Inform the Editor.

One of the most difficult of the editor's jobs is to get facts about births, marriages and deaths. People seem to think he ought to know these things by intuition. If not that, the birth, marriage or death is of such importance in the immediate family that it is presumed the editor will be informed by some wireless or just grow into the information. Then, when the paper comes out, and no mention is made of the event, the editor is blamed for not running a good newspaper or not getting all the news. Remember there are a good many people in this county. If the editor knew each of them by name, besides their family history and the chief events in the lives of every individual, he wouldn't be an editor. He'd be a demi-god, resting his feet on a cloud and sipping ambrosia instead of inhabiting a broken-down office chair and wondering where the money for the next white paper bill is coming from. The life of the average newspaper man is a gay one. Gathering news is second nature to him, like picking his teeth with the office pen and cussing the office towel. Just the same, there's a limit to his omniscience. We're anxious for news for the paper, and it won't put you out much to drop by the office or telephone us what's happening at your house. Then if the item doesn't get in the paper, you have a right to come down and kick the stuffing out of the cat. Otherwise, don't blame us.

More New Goods.

Mail orders filled. Cash must accompany order including postage.

All for Two Cents.

Spend two cents to help make life on the farm more interesting to your boys and girls. Copy the following note on two postal cards and mail one to each of the following addresses; address one card to State College, State College, Pa. Address the other card to Agricultural Department, Washington, D. C. On each card write as follows: Gentlemen:—Please put me on your mailing list for all free printed matter of interest to farmers. John Doe, Needmuch, Pa. Of course your postoffice is not "Needmuch," nor your name "John Doe;" but be sure to write your name and address so that it can be read.

You will be surprised how much of the free reading matter will interest you. It all comes to the NEWS office, and only last week the little paper showed pictures of all the stages through which the Hessian Fly passes and told at what stage the little pest can be found helpless so that you may easily kill all of them at a time when it will prevent their laying their eggs on the wheat this fall—or any fall. Surely this alone would be worth the two cents. But every paper contains something that will make the boys "sit up and take notice" that farming can be done at better profits than are now realized on many farms. Help the boys by letting them know what is going on among the great farmers of the United States as well as in our own state. Last week we asked you to write to Washington for the paper containing the Hessian Fly articles. Did you do it?

John Martz and wife had some company last Sunday. Among their guests were Mr. McGee, wife and father, of Hershey, Pa. Mr. Frey and wife of Lancaster; William Martz, wife, and sons Bernard and William, of Tyrone; John McElhaney, Hustontown, and Emma Kegarise, Dane. The first named is general manager of the Hershey Manufacturing Company.
