Testifies She Was Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Lackawanna, N. Y.—"After my first child was born I felt very miserable and could not stand on my feet. My sister-in-law wished me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and my nerves became firm, appetite good, step elastic, and I lost that weak, tired feeling. That was six years ago and I have had three fine healthy children since. For female troubles I always take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it works like a charm. I do all my own work."—Mrs. M. F. KREAMEL, 1574 Electric Avenue, Lackawanna, N. Y.

The success of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, is unparalleled. It may be used with perfect confidence by women who suffer from displacements, inflammation, ulceration, tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, bearing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion, dizziness, nervous prostration. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the standard remedy for female ills.

Women who suffer from those distressing ills peculiar to their sex should be convinced of the ability of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to restore their health by the many genuine and truthful testimonials we are constantly publishing in the newspapers.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential), Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

Feel All Used Up?

Does your back ache constantly? Do you have sharp twinges when stooping or sitting? Do you feel all used up as if you could just go no further? Kidney weakness brings great discomfort. What with backache, headache, dizziness and urinary disturbances it is no wonder one feels all used up. Doan's Kidney Pills have cured thousands of just such cases. It's the best recommended special kidney remedy.

A Virginia Case

"My name is Mrs. R. H. Dawson, 409 N. West St., Alexandria, Va., says: 'My back was so stiff and lame, it was almost impossible for me to straighten after stooping. Sharp pains darted through my hips and mornings I could hardly get out of bed. The kidney secretion was irregularly increased and I had little ambition. Doan's Kidney Pills put my kidneys in good shape and corrected the other trouble.'"—Get Doan's at Any Store, 50c a Box.

INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

(By E. O. SELLERS, Acting Director of the Sunday School Course, the Moody Bible Institute, Chicago.)

LESSON FOR OCTOBER 3

ELIJAH IN NABOTH'S VINEYARD.

LESSON TEXT—1 Kings 21:1-20. GOLDEN TEXT—Be sure your sin will find you out.—Num. 32:23.

Ahab disobeyed God and failed to follow up his victory over Ben-Hadad (ch. 20:31-34). Thereupon one of the prophets resorted to a plan whereby Ahab was rebuked and also received a message that sent him "to his house heavy and displeased" (v. 43). All of this needs to be borne in mind when we study Ahab's course of action related in this lesson. Learn by heart the tenth commandment; also Luke 12:15.

I. The Schemes of Men, vv. 11-16. Ahab had been king for twenty years (B. C. 906?). Jezreel was his summer capital, about twenty miles northwest of Samaria. The chief actors in this tragedy were Naboth, a well-to-do citizen; Ahab, a petulant monarch to whom Naboth refuses to sell his vineyard; Jezebel, the Lady Macbeth of Ahab's court; elders and nobles of Jezreel, willing tools in the transaction; false witnesses, executioner, and Elijah, the servant of God, who confronted the monarch in his newly gained possession. Ahab was constantly in conflict with the purposes of God and with his Word. Naboth had no right to sell his vineyard (see Numbers 35:7; Lev. 25:23; also Ezek. 46:16) and sturdily stood out for his God-given rights. These land laws were rigid, but at the same time wise and beneficial. Instead of yielding to God's law Ahab sulks like a petted child (v. 4) and thus again runs counter to God's Word (see tenth commandment). At this juncture Jezebel, his wife, appeals to his pride and power as the king (v. 7), and offers to procure the coveted possession. The methods of mankind whereby vast possessions are accumulated do not always bear investigation; murder and rapine, broken hearts and shortened lives, weakened bodies and stunted children can largely be traced to the sin of covetousness, against which we all need to be on guard (Luke 12:15; Eph. 5:5). The first sinner was covetous (Gen. 3:6), so also were the chosen people of God (Josh. 7:21), and it was this that caused the first dispersion among Christian believers (Acts 5:1-3). Jezebel most graciously gave Ahab that which belonged to others; how free we all can be with the property of others! She also cloaked her designs with the mantle of religion (8:13). Notice she did not go to Jezreel herself, but "wrote letters" and intrusted the work to others who did her bidding quickly, lest they be prevented. Their readiness is proof of the corruption which Jezebel had wrought in Israel. The world's most heinous atrocities have frequently been enacted in the name of and by professed disciples of God and of his Son. Unconsciously Jezebel was sharpening the iron which pierced her own soul (II Kings, 10:1-7). "Whatever a man soweth that shall he also reap." Jezebel was a conscienceless heathen, but Ahab had been in touch with Jehovah, hence his was the greater guilt when he profited by her acts.

