WASHINGTON'S PEST KILLER

J. Enkin Gadsby of Washington has "made his pile" in real estate. He is over seventy and still has active management of his office. But M. Gadsby's avocation is more interesting than his business activities. He spends most of his time ridding the capital of unwelcome cats and pigeons, a service he performs free of charge from pure joy of marksmanship, with a 22-caliber, single-shot rifle, which he presented to his wife 20 years ago and with which he never misses a shot. He has a perpetual permit to shoot anywhere he pleases in the District of Columbia, and the police call on him when anybody in the District asks for relief from stray dogs, cats, or pigeons.

CARRIES SALARY OF $4,000

J. G. Saunders Selected By Commission for Zoologist—Governor Holds Aloof.

Harrisburg.—Governor Brumbaugh has declined to be drawn into the controversy between State Zoologist H. A. Surface and the State Commissioners of Agriculture and he will not interfere with the commission's decision to terminate the connection of the zoologist with the Department on August 15.

Secretary Patton informed the Governor of the selection of Prof. J. G. Saunders, State entomologist of Wisconsin, for the place, and the Governor gave his consent, thereby ending the Surface incident, which has kept the Capitol stirred up for over a month. Numerous influential men tried to save him, but the Governor has definitely refused to change matters.

The post of zoologist carries a salary of $4,000, and it is believed that Prof. Saunders, who was here last week, will accept the offer. He is stated by Secretary Patton to be an authority on San Jose scale and other tree pests.

Governor Brumbaugh consulted with a number of State officials regarding departmental affairs, coming appointments and other details, spending considerable time over National Guard affairs with Adjutant General Stewart. The Governor will be called upon to name officers for the two artillery regiments and to approve various matters which have been done.

The Governor also asked if commissioners are required and if so what should be their compensation. In regard to the registration laws the Governor wrote:

I beg to suggest that our registration and other laws relating to the elections passed since this Act (that of 1864) should be examined into to determine precisely all the necessary steps to be taken in order that there may be no question about the official counting of these votes.
