Northampton W. C. T. U. Elects—Copperhead's Bite Fatal To Man, Girl and Man Burned To Death.

Two hundred members of the Pomona Grange of Bucks and Philadelphia counties, representing a total membership of 1,175 grangers, held their quarterly convention and picnic at George School, Newtown. Grangers of Lower Bucks county and Philadelphia county consisting of Tyro Hall, Edison, Carversville, Pineyville, Newtown, Edgewood, Middletown, Philadelphia, Penna Manor and Delaware Valley all of these comprising the Pomona Grange, were entertained by the Newtown Grange on the grounds of the picturesque George School.

Nelson Trate started suit in court at Reading, against his brother, Howard Trate, for recovery of $5,000 damages for alleged alienation of affection of the plaintiff's wife, Lydia A. Trate. It appears that the defendant was a boarder at his brother's house. In his affidavit, the plaintiff alleges that the defendant stole his wife's affections, poisoned her mind against him, and tried to induce her to leave him.

Plans for the elaborate celebration October 3-9, of South Bethlehem as a borough, are progressing and the finances received a boost upon the announcement that Charles M. Schwab had given $5,000 toward the observance and Town Council the same amount. The sum of $20,000 will be spent during the week on the celebration.

Two persons were burned to death in a fire which broke out in a three-story frame building at Vandergrift, owned and occupied by Luigi Cucel. Cucel ran a poolroom in the building and also a restaurant. He had sleeping quarters in the upper floors. When the fire was discovered nothing was known of the girl's whereabouts, but the bodies were found in the ruins.

Because he had $500 on his person, the money having been drawn from bank for payment on a house, the family of Treobill Zellman, of Oakbrook, a suburb of Reading, reported to the police as missing from home for several days, fear that he has met with foul play. The authorities of nearby cities have been asked to search for him.

Having voted favorably a year or two ago to become a third-class city, but restrained by court decision from taking up the city form of government, because of an illegal election, 272 residents of South Bethlehem petitioned Town Council to again allow the people to decide whether they want a city government or not.

The body of John Sincavage, aged twenty-six years, of Beaver Meadow, was found near Coleraine, by Joseph Henry. There were four bullet wounds in his head and body. The man visited Beaver Meadow during the night, evidently was murdered and his money taken while on his way home.

The Women's Christian Temperance Union of Northampton county held its twenty-eighth annual convention at East Bangor. These officers were elected: President, Miss Emma Stocker; vice-president, Mrs. A. Snyder; corresponding secretary, Miss E. Tinney.

Michael Sinkobis, an unmarried young miner, of Coleraine, was found murdered on the road between that town and Beaver Meadow, with three bullet holes in his body. He was last seen alive at Beaver Meadow. There is no clue as to the motive or identity of his slayers.

Ralph Kahl, twenty-three years old, of Sheridan, died in great agony after an illness of twelve days, with blood poisoning, the result of being bitten by a copperhead snake, while harvesting oats on a farm at Newmanstown.

Instead of adding $150 to the appropriation of the No. 1 Bridgport Fire Company, as requested, Town Council cut the $600 it had been receiving in two and gave a half to the old company and the other half to a new company.

Anthony Segro, mail carrier from Mt. Carmel to Marion Heights, while riding in an automobile near the latter place, was held up by a highwayman. The latter was about to leap into the car when Segro ran it away. The man discharged a number of revolver shots.

His mind affected by the extreme heat, his friends believe, Theodore Boltier, a silk weaver, fifty-seven years old, at emptied suicide at his home, Allentown, by inhaling illuminating gas.

Paul C. Cressman, eighth grade teacher in the Leighton schools, resigned his position to become manual training teacher in Bloomsburg State Normal School. He is succeeded by D. B. David, of this place, who's succeeded by Ellsworth Palmer, of Stroudsburg.

Daniel Purcell, who had a Dooley manner in discussing national and world topics, died in Charity Hospital, Norristown. He was a shoemaker in Conshohocken, and an interesting character in the "Iron Burg."

HAELLEN PAYS TRIBUTE TO ITS DEAD HEROES

On the anniversary of the battle of Haelen, the inhabitants of that Belgian town decorated the graves of their fellow citizens who fell in the fierce combat. The photograph shows the procession on its way to the cemetery, the German officer at the right standing at salute.

GERMANS PARADING BEFORE CROWN PRINCE

With its standards crowned by the German eagle, the famous Wuertemberg regiment, which covered itself with glory by its charges in the Argonne, proudly marched past the crown prince and his staff, while the latter saluted the regiment. The crown prince is seen standing in front and Field Marshal Haeseler, the German commander, is almost directly behind him.

SOLDIERS AT PLAY

DIABETES AND THE PANCREAS.

Diabetes, according to the latest theory, is brought on by a defect in the operation of the pancreas. Drs. S. J. Metzger and I. S. Kleiner of the Rockefeller institute have been studying it for two years and have arrived at this conclusion. They have not yet suggested a cure, but now that they feel sure they know the cause they are working toward that end.

Exception.

"Show me a woman who isn't always thinking of something to put on her back," said Gidday. "If my wife were here I'd point her out to you," replied Chubson. "Ha!" "She's been begging me for six weeks to buy her a pearl necklace."

AMERICAN NAVY TRYING FOR "INVISIBILITY"

Taking a lesson from the ruses practiced by the navies of the warring nations of Europe, the naval authorities of America are experimenting with the "cloak of invisibility" idea. The photograph shows the U. S. torpedo boat Trippe painted to resemble the waves.

SEARCHLIGHT FOR AERIAL DEFENSE

One of the German field searchlights which are so useful in guarding against attacks from the air. The officer in the left foreground is observing an enemy aeroplane, his instructions being sent by the telegrapher at his side to the nearest artillery position.

CONGRATULATING A VICTOR

NORMAN TOWER LAID BARE.

A London letter says there has been a curious result of one of the fires caused by suffragettes in 1914. The fire in question practically destroyed the historic church of St. Mary at Wargrave, near Henley, which, among other interesting objects, contained the tomb of Thomas Day, the author.

The church is now being rebuilt. In the restoration of the tower it was found that the present casing of red brick is only a covering for the original Norman tower. The latter proves to be a very fine example of Norman architecture—one of the best, in the opinion of experts, existing in England.

When the tower was cased with red brick is a mystery, but the work was probably done in the reign of Henry VII or that of Henry VIII. Among other discoveries made as a result of the performance of the suffragette "arsenal squad" are a number of vaults under the chancel, of which no one had guessed the existence.

PLATE REMOVES TARNISH.

There has just been put upon the market a metal plate that removes tarnish from silver in a few seconds. It is a thin sheet made of a combination of metals; this is put into a dish of hot water in which two tablespoonfuls of washing soda have been dissolved; the silver is immersed in such a way that at least one piece of it touches the plate, then is taken out, rinsed and wiped dry. The dish in which the operation is performed must be of glass, porcelain or enameled metal; if the latter the enamel must not have been broken.

BADGE ON THE CAPITOL LAWN
