PURPOSES OF A GREAT MOVEMENT

Laymen's Missionary Campaign
 Has World Wide End.

- To consider new world conditions and America's enlarged responsibility.
- To study the missionary progress of recent years.
- To project plans looking toward the accomplishment of our whole missionary duty.
- To emphasize the adequacy of the Gospel to meet modern social conditions.
- To increase the spiritual power and efficiency of the local church.
- To secure the general use of the best methods of missionary education and finance.
- To inspire laymen to take their part in the extension of the kingdom of Christ.

These are the objects of the great interdenominational campaign being conducted under the auspices of the Laymen's Missionary Movement. The Harrisburg convention will be held at the Grace M. E. church, and will open with a great mass meeting on the afternoon of Sunday, March 12.

Many denominations in the United States and Canada have organized committees to promote the spirit and methods of the general movement in their own communions. Twenty secretaries are employed to give their whole time to supervision and extension work.

The Laymen's Missionary Movement has been hewing along the lines of the national missionary policy adopted at the Chicago congress in 1910. In 1913 the movement took in all the missionary forces, both home and foreign and promoted during the last two years under the name of the United Missionary campaign over 625 conferences and conventions in as many places in an effort to reach with the message and the method of the movement every center of over 5000 people in the United States and Canada.

The city of Harrisburg never does things half-way, when once it becomes aroused. And the way the local committee is putting into the preparations for the big Laymen's Missionary convention, to be held in Grace M. E. church of that city, on March 12 to 14 is assurance enough of its success. This is the third convention of the kind that Harrisburg has entertained in six years and this promises to be the best yet.

Mr. W. E. Doughty, the educational secretary of the movement, will head the team of fifteen speakers, booked for this meeting. This team includes such well-known names as George Innes, who is establishing a great Christian university in the heart of the Moslem world at Cairo, Egypt; Dr. C. H. Schneider, president of North Japan college; Dr. L. B. Wolf, for twenty-five years in India; Dr. F. A. Agar, of Africa, now efficiency secretary of the Baptist church; Rev. S. H. Littell, one of the best young men in the Chinese mission field, whom the Chinese Christians generously "loaned to America" for this campaign. Secretaries of denominational boards and experts in methods and finances will also speak. Denominational rallies will be held on Tuesday afternoon, when the different communions will make special preparation to make a program of real practical value, and when the social features of the convention will be prominent. It will be a fine chance for laymen to know and meet the leaders in their own denomination. Conservation work will then be discussed and definite programs adopted. A woman's rally will be held in Monday evening in an adjacent church, and a young people's rally on Tuesday evening. Only men are admitted to the convention proper, and that by credential card, issued upon the payment of the one dollar registration fee, which covers all expenses of the convention. No offerings are taken, nor money solicited. The Movement is not an organization to administer funds, but exists solely to stimulate the work of laymen in their own local churches.

The conventions thus far held in this nation-wide campaign have registered on an average 1200 delegates to a convention, or 50,000 in all. Thirteen cities show a gain of $344 over 1909. This is a distinct challenge to the church by men, who are today thinking in world-terms as never before and who are, therefore, peculiarly accessible to the missionary message. It is the church's one supreme opportunity to enlist its men in the world-program of Christianity and to meet the call of the world for some adequate spiritual leadership.

Some of the convention themes are as follows:
 "America, the Strategic Battle Ground," "In the Philippines," "The Sunrise Kingdom," "Turkey in War Times," "Building a Nation of Brothers," "Wielding the Spiritual Forces," "Christianizing American Life."

"The Adequacy of the Gospel to Meet Modern Social Conditions."
 "Do We Take Our Religion Seriously?"

I had awful pains in my back, caused by weak kidneys. I was also distressed by headaches and dizzy spells. Doan's Kidney Pills brought me fine relief. I don't hesitate to recommend them."

LOOKING FOR A JOB.

BY JAMES D. HOOP AND DAVID SIPES.

We left home on Monday, for city life to try, and Our first stop was Mount Union, and I'll tell you we were dry. We went into a hotel there, We asked the lady for rates, she Said, "if you want to stop here, It is $2.00 straight." We went next morning to the powder mill, Some powder for to dry. The wages that they paid there was pretty high, With a bonus that they held back, In case that you should die. Then we decided that life was also high, So we hied away to Altoona, The machine shops there to try.

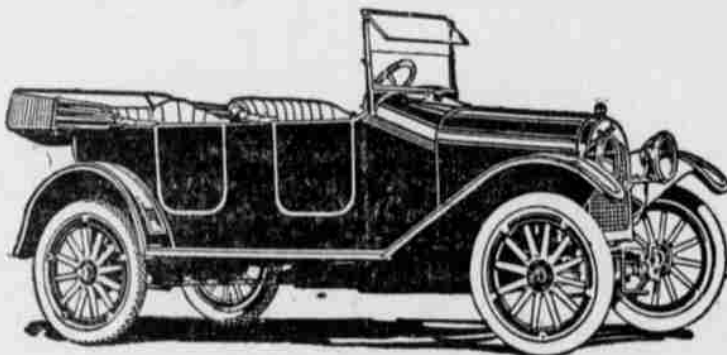

We stayed all night in Altoona, Its a beautiful city I think, but When we tried to get a job, Things seemed on the blink, so We started for old Johnstown, the Lorain shops to try, and After a hard examination, We succeeded, by and by.

