CONDENSED FOR HURRIED READERS

The Ladies' Aid Society of Asbury M. E. church spent last Saturday very pleasantly in the home of their pastor, Rev. E. J. Croft, at Dane.

Rev. E. J. Croft will preach at Mt. Zion at 10:30 o'clock, Sunday morning, May 7th; at Needmore at 2:30, and at Bedford Chapel, at 7:30.

After having spent ten days with his son Paul in New York City, Merchant J. K. Johnston returned home a few days ago, having been benefited physically by the trip.

An automobile party consisting of Dallas Brant, his mother, his aunt Mrs. Demaris Davis, and Miss Sarah Laidig—all of Taylor township spent last Friday in McConnellsburg shopping.

Merchant William Hull and his little daughter Kathryn, accompanied by the Misses Mary and Nettie Knauff, and Mrs. McIntyre, spent last Sunday afternoon in the home of William Ebersole, near Lemasters, Pa.

The annual County Sunday School Convention will be held in the Auditorium at McConnellsburg, beginning at 1:30 Thursday afternoon, May 18th, and closing at noon, Friday, May 19. Delegates should be elected next Sunday and their names sent at once to Mrs. C. E. Stevens, chair man of the Entertainment Committee, McConnellsburg, Pa.

Mr. B. R. Simpson, called at the News office a few minutes on his return from Chambersburg where he had spent Sunday with his wife, who, as was told in the NEWS went away to receive treatment for her eyes. She is under the care of a specialist, and is much encouraged, especially, as she is assured that she will not have to submit to the removal of either eye.

After having spent eleven days visiting her son Russell Nelson in Princeton, N. J., Mrs. John Nelson has returned home, having had a most delightful trip. She was accompanied by Miss Martha Kendall. Besides seeing the many points of interest in Princeton, Russell took them to New York City for a two-days outing; to Asbury Park, to the battlefield at Monmouth, and to many other places of interest.

The last report of the Pennsylvania State Christian Endeavor Union credits Fulton county with but five Christian Endeavor societies: Wells Tannery Presbyterian, Burnt Cabins Presbyterian, Pleasant Grove Christian, McConnellsburg Lutheran, and McConnellsburg Presbyterian. If there are Christian Endeavor Societies in this county, other than those named, will the presidents of such societies kindly communicate the fact to Miss Mary J. Sloan, McConnellsburg, giving name of society and officers.

Mrs. J. L. Kesselring.

Rebecca Jane, wife of J. Linn Kesselring, died at their home near Gracey, Monday, May 1, 1916, aged 64 years. The funeral took place yesterday, conducted by her pastor, Rev. Benson, of the U. B. Church, and interment was made at Center.

Mrs. Kesselring was a daughter of the late Stephen Witter, and, besides her husband, is survived by one brother, A. J. Witter, of Waterfall.

WEST DUBLIN.

Edwin Brant, who has been employed at Reed's mine, near Dudley, since the beginning of March, is home this week on account of slack work at the mine.

Margaret Kirk, who is a student at Juniata College, accompanied by her room mate, Miss Neff, spent Saturday and Sunday at her home in this township.

Clarence Dodson and wife, of Sherman's Valley, Bedford county, passed this way on Monday from a visit to relatives in Belfast township. Clarence was an employe of the Reichly Bros. & Co. for five years. He now intends to go to North Dakota, where he expects to be employed at farm work.

Ruth Lyon recently visited relatives and friends in Pittsburgh and vicinity.

The past few days have been very much like spring. The winds bring the odor of burning leaves and suggest the danger from forest fires.

Snyder Leighty, Charles Swope and Morton Brown, of Roberts-dale, were fishing along Wooden Bridge creek Tuesday.

Rev. Reidell preached a good sermon at Fairview Sunday afternoon. Next preaching service in two weeks in the morning.

WELLS TANNERY.

If our people had hold of the miscreant who scattered poison in many yards in our town last Sunday night he'd be made to wish he'd never been born, or died when very young. As a result of the maliciousness, three valuable watch dogs are dead. A number of pieces of poisoned bread were picked up Monday morning.

Dr. R. B. Campbell took Mrs. G. L. Richey to Roaring Spring hospital last Sunday. Her many friends hope for a speedy recovery.

Mrs. Charles Stunkard and children visited Mrs. Stunkard's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Reeder at Hustontown last Saturday.

Ernest Sprowl went to Pittsburgh to spend a week.

Mrs. Rebecca Wishart who had spent the winter with her daughter Mrs. J. R. Hunter at Lewis-town, has returned to spend the summer with her son Harlan.

Mrs. Paul Baumgardner, of Saxton, is spending this week in the home of Paul's parents, Mr. W. H. Baumgardner.

We are glad to report Mary Guillard out of danger. She was a very sick girl. The constant watching of her brother, Dr. Frank, and Dr. Campbell, brought her through all right.

J. W. Gibson is suffering from a sore knee, which was punctured by a horse-shoe nail.

Bark peelers are slashing the timber in the mountains now.

Glenn Downes, who had been suffering much from a sore hand, is out again.

H. L. Baumgardner was in Everett on business last Saturday.

J. W. Foreman, of Laidig, made a business trip to the Valley last week.

James Truax is building a nice house on a lot he recently purchased from Baumgardners.

D. J. MILLER, Owner and Keeper.

The Musical Minstrels.

To help their home Band out financially, a score or more of Hancock music-loving people got up a minstrel show and pulled it off at home on Tuesday night and Wednesday night of last week, with splendid success. The Club then thought it would be jolly to run out and give the entertainment in some neighboring town, and McConnellsburg was selected as the place and last Saturday evening the time. Saturday evening came, and so did the minstrels. When the curtain in the Auditorium rose—or fell, or flopped—for that curtain is an uncertain quantity, and liable to do almost anything—the minstrels saw a full house, and the full house saw on the stage a mighty nice looking bunch of girls and a common looking set of men. But they were a clever set of performers, and for two hours, they kept their audience in a good humor. The orchestra under the leadership of M. F. Richey was fine, and the soloists were real artists. The choruses were much enjoyed and the jokes by the charcoal contingent were generally funny.

The Company consisting of twenty-eight persons, accompanied by fifteen or eighteen of their friends from Hancock, made the trip to our town in automobiles. In driving his car, Musical Director Richey broke an electric light bulb on the cowl of his car, and the glass cut him slightly as he supposed, on one of his legs. After he reached McConnellsburg he discovered that his clothing below the cut was saturated with blood, and upon examination, found that an artery had been severed, and that at every pulsation, blood was spurting. Had not Dr. Sappington who was with the party, and whose attention was called to the wound, taken up the open artery just when he did, Mr. Richey would have bled to death. Notwithstanding his weakened condition, he stayed on the job during the entertainment, and won the hearty thanks of all concerned.

Mrs. Roy C. Dawson became ill at the City Hotel and was not able to leave town until Monday.
