Bert S. Winegar, Los: His Way to T...

known merchant Clear Ridge, this life while on his Springs yesterday a load of produce route over which once or twice goes to Three Springs on the E. B. T. railroad to eastern markets. Yesterday morning he left home as usual. The condition of the roads was bad on account of the ice and slush, and from what we have been able to learn, he was walking behind the wagon, when near Frehn's Bridge in Huntingdon county, noticing the wagon beginning to skid, he ran forward to try to prevent its upsetting, when it toppled over on him. There is a stream at the side of the road, and whether he was thrown into the stream and drowned, or whether he was strangled under the loaded wagon we do not know. Dr. McClain, who was called, took the body to the home at Clear Ridge, but found few bruises.

The unfortunate man was in his 33rd year, and was a member of the firm of Jacob Winegardner and Son. February 7, 1907, he was married in Mercersburg to Miss Louie E. Kerlin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Kerlin, who survives, together with their two sons, Reynolds and Clarence.

The terrible accident has cast a gloom over the entire community, as Bert was a splendid young man and enjoyed the friendship and confidence of a wide circle of friends.

A New Year's Greeting. To the friends of the Sabbath Schools of Fulton County the officers of the S. S. Association desire to send greeting. Believing as they do that the S. S. work is of the most vital importance to the home, the church and the community, we would most earnestly commend the efforts of the teachers and officers engaged in the work, the faithfulness of the pupils, and the cooperation of parents. At the same time it is no doubt fitting that your pure minds should be stirred up by way of remembrance.

Attention is called to the fact that the Sabbath School attendance, despite the large percentage of adults, is not nearly up to the attendance of the public schools. Neither is the percentage of attendance as large as it might be. It is certain that if a diligent, a systematic study of the scriptures were more common, it would make for the mental, moral, and spiritual uplift of our people. This is a season of the year when people frequently take time to think, and often make good resolutions. How would it do to spend a short time each week of 1916 in the study of the things that make for our eternal comfort and happiness? We have not the ability through lack of means and sparseness of population, to institute any extensive evangelistic campaign; but, let it be remembered that the great body of our ministers, statesmen, and prominent educators come largely from rural surroundings and that the physical moral and spiritual standards of the city are largely formed by the constant influx of country brain and muscle. Therefore, it is urged on all the friends of the Sabbath Schools to increase their diligence. Let all be earnest in increasing the attendance at our schools. Pupils, teachers, and parents can do much in this line. Organization can do much. Let all the districts organize or reorganize and put their forces to work.

A serious lack noticed in all the schools visited is the small number of boys in their teens, and men in their vigorous manhood. The Manliest of Men was subject to his parents and well acquainted with the scriptures. It is manly to follow his example. It is to be hoped that the coming year will be one of increased interest along the lines of scripture study and local missionary work in the way of seeking new members, organizing Adult Bible Classes, and Home Department and Teachers Training study.

To those District and School officers, teachers, and pupils whom we may not be able personally to see, we send this greeting.

By authority of the Organization.

A. U. NACE, President. W. C. Patterson, Secretary.

Respectfully yours, JOSEPH KALBFUS, Secretary, Game Commission.

The very large number of citizens of Pennsylvania who annually pay good money for the privilege of enjoying a few days or at most a few weeks hunting game, shows the wide popular interest in this sport. If there were no fish, birds, or animals to kill, there would be no hunting; hence it follows, that if the sport is to continue, the supply of game must not be exhausted. Recognizing this fact, the State has organized a Commission whose duty it is to protect game, and to do everything in its power to propagate game, and make it more plentiful. Just at this season of the year, when the ground is covered much of the time with snow, and when birds, especially quail and wild turkeys, are not able to find sufficient food, it is important that artificial feed be placed where they can get it. The State is willing to pay for the feed if our sportsmen are willing to take the time to place it where the birds can get it. In a recent letter, Joseph Kalbfus, Secretary of the Game Commission says: "I am satisfied that far more good will come to the State and to the Sportsmen through the maintenance and care of our native birds than can be secured in any other way, and with that end in view, I ask your Organization to help the officer in your district to locate coveys of quail after the close of the season, bunches of wild turkeys or of grouse, so that they may be fed during the coming storms of Winter. Our officers are instructed to get in touch with your organization regarding this matter and I hope you will understand that we are trying to help you and that in turn you will do what you can to help us to help you. We will pay for feed, but the limited funds at our command will not justify the employment of agents to feed the birds. This feeding, if possible, must be done through organizations. Kindly let this office hear from you regarding this matter."

Rev. W. M. Chiles, church, Fort Littleton, will take place at his late residence Saturday morning at 10 o'clock, and interment will be made in the cemetery at Fort Littleton.

Mr. Fraker, a son of Samuel and Mary Snyder Fraker, was born on what is well known as the Sam Widney farm, near Burnt Cabins on the 7th day of September, 1846; hence, he was aged 69 years, 3 months, and 22 days.

He was married twice: the first time to Miss Sarah Cromer, daughter of the late George Cromer of Fort Littleton. To this union were born six children, five of whom are living, namely, Dr. Samuel Fraker, Cass Lake, Minn.; Annie, wife of Harry Taylor, Three Springs, Pa.; Daniel W., Register and Recorder, Cando, N. Dak.; Albert, Robertsdale, and David H., Fort Littleton.

His second marriage was to Mrs. Christina Keith, of Wells Valley, who survives.

Mr. Fraker was a veteran of the Civil War, he having served in Company L, 21st Pennsylvania Cavalry, enlisting on the 19th day of February, 1864, and being discharged at Lynchburg, Va., on the 9th day of July, 1865.

For more than forty years he was a devoted member of the M. E. church, and a loyal member of Fort Littleton Lodge, I. O. O. F.

The community has lost one of its best citizens.