Our first work was in the foundry, The magneti pots we filled, and After we had finished that, There was a new furnace there to build. Tossing bricks to the platform was, Fine exercise, fine training. To those, so inclined, but To that kind of training, We were blind.

We landed a job on the dry floor, which Was some better I think, Just pulling flasks from the ovens, Where it is cozy and warm. You can feel your face burning, and Your hair begins to singe and crack, You wonder, if the place down below, Can be any hotter, than the ovens of, The Lorain's old steel shack.

Clamping up flasks on the dry floor, Is a nice easy task you'll find. Those flasks are as hot as — so, You had better be careful sometimes. You are clamping up the flasks in a hurry, The heat will be out pretty soon, when The boss comes around and says, hurry up, We want to finish up by noon" just then, You miss the clamp, and A finger nail gets its doom, which Sets you to thinking, that We will be riding over the B & O. soon.

amendment, the majority given is highly significant as an indication of public sentiment. The vote stood 54 to 40 in the lower house.

The late George Fitch told us that Kentucky was noted for "its sunshine and its moonshine, its blue grass and its red noses," and the popular idea may be that the road to prohibition for that state is long and rocky. But Kentucky is nearly white on the prohibition map. Of its 119 counties, 108 are already dry and seventy five per cent of its population are living in no-license territory. As dry territory increases, moonshine and red noses decrease.

PLUM RUN.

March 16—Mr. and Mrs. Jas.

Bishop, spent last Sunday in the home of the former's parents Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Bishop.

Mrs. Howard Culler and interesting little son Melvin, of Cumberland, Md., are spending a few days with Mrs. Culler's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Evans. Mrs. Wade Suffacool, of Clear-spring, Md., was called home last week to attend the funeral of her sister Mrs. James John son.

Miss Hattie Miller, the charming daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Clarence Miller, and Harry Pittman, youngest son of Mrs. Ella Pittman, both of this township, were quietly married on Thursday of last week. The young couple have the best wishes of their many friends.

Mr. Hykes Culler was a very pleasant caller at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Mellott last Sunday evening.

Are you paying to sit in the dark?

PAYING to ruin your eyes, paying to smell burning wick and the odor of poor kerosene? Are you doing these things?

Unless your home is equipped with Rayo Lamps—you probably are. And what's more, you are paying the identical price that would buy you the flood of brilliant, eye-soothing, steady light that beams from a Rayo Lamp filled with slow-burning

ATLANTIC
 OIL

Rayo Lamps are beautiful—an ornament to any room. And they burn brightly, without flicker or smell. Your dealer can show you a special design for any room, ranging in price from $1.50 up. No matter what sort of light you've got, the addition of a few Rayo Lamps will make your home brighter and the folks happier.

But Rayo Lamps are at their best when burning Atlantic Rayolight Oil. It is the one kerosene that burns without smoke or smell—that is always the same. It gives the brightest light and the greatest heat for the least money.

The use of Atlantic Rayolight Oil doesn't stop with burning and heating; thousands of housewives have written us that it's the very finest thing to brighten faded carpets, keeps the moths away from closets, shelves and drawers, cuts grease better than anything else, and that for washing windows it's without equal.

Be certain to ask for Atlantic Rayolight Oil by name—it costs no more than the unknown, unreliable kerosene.

WE never know when to look for it. Well and happy today—sick, disabled or dead tomorrow. Wonder if that poor chap left anything.

Well—if my time ever comes, I'll know that the wife and babies are provided for. At least $5,000 if I'm killed, and from $25 to $50 a week if I'm disabled. My AETNA ACCUMULATIVE ACCIDENT POLICY will take care of us all. Pays for a surgical operation or hospital expense, too.

Man on a salary certainly ought to couple up with this AETNA proposition. Those chaps who put it off-until-tomorrow don't realize what a pitiful fix a penniless, fatherless family is in. Be wise—

WHY not give your lad the same training?

"When I was a growing lad, and came upon many words in my reading that I did not understand, my mother, instead of giving me the definition when I applied to her, uniformly sent me to the dictionary to learn it, and in this way I gradually learned many things besides the meaning of the individual word in question—among other things, how to use a dictionary, and the great pleasure and advantage there might be in the use of the dictionary. Afterwards, when I went to the village school, my chief diversion, after lessons were learned and before they were recited, was in turning over the pages of the 'Unabridged' of those days. Now the most modern Unabridged—THE NEW INTERNATIONAL—gives me a pleasure of the same sort. So far as my knowledge extends, it is at present the best of the one-volume dictionaries, and quite sufficient for all ordinary uses. Even those who possess the splendid dictionaries in several volumes will yet find it a great convenience to have this, which is so compact, so full, and so trustworthy as to leave, in most cases, little to be desired."—Albert S. Cook, Ph.D., LL.D., Professor of the English Language and Literature, Yale Univ., April 26, 1911.
