Given Important Committees.

Two of the important committees in Congress are War Claims and District of Columbia, and to these Mr. Focht was assigned, being named ranking Chairman of the first named. Referring to these assignments the Washington Star of December 14th says: "Representative Focht, of Lewisburg, Pa., is a newspaper publisher who has had previous experience in State Legislative bodies as Assemblyman and State Senator, and in Congress, having been here in the Sixtieth, Sixty-first and Sixty-second Congresses. He is well known in the city and is a member of the University Club. He will be remembered from his manner of working quietly in Congress, getting what he went after by methodical methods rather than by storm."

Card of Thanks.

Mrs. D. R. Ramsey and children desire to express their deep appreciation of the kindness and sympathy of their neighbors during the illness and death of the husband and father Mr. D. R. Ramsey.

Yesterday, in the life, of regret and sorrow, the hand of the Mighty Love that can bring sweet waters out of the bitterest desert—the love that can make the wrong thing right, that can turn weeping into laughter, that can give beauty for ashes, the garment of praise for the spirit of heaviness, joy of the morning for the woe of night.

Save for the beautiful memories that linger, sweet and tender like the perfume of roses, in the heart of the day that is gone I have nothing to do with yesterday.

And the other day I do not worry about is Tomorrow. Tomorrow with all its possible adversities, its burdens, its perils, its large promises and poor performance, its failures and mistakes, is as far beyond the reach of my mastery as its dead sister yesterday. Its sun will rise in roseate splendor, or beyond a mask of weeping clouds. But it will rise. Until then the same love and patience that held yesterday, and holds tomorrow, it shines with tender promise into the heart of to-day. I have no possession in that unborn day of grace. All else is in the infinite keeping of that Infinite Love that holds for me the treasure of yesterday, the love that is higher than the stars, wider than the sky, deeper than the seas.

There is left for, myself, then, but one day of the week—to-day. Any man can fight the battles of to-day. Any woman can carry the burdens of just one day.—Robert J. Burdette.

"Fear Men."

Bradstreet's is authority for the statement that only three per cent. of men who go into business for themselves are successful. Those whom fear rules are called "Fear men," because they are not really men at all, but men requiring a classification—an apology. There has hardly been a time in American history when men were called on more to overcome their fear than at the present time. Moral strength is needed in politics more than ever before, and moral strength is as far superior to physical strength as the spiritual is above the natural. It is told of Wellington that, before the battle of Waterloo, his knees shook so that he laughed and called attention to them, saying: "If they knew where I was going to carry them, they would shake much worse." That was moral courage overcoming physical fear, and this is the courage that men must have now if America is to go onward and upward.
