, and thus equipped the Christian is not overwhelmed by a sense of his inefficiency or his re sponsibility. In its last analysis this petition is for the glory of God, and as such must prevail (Jas. 4:2, 3). It represents the highest form of wisdom, of moral integrity and discern-

11. God's Part, vv. 10-15. (1) His Pleasure (vv. 10, 11). Solomon had not asked for self, for pleasure nor for earthly power and hence God's delight. God delights in an intelligent prayer (Prov. 15:8). It is a greater thing to make a speech that pleases God than one to please man. Verse eleven tells of some of the things Solomon might have asked for, and which doubtless many of us would have asked under the same circum-

(2) His Performance (v. 12). But Solomon made a more wise choice, hence God's pleasure to do not only all he had asked, according to his human words, but more also (Eph. 3:20). His name has become a proverb, synonymous with the great st wisdom (v. 28, Ch. 4:20-34; 5:12, etc.). Seeking what seemed to be the minor thing God gave him the best (Matt. 6:33; Rom. 8:32; Ch. 10:23-29) and "that which thou hast not asked." | wet.

WE WELCOME YOU! Greeting to Newcomers From Other Lands."

(This greeting, in seven different languages and illustrated with the American flag in colors, is given to immigrants landing at our different ports of entry.)

We welcome you to our great Republic! We welcome you to its free public schools; its free libraries and reading rooms; to the free picture galleries and pleasant parks of our great cities; to the vast grain fields and rich farming lands of the Golden West, to your new home-east, west, north or south!! While you will always love the beautiful flag of your own land, we hope you will also love our red, white and blue flag with its forty-eight shining stars for the forty-eight states of this big Republic, which stretches from the Atlantic to the Pacific ocean. This flag floats over free public schools, which are attended by thousands of boys and girls, who have come to us from other lands.

Perhaps you left your steamer feeling sad and lonely because you were a stranger in a strange land. If so, we hope it will comfort you to know and realize that every member of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, a society organized in ten thousand cities, towns and villages of America, is your sincere friend. We hope some kind woman wearing the little white ribbon bow, the badge of our organization, was the first to greet you as you stepped upon our shores. We wish we might take from your heart all its homesick feeling. We hope you will soon find a pleasant home in our country. Among our members there are many women from other lands and we cordially invite you to join us, and to help us increase the prosperity of our country, and make it a safer and happier nation. We should love to have the boys and girls unite with our temperance soclety for the children, called the Loyal Temperance Legion.

If you reached the United States through the port of New York, you rejoiced to see, as you entered the harbor, the Goddess of Liberty-the majestic figure of a woman holding aloft a flaming torch to enlighten the world. A DRAWING CAMPAIGN.

A small girl went home from school at Ketchikan, Alaska, after a talk to the children by Mrs, Cornella Templeton Hatcher, president of the territorfal W. C. T. U., and excitedly announced to her mother that she was 'going to sign the mustard roll." Mrs. Hatcher repeated the information to her audience that night and told thom that the temperance forces intended to put considerable ginger into the campaigns for prohibition and the children would supply a "right smart of mustard." The combination would make a plaster that would draw every dry voter to the polls on November

WHOSE BOYS? Recent investigations show that two-thirds of all the drunkards contract the drinking habit before they are twenty-one years old, nearly onethird before they are sixteen, and about seven per cent before they are twelve. The liquor dealers know this, and for business reasons they must "create appetite" among schoolboys. One family out of every five must furnish a recruit for the army of drunkards or the "trade" must go under, and one wonders if the men who vote for saloons are willing to furnish their boys to help support them?

The Effects of Opiates.

THAT INFANTS are peculiarly susceptible to opium and its various preparations, all of which are narcotic, is well known. Even in the smallest doses, if continued, these opiates cause changes in the functions and growth of the cells which are likely to become permanent, causing imbecility, mental perversion, a craving for alcohol or narcotics in later life. Nervous diseases, such as intractable nervous dyspepsia and lack of staying powers are a result of dosing with opiates or narcotics to keep children quiet in their infancy. The rule among physicians is that children should never receive opiates in the smallest doses for more than a day at a time, and only then if unavoidable.

The administration of Anodynes, Drops, Cordials, Soothing Syrups and other narcotics to children by any but a physician cannot be too strongly decried, and the druggist should not be a party to it. Children who are ill need the attention of a physician, and it is nothing less than a crime to dose them willfully with narcotics.

SUPPLIES ALWAYS ON HAND

British Claim to Have Made Transport System to the Front as Perfect as Is Possible.

When it is mentioned that 2,000 tons of goods-food and other necessitiesare sent every day from the base depots to the firing line of the British army, some idea of the gigantic task of the army service will be gathered.

This enormous weight of goods, says Harold Begbie, comes almost entirely from England, for we are not buying in France even so perishable a necessity as milk. Vast stores are brought from England and loaded into sheds at the base depots.

All day by motor dory and rallway truck supplies for the troops are sent out from these base depots to stores as near as possible to the firing lines. And just as reserves are accumulated in the docks, so reserves are accumulated near the front, since an accident to the railways might cut off the fight ing soldiers' supplies.

On one occasion there was a delay on the railways of 36 hours, but not only did the soldier at the front get all his food and ammunition, but he did not even have to draw on the reserves I have mentioned; regimental stores were sufficient for his need. Everything goes by clockwork. There is no room for an accident.-London