II. The Sentence of God, vv. 17-20. The dead Naboth was happier than his neighbors of Jezreel, the king and queen or any of the other evil participants. Ahab began by breaking the first commandment (I Kings 16:31; Deut. 5:7) and thus laid the groundwork of the whole train of evil for which he and his household and his reign are famous. The elders readily obeyed the word of Jezebel and Ahab profited thereby, but now he was to hear the Word of God and it was not to be so welcome. Recently we saw Elijah set aside, following his flight from Jezebel, but he is not entirely beyond use and God now gave him a new commission, one more task in connection with his old opponent. There is nothing indicating cowardice in Elijah's bold challenge of Ahab and there is also a suggestion of a guilty conscience in Ahab's exclamation, "Hast thou found me, O mine enemy" (v. 20)? Ahab had "gone down to the vineyard of Naboth" (v. 16) to enjoy the pleasure of possessing his ill-gotten treasure only to hear again his word of doom (ch. 20:42; 21:19). It was a poor exchange Ahab made (Mark 8:37), a throne and his life in exchange for the carrying-out of his own will and the possession of a vineyard. In that exact spot where Naboth had been fowly stoned the dogs would lick up the blood of the king. As is usually the case, the guilty sinner called the righteous servant of God his "enemy," yet had Ahab obeyed the Word of Jehovah as so frequently spoken by Elijah he would have discovered him to be his true and best friend, not his enemy. Ahab's sin had found him out (Golden Text, Num. 32:23). Having had his sin discovered, Ahab hears from Elijah his doom, though God graciously extended the time in response to his bitter repentance (vv. 27-29).

III. The Summary. Covetousness is not the mere desire for things we do not possess, but a deep longing which is willing to do wrong, to injure others, to profit by the evil deeds of others in order to come into possession. Covetousness seeks to gain at the expense of higher and better things; it is the extreme opposite of the spirit of him who "gave all."

The greatest danger of our land and the chief source of sin is covetousness. It explains oppression, slums, abominable tenements, graft, liquor business, lust, robbery—these and many other evils which flow from the polluted fountain head of covetous hearts. There is great danger in our desire to have more and better things lest it lead to covetousness.

Handsome Coat for General Wear

American textiles have been making rapid advances in fineness and distinction of weave. This holds good especially of cotton, but is true of wool and silk as well. This remarkable advance in the art of weaving is brought forcibly to mind by the new "fabric fur" manufactured for the coming season. Last year we called them "fur-cloths," which is a truly descriptive name for them. But manufacturers, having made some of them so like the fur of animals in appearance, have newly named them, and fabric furs they are.

Not all of the cloths of this kind are woven to imitate furs. Some of them are supple with silky surfaces and are used for costumes. Many others are of a heavy fur-like texture and are used for topcoats and as trimmings on other cloths. With the advance of the season they are likely to appear often in muffs and neckpieces. Already at the milliners be-witching three-piece sets, including turban, muff and neckpiece, are shown made up in these fabrics, and often they are trimmed with bands of real fur. These new textiles are rich in appearance and very durable. They combine the warmth of fur with better lasting qualities, and some of the topcoats made of fabric furs deserve to be called magnificent.

