One day last week, Mrs. E. R. McClain sprained one of her ankles painfully when she made a misstep at back door. For about a week she was unable to walk without the aid of crutches or two canes.

Mr. C. E. Goldsmith, of the Hill Store, returned home Monday after having spent several days in York on business. Watch for his new advertisement telling of more bargains.

The extensive concrete work extending from Trout's drug store to and including the Albert Stoner property on West Lincoln Way, has been completed and is a good advertisement for Ralph Reed and his efficient force of concrete workers.

Our notion of taking things cool was illustrated last Monday when H. E. Paisgrove, aged 83 years, walked into the NEWS office at noon and paid us a dollar on his paper, and at the same time remarking that he had been splitting wood nearly all morning. He seemed to feel that he needed the exercise.

Our old friend Jacob Kauffman of Johnstown, dropped in to see us last Monday. He was polite enough to pay an entrance fee of one dollar. He has been making headquarters this summer in the home of his brother-in-law George Morton, in Belfast township. To all Mr. Kauffman's friends we are glad to say that he looks well and happy.

HAVE YOU WEAK LUNGS?

Do colds settle on your chest or in your bronchial tubes? Do coughs hang on, or are you subject to throat troubles? Such troubles should have immediate treatment with the strengthening powers of Scott's Emulsion to guard against consumption which so easily follows. Scott's Emulsion contains pure cod liver oil which peculiarly strengthens the respiratory tract and improves the quality of the blood; the glycerine in it soothes and seals the tender membranes of the throat. Scott's is prescribed by the best specialists. You can get it at any drug store. Scott & Bowne, Bloomfield, N. J.

Fulton County Fifth.

We have before us a list of the saloons of the State, together with the number of inhabitants, by counties, for each saloon. Fulton county stands fifth in rank for having fewest public drinking places according to population. Lawrence county stands at the head, with 5,002 people for each saloon. Fulton county has 3,234 inhabitants for each of her three drinking places. This of course, means that there are sixty-two counties where there is a less number of people to each saloon. Schuylkill county has a saloon for every 192 inhabitants, the lowest in the State. Think of 192 men women and children supporting a saloon!

The Governor Coming.

Last week we announced that Governor Martin G. Brumbaugh and party would pass through Fulton county on September 26th on a tour of inspection of agricultural matters in the State, stopping in McConnellsburg to make an address to the farmers. Chairman Frank Ranck asked the farmers of Big Cove to volunteer to pilot the party down through the Cove as far as Webster Mills in order to show them the rich farming lands of that district. Since publishing the last issue, farmers of this neighborhood have expressed their approval of the side trip for the Governor, and there will, doubtless, be ample provision for the trip. It is unfortunate that the strangers passing over the Lincoln Highway do not get to see Fulton County as it really is. The great slate hills over which the Highway passes are not calculated to impress visitors with the importance of our farming possibilities. But a side trip, especially the one suggested, would dispel all doubts in the minds of Secretary Patton as to the necessity of seeing that this county receives full share of attention from both the Agricultural Department and the Highway Department. On strength of promises from the Cove, Mr. Ranck has been assured by the NEWS that a competent escort will be ready to pilot the visitors if they will consent to make the trip.

Tractor Farming.

The NEWS strongly advises its readers to keep their eyes open to the progress being made toward tractor farming in Pennsylvania. Only a few years ago, the flying machine and the automobile were thought to be freaks that would have their day and then pass out of mind. Instead, they are playing the most important parts in the greatest world war ever known. The automobile has actually revolutionized farming within the past three years. One farmer in every sixteen in Fulton county has an auto, and practically every farmer rides in one, occasionally at least.

Just as surely as the auto has come to stay, as surely will the small tractor become a necessity and a fixture on the farms of the County. Farm matters are rushing forward so rapidly that the invention of the little tractor to do the work of several horses was a necessity. Before long we will see Fulton county farms fenced in such manner that the more level portions will be thrown together for tractor work. Many fields will be irregular in shape, or some farms may have no inside fencing—all depending on what use is to be made of the farm. But there will be few where some tractor work will not be done. Never in the history of farming was it as necessary to take farm papers and in other ways keep up with the times.

Employer Must Pay.

Those who occasionally hire others to work for them will be interested in how the courts decided cases where the workmen were injured. Following is a rendering of the Workmen's Compensation Board where the employer carried no insurance on her workmen.

Mrs. Ida Groner, of Bangor, Pa., hired Sheridan Marsh of the same place, to do some plastering for her on a new house she was building. Marsh fell from a ladder and suffered an injury to his hand. Mrs. Groner having no insurance on her workmen, became defendant in an action to secure compensation.

In addition to paying Marsh $8.80 per week until a total of $1540 is paid, the defendant is directed to pay $10 for hospital service, $25 for surgical operations, $2 to Dr. N. W. Reichard of Bangor, for attending him and seventy-five cents for medicine. She is also directed to pay all the witness fees, which amounted to about $50.

The board decided that Mrs. Groner was the employer and that she was engaged in the business of building a house. The employer had plenty of opportunity to avail herself of the provisions of the law, which went into effect on January 1, by taking out insurance for the men employed. It was held that Mrs. Groner was the actual employer of Marsh and that her husband was her agent.

For Winter Entertainment.

Have you selected your winter's reading? If not, it is time to not only think about it, but it is time to get busy. What kind shall I buy? Let us see. Not long ago, a man who had the curiosity to investigate, called at several hundred houses in a county to see what the people read. At the more prosperous homes he found from one to half a dozen good farm papers, books of solid reading matter, some good fiction, and all calculated to enliven and broaden the reader's views on living questions of the rejoices with the farmer in the bountiful harvest just gathered. It not only speaks well for the farmer, but bespeaks continued prosperity not only for the FULTON COUNTY BANK but for every individual.
