RESULTS TELL.

There Can Be No Doubt About the Results in McConnellsburg.

Results tell the tale. All doubt is removed. The testimony of a McConnellsburger.

Can be easily investigated.

What better proof can be had?

Mrs. D. Keyser, Main St., McConnellsburg, says: "My back ached constantly and the pains in my loins were so severe that it was almost impossible for me to bend over. I had but little strength and my housework became a burden. One box of Doan's Kidney Pills, procured at Trout's Drug Store, cured me."

DOAN'S MADE A CURE.

Over two years later, Mrs. Keyser said: "Doan's Kidney Pills completely cured me of kidney trouble. I am in good health now."

Price 50c. at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Keyser has twice publicly recommended. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

WELLS TANNERY.

The old saying that "Misery loves company" is being verified in Wells Valley. There are but few homes where grip has not found shelter, and the doctors have about all they can do to keep on their feet themselves.

Mrs. Harvey Bivens is in a critical condition from a complication of diseases.

J. C. Kirk, who had been ill for some time, is able to attend to business again.

Howard Warsing, who had been employed in Altoona a few weeks, will move his family to Kearney shortly and help run a store for Joseph E. Thropp.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Baumgardner received a copy of a cablegram sent to the Baptist Mission Board at Boston, Mass., under date of February 2nd, stating that all missionaries in the interior of China were safe, and that the present war in Europe is not affecting the work of missionaries in China. That was glad news to the Baumgardners as their daughter Maude with her husband is in that country.

W. M. Clippinger who has been employed near Pittsburgh, is visiting his family here.

Rev. D. E. C. Vishanoff, M. D., a native of Thessalonica in Europe, spoke in the Pine Grove church Sunday morning and afternoon, and the Presbyterian church at the Tannery, in the evening. Dr. Vishanoff, coming to America in 1904, spent eleven years—high school, 1 year; college, three years; theological seminary, 3 years; medical college, four years. During all this time this young Macedonian had been preparing himself to do missionary work in his native country, and would have returned last year had not the war broken out in Europe.

He is now visiting different Christian churches telling of his country, its needs, and the work American missionaries are doing in Macedonia. It was through the preaching of American missionaries that he was converted. On account of his conversion his father, a wealthy nobleman, not only disinherited him, but threatened to take his son's life. He escaped to America, where he has since been.

Judge S. B. Sadler, who presided at his first session of surety court in Carlisle last Thursday morning, laid down the rules of action that in all questions of non-support between parents, where children are involved and the two parties cannot come to a decision between themselves, that the Court will fix one-third of the man's income as what he must give to the support of his wife and children.

SEEMS A HOODOO ON POST

Incumbent at Beira Tells of the Series of Misfortunes Which Befell His Predecessors.

Strangely enough, writes Sybil Belcher in the Wide World, our predecessors at the Beira consulate had all experienced varying vicissitudes which, forging a curious chain of misfortune, made Beira hardly an enviable post were one inclined to superstition, as will be seen from the following:

The first man to be appointed was the captain of a man-of-war, his ship doing duty as the consulate. After three or four months' stay he contracted so bad an attack of malaria that he died shortly afterward.

The next consul who came, frightened of the surrounding swamps, purchased an old sailing ship, turned it into a hulk and fitted it up into a most comfortable residence. In some mysterious way, however, his floating home sank in the middle of the night, and he and his wife only escaping with their lives. The catastrophe so discouraged him that he left soon after.

Number three was unfortunate enough to lose his wife from the effects of fever, and she was buried there. Number four nearly lost his life by being shot at while breakfasting, the bullet passing within a few inches of his head and going through the adjoining door. The consul following him was our unfortunate predecessor, who was brutally murdered in his office, being stabbed in the neck. Such an unbroken history of disaster in connection with a consulate is rarely to be met with.

BRIGHT LAD

Teacher—Where are your sums?
Kid—Six big highwaymen held me up an' rubbed 'em off me slate.

QUEER TRAITS OF ANIMALS.

Many animals and insects have curious ways of doing things for which there is no apparent scientific reason. A fly on the window pane will crawl to the top, fly back to the bottom and crawl up again. This order is seldom reversed—why, no one knows. It is on record that a fly crawled up a window pane 32 times, returning each time to the same place, the Presbyterian states.

Hens scratch for food with the sun behind them, the reason being that the rays reflect on the minute particles. A blind hen will pick grain and not miss a kernel. Cats seldom lie with their feet to the fire. Usually they lie on the left side. Dogs lie with their forepaws to the fire.

A mouse will ignore a food supply sufficient for a meal and run great risks to nibble at a wholesale supply. It will hide at the source of food supply and not depart from it until actually disturbed. It isn't true that a mouse runs to its hole at the first alarm.

SOUNDS LIKE IT.

"Gracey married a man whose head is solid ivory."
"Nonsense!"
"You know what I mean. She married a stick."
"Married a stick with an ivory head, eh? By jinks, she must have married a walking stick!"

HE NEEDED THEM.

Bespattered Pedestrian (victim of passing motor car in muddy street)—I want to see some mudguards.
"For what make of cycle, sir?"
"They're not for a cycle; they're for me."—London Punch.

DEAR, SIR.

"Chollie is confined to the house."
"Dear, dear. Serious?"
"Yes, indeed. Some ruffian slapped him on the wrist and broke his watch crystal."

THE RESULT.

"He insulted me by offering me a drink."
"What did you do?"
"I swallowed the insult."

IN THE MIDDLE CLASS.

Wife—What is the social scale that the novels talk so much about?
Hubby—That is where they weigh money.—Illinois Siren.