One of the plain coats for general wear is shown here. It is made of a familiar weave in fabric fur imitating Persian lamb. The coat flares from the neck down at the back, but fits smoothly above the bust time with a gradual flare below. It is somewhat double-breasted, fastening in a slanting line at the front with handsome dark mother-of-pearl buttons. The sleeves are roomy, set in a long arm's eye. Their fullness is confined in an ample cuff.

The high, straight collarband supports a wide turnover at the sides and back and fastens with two buttons like those at the front, but smaller. Large and practical patch pockets at each side are also finished with buttons.

This coat is in very dark brown much like seal brown but having a slight purplish cast. Insets of gray velvet at the collar, cuffs and pockets harmonize with it and add a smart finish. The ingenious cut of the pockets and cuffs bears witness to the art of the designer, for it is in such novel little touches that distinction lies.

Little Girls' Hats, Made by Home Milliner

There are some styles in millinery, especially in that designed for small people, that are always good. The "tam" reappears season in and out, only varied by differences as to size and fabric or color and trim. It is always sure of a welcome by mothers and misses. From four years up to the age where the young lady forgets to have a birthday—all the maid asks of it is to keep in line with fashion's vagaries.

A pretty tam for the missa from four to sixteen is shown here. It is made of dark velvet (in this particular instance midnight blue), with two-color cord trimming and a white pendant cord and tassel of silk. The cord trimming is of white and the color of the tam.

The hat at the left is a familiar shape with crown slightly higher than in the last two seasons, and soft at the top, as becomes a shape that proclaims that it is up to date. It is covered with velvet and the top with a band of ribbon, shirred on about the lower part of the side crown. A narrow ruffle is left unshirred at each edge and that at the lower edge rests on the brim. Here it covers the band of white fur that makes a soft stuff about the face of the little miss.

Some people make an effort to be happy and trust to luck to be good.

It is stated that ships that would normally be carrying bone are now transporting foodstuffs. Bone supplies that were at one time available in the potteries for $22 to $24.30 a ton (2,240 pounds) are now realizing from $63 to $68, and even more. Some factories which buy their materials from hand to mouth may have to shut down unless the stringency is relieved.

Flux making possible the effective soldering of aluminum and its alloys has been invented in Germany.

British Potteries Short of Bone.

A serious difficulty in connection with the manufacture of china, writes Consul Robert S. S. Bergh from Stoke-on-Trent, that threatens to become very acute unless some speedy relief arrives, is the growing shortage of bone, a very important constituent of English china. This material is imported extensively from Argentina, but, owing to the shortage of vessels available for charter and the consequent difficulties in transport, very little bone is finding its way across.

JULIA BOTTOMLEY.

A Party Bag. Have you ever gone to a party and faced the problem of where to put your handkerchief? Party dresses as a rule are not provided with pockets. A girl is a dangerous hiding place for a handkerchief—If one desires to keep the handkerchief. A pretty finish to such a costume, as well as a serviceable finishing feature, is one of those dainty little bags just large enough to hold a glove handkerchief and a vanity box. They are done in silk and figured satin and shirred on a ribbon which hangs on the wrist.

The underside of the brim is covered with a shirring of white satin ribbon. This hat is one of those that the home milliner may undertake to make with every chance of success. She is first to secure a light buckramette frame and unless the frame is made with a soft top crown of net, its buckram top crown is to be cut out. It should be remembered in fitting a frame that it should be a little larger for the head to allow for the facing and lining.

RAILROADS AND RUM.

A certain railroad, says Colliers', announces with pardonable pride that it carried last year on its 26,000 miles of track 188,111,876 passengers, and not one of these passengers was killed in a train accident. "That," says the Canton (O.) Daily News, "is one of the biggest zeroes, one of the mightiest noughts, that the year has to boast of." Another newspaper, the Butler (Pa.) Citizen, writes: "There is no doubt whatever that this condition was rendered possible only by the company insisting on strict sobriety on the part of its employees. With drunken engineers, drunken dispatchers, and drunken conductors, accidents and deaths would have been common. Drinking on the part of employees used to cost their employers a lot of money one way or another. But nowadays it only costs the railroad man his job."

DRUNKENNESS AND DIVORCE.

A home a day, it is stated, was wrecked by divorce last year in Chicago. A Chicago newspaper, investigating as to what extent alcohol is responsible, gives a summary of its findings. Habitual drunkenness, it says, is the charge in 152 of these divorce cases. To this charge others were added in 124 cases. In 99 of these (in which the charge was drunkenness and cruelty), women were the complainants. These two charges appear together more frequently than any other one combination of charges on which divorces were granted. The cases tabulated were tried before judges of the superior court. Others which came before the circuit court were not tabulated.

DECREASE IN WHISKY.

The following figures are from the Wall Street Journal: Production of whisky in Kentucky in January was 1,580,000 gallons, against 5,162,452 gallons in January, 1914; production in Pennsylvania was 1,073,808 gallons in January, against 1,522,445 a year ago, and in Maryland 606,919 gallons, against 918,582. Whisky bottled in bond in January was 691,508 gallons, as compared with 928,187 in January, 1914. The Kentucky decrease for one month was 66.23 per cent, the Pennsylvania decrease practically 33 per cent and the Maryland dealers over 40 per cent.

ENLIGHTENED PRACTICE.

The remarkable change in the attitude of the medical profession toward the use of alcohol in the treatment of disease is shown by the records of the Cincinnati hospital, an institution among the greatest of its class in the world and located in one of the whisky centers of the United States. For the year 1914 only seven patients of intoxicants were used for the entire twelve months, while during six months of 1898, although the capacity of the hospital was considerably less, the records show the use of more than seventeen hundred pints of whisky, beer, wine and gin.

A PROGRESSIVE DISEASE.

Families that serve wine at meals are doing the greatest injustice to their children, for instead of allowing them to drink anything but nonintoxicating drinks they are starting that progressive disease that may end in their ultimate death or disgrace. To see a beautiful young girl drink a cocktail or even a glass of sherry offends health aristocrats, for they know that poison is contained in every drop. The misfortune of all poison taking lies not only in the always advancing appetite but in the always receding will.—Lillian Russell.

LIQUOR AS HOME WRECKER.

The searchlight is being thrown up on the alcoholic question from every angle of vision. Chicago Herald has investigated from the matrimonial angle. To what extent is alcohol responsible for the wrecking of houses by divorce? Answering this question for Chicago—which city, it is said, had a divorce a day last year—the Herald gave a tabulated report. Its findings show among other things that the two charges of habitual drunkenness and cruelty are more frequent in divorce cases than any other one combination of charges.

VODKA AND WAR.

"The greatest single sentence ever uttered for prohibition," Charles Johnson asserts in the American Review of Reviews, came from the lips of M. Kharitonoff, controller of the Russian treasury, speaking before the budget committee of the Russian parliament. It ran thus: "With the war and without vodka Russia is more prosperous than with vodka and without the war."

ALCOHOLIC HARD TO HANDLE.

The alcoholic always does badly under surgery. In the first place it takes a great deal more anesthetic to get him ready for the operation, and that adds to his risk. In the second place, he is much more likely to have diseased kidneys and liver, and that adds yet more to his risk, and thirdly, the risk of insanity and of pneumonia after an operation is greater. The abstinent man and woman stand operations best.—Dr. Howard A. Kelly, Johns Hopkins University, noted surgeon.

ENCOURAGES DEGENERACY.

Beer brings about a more rapid degeneracy than whisky. The beer drinker has an abundance of flesh, but it is of an inferior quality. He dies at an age when under normal conditions he should be at his best. The beer drinker is recognized as a poor life insurance risk and a poor surgical subject. Instead of being the least harmful of all intoxicants.—Dr. D. H. Kress, New England Sanitarium, Melrose, Mass.

MERELY A SMALL MATTER

Mr. and Mrs. Hy Geer Really Had No Need to Worry—Their Precious Car Was Safe.