FOUND SOLACE IN CAPTIVITY

Englishmen Interned by Napoleon Passed the Time in Characteristic Pleasures.

An important center of action in the present war, Verdun, was a familiar name to Englishmen 100 years ago. In it were interned the most important of those who were caught on the continent when the peace of Amiens came unexpectedly to an end in 1803. From then until Waterloo the French town had a British colony numbering about 900, who, with dinners and dances, steeplechasing and cock fighting, reproduced as well as they could the conditions of life at home. There were five exclusive English clubs, and even a pack of harriers.

They gambled for very high stakes. It was estimated that during his stay at Verdun Lord Blayney lost at cards something like $250,000 a year. That nobleman exhibited to the last the national insouciance. When peace permitted his return from exile he traveled leisurely to Boulogne, and then suddenly decided to go back to Verdun to purchase a property there, so as, he said, to be able to bathe and fish in the Meuse and have a pleasant retreat whenever he felt inclined to visit France.

FIRST AID

Cholly—What's your hurry, Jimmie?
Jimmie—Sis says de mere sight of you makes her sick, and I'm running fer de doc.

FAIR WARNING.

The lanky youth who occupied a seat in a passenger coach persisted in sticking his head and shoulders out of the window and rubbering at the scenery. The brakeman was passing through the coach and he touched the youth on the back.

"Better keep your head inside the window," advised the brakeman.
"I kin look out the winder if I want to," angrily returned the youth.

"I know you can," warned the brakeman. "But if you damage any of the ironwork on the bridges you'll pay for it."

WHY HE COULDN'T.

Daily Reporter (to student in jail)—Will you please give me your side of the story?
Victim—I should like to, but I'm not at liberty.—Michigan Gargoyle.

HIGH UP IN CHURCH WORK.

"That man over there is away up as a church worker."
"What! that insignificant little fellow?"
"Yes, that's Steeple Sam."

THE REASON.

Alice—Trust her? You surely don't think she could keep a secret?
Marie—Well, I've trusted her with other things and she kept them.

THE MILITARY REPORTS.

"I see the reports say the enemy is lying to the east of Cernay."
"It looks to me as if all sides were lying in all directions."

HIS SPECIALTY.

"They tell me the apothecary at the corner is quite a poet?"
"Why not? Isn't poetry well known as a drug in the market?"

VERY MUCH SO.

"Did you see where the British annexed one of the Solomon islands?"
"Well, I suppose they thought it was the wise thing to do."

PAW KNOWS EVERYTHING.

Willie—Paw, what is failure?
Paw—Failure is the result of waiting for other people to do things first, my son.

Naturally.

"Did you hear that Bill's business is all going up?"
"Poor fellow! By the way, what is his business?"
"He's an aviator."

Cautious.

Edwards—Will you dine with us this evening? We are going to have a pheasant.
Eaton (fond of his stomach)—And how many guests?

For eyes to last a lifetime

All the winter day you look forward to the evening, to serving supper, to seeing the family gathered in the sitting room—father reading, the young ones getting their lessons done, you yourself sewing—all surrounded by a soft flood of light from the beaming lamp on the center table.

That same lamp is important, for upon the light it casts depends the good eyesight of your family. To avoid any possibility of eye strain and the headaches and nervousness that follow, make certain that each room—sitting room, parlor, kitchen—is lighted by Rayo Lamps.

And to get the very best results, fill them with Rayolight Oil. Rayo Lamps are mechanically perfect—they never flicker nor smell, but they do throw a flood of soft, mellow light—a light that is ideal for reading, sewing or playing. And the Rayo is a beautiful lamp—special designs for special rooms—but every Rayo Lamp can be easily and quickly cleaned.

Of course, Atlantic Rayolight Oil does best in Rayo Lamps, but it will improve the light of any lamp. Really the best for heating, lighting and domestic uses. It burns without smell or smoke, and it burns economically.

As a result of our widely advertised request, thousands of careful housewives tell us that Atlantic Rayolight Oil is the very best thing they know for polishing windows and mirrors, brightening faded carpets, restoring linoleums, etc. Naturally, for this kind of work, it is important to get the very finest grade of kerosene—so be certain to ask your dealer for

RABBIT TRAPS TWO DOGS.

Several large cisterns were dug on the new fair grounds and boarded over. Workmen preparing to fix connections with the cisterns and the water pipes were surprised to find two dogs and a dead rabbit in one of them.

The dogs had evidently chased poor bunny into what he thought was a place of safety and had been trapped themselves when they sought to follow him. As there was no water in the cistern they landed at the bottom.

How long they were in the hole is not known, but the rabbit had kept them from starving and was partially consumed. When released they made tracks for home.—Janesville (Wis.) Dispatch to New York World.

Such a Rudeness.

Her—No matter how smart a man is, he is sure to meet some other man sooner or later who is smarter.
Him—Yes; and about ten thousand suffragettes who think they are.

Delicate Suggestion.

"Women certainly have a mania for cheap things."
"Maybe that is how your wife happened to take you."

The Difference.

"Queer, isn't it, about sowing wild oats?"
"What's queer?"
"That they raise a crop of lemons."

The Reason.

"I wonder why so many men marry their typewriters?"
"I suppose they think it their only chance of being the family dictator."

Prime Requisite.

"What is the first step towards vesels starting on their cruises?"
"I should think it was crews starting on their vessels."

WAS MA LISTENING?

"The history says, pa, that the Eng. had fled before Joan of Arc."
"Well, what of it?"
"Would you run if a woman was after you?"

His Feet.

"When that hotel keeper pursued his escaping defrauding guest to the steamer and had the fugitive arrested, he did a most unusual thing in his profession."
"How so?"
"He boarded a vessel and lodged a complaint."