About two o'clock last night Mr. and Mrs. Hy Geer were awakened by a mysterious noise.

"Listen!" said Hy, and they sat up in the dark.

"Somebody's breaking into the garage," Mrs. Geer whispered.

"I'll go and see," answered Hy.

In dressing gown and slippers he stole out of the house and across the lawn.

The garage doors were locked. There was no sign of anything wrong. He returned to the house and reported.

"I wonder what it could have been," said Mrs. Geer. "I'm sure I heard something."

"So did I," said Hy; "but the car's all right."

They were almost asleep, when suddenly Mrs. Geer roused with a start.

"Perhaps it isn't the car at all," said she. "Perhaps it's a baby."

"By George, I never thought of him!" replied Mr. Geer.

They found that their six-month-old son had fallen out of his crib.

Sure of Congregation.

A Scottish prison chaplain, recently appointed entered one of the cells on his first round of inspection and thus addressed the prisoner who occupied it.

"Well, my man, do you know who I am?"

"No, nor I dinna care!" was the nonchalant reply.

"Well, I'm your new chaplain."

"Oh, ye are? Then I ha'e heard o' ye before!"

"And what did you hear?" returned the chaplain, his curiosity getting the better of his dignity.

"Well, I heard that the last twa kirks ye were in ye preached them baith empty, but I can say ye willna find it quite sa'easy to do the same w' this one."

Irresistible.

John D. Rockefeller tells this story on himself:

"Golling one bright winter day, I had for caddy a boy who didn't know me. An unfortunate stroke landed me in a clump of high grass.

"'My, my!' I said. 'What am I to do now?'"

"See that there tree, 'said the boy, pointing to a tall tree a mile away. 'Well, drive straight for that."

"I lofted vigorously, and, fortunately, my ball soared up into the air, it landed, and it rolled right on to the putting green.

"'How's that, my boy?' I cried.

"'Gee, boss,' he said, 'if I had your strength and you had my brains, what a pair we'd make!'"—Tit-Bits.

Mobilized.

"Are you not afraid that moths will get in the house, now that your women-folk are away?"

"Oh, I suppose they will, but I'll give 'em a warm reception. I've got four quarts of moth balls piled on the dining room table, and if a moth shows above the trenches I'll start a bombardment and keep it up all the evening, but I'll force the moth to surrender."

Would Be Worth While.

Two Irishmen were walking into Dublin from one of the outlying villages and fell to discussing the war and the consequent increase in the cost of living.

"But have ye heard the latest news?" says Tim.

"No," says Pat. "Phwat is it?"

"There's a penny off the loaf."

"Bedad," said Pat. "I hope it's off the penny ones."

Careful Listener.

"I haven't heard a speech in many a day that impressed me the way yours did," said the studious-looking man.

"I presume that is intended for a compliment," replied the beaming orator.

"Yes, sir. I took down 50 words I didn't know the meaning of and you must have used at least 50 more."

Tap, Tap.

Son was showing the old folk from up country through the financial district.

"The street we just passed is Cedar and this is Pine," said the son guide.

"You see, everybody wants to knock wood before he reaches Wall street."

Reason Enough.

"There's a man who was given up by every doctor who looked at him."

"You don't say so? Why he looks as strong as an ox."

"That's just it. They don't think he will ever be sick."

What Bothered Him.

"How far ahead can you go with your family, Jones?" his inquisitive friend asked.

"Oh, I never worry about my family; what bothers me is how far back I can go with my tailor."

Its Aim.

"I wonder what is the chief end of the average woman's club?"

"I guess it's to hit the men."

"Always be the same as you are now," he whispered to her tenderly, "and it is all I ask, my dearest one."

"And if I am you will always love me?" she said quietly.

"Yes," he answered, "always."

She looked beyond him—into space. Only she knew that ere long she would be quite different, for she was growing stout!

Then she smiled into his face. "And the more you see of me the greater will be your love, will it not?" she asked.

"Yes," he answered, "I swear it!" And thus she was comforted.
