AVOID MISTAKES.

No Need to Experiment With McConnellsburg Evidence at Hand.

There are many well advertised kidney remedies on the market to-day, but none so well recommended—none so McConnellsburg recommended as Doan's Kidney Pills.

Read this McConnellsburg case L. A. Youse, retired butcher, E. Water St., McConnellsburg, says: "About three years ago my back ached badly and it hurt me to stoop or lift. Doan's Kidney Pills, procured at Trout's Drug Store, soon gave me relief. I gladly endorse them."

Price 50c. at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Youse had Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

Raise Deer.

We have read so much about the low cost of raising deer on brushy mountain sides that we concluded to pass the thought along to our readers. The NEWS is willing at all times to discuss possibilities for the better use of the thousands of acres of land in the County that are now practically valueless. She will meet the conditions down in the valleys where some protection may be given; and on still rougher grounds, Angora goats seem to pay their way. But the fact has been pretty well established that when compared with sheep and goats, as many deer to the acre may be kept, and when a sale is made, a deer sells for many times the price of a sheep or goat. There is a story of a man in the Adirondack mountains in New York who owns 100 acres of land too rough to cultivate, and the growth too scant to support many cattle or sheep; but he keeps 150 common deer on the land, and he thinks he can keep 500. He is said to sell an average of two deer a week. The meat sells for 27 cents a pound, and the hide and horns bring additional revenue; but the big money in raising deer, pheasants, and other game is in selling to the State for re-stocking game preserves. $100 is a fair price for a fine deer for this purpose. Raising deer on a commercial scale, or as a side line on our farms, is just like any other vocation; some brains must be mixed with the effort, and the idea that there is something to be had for nothing must be forgotten.

Mr. and Mrs. Logue Wink and Mr. Harvey Snyder, of Needmore, motored to McConnellsburg Tuesday and heard the Governor speak.

Number Four. A JOINT RESOLUTION

Proposing an amendment to section eight, article nine of the Constitution of Pennsylvania.

Section 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same, That the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, in accordance with the provisions of the eighteenth article thereof:—

Amendment to Article Nine, Section Eight.

That section eight of article nine of the Constitution be amended by striking out the said section and inserting in place thereof the following:—

Section 8. The debt of any county, city, borough, township, school district, or other municipality or incorporated district, except as provided herein, and in section fifteen of this article, shall never exceed seven (7) per centum upon the assessed value of the taxable property therein, nor shall any such municipality or district incur any new debt, or increase its indebtedness to an amount exceeding two (2) per centum upon such assessed valuation of property, without the consent of the electors thereof at a public election in such manner as shall be provided by law. In ascertaining the borrowing capacity of the said city of Philadelphia, at any time, there shall be excluded from the calculation and deducted from such debt so much of the debt of said city as shall have been incurred, and the proceeds thereof invested, in any public improvements of any character which shall be yielding to the said city an annual current net revenue. The amount of such deduction shall be ascertained by capitalizing the annual net revenue from such improvement during the year immediately preceding the time of such ascertainment; and such capitalization shall be estimated by ascertaining the principal amount which would yield such annual, current net revenue, at the average rate of interest, and sinking-fund charges payable upon such indebtedness incurred by said city for such purposes, up to the time of such ascertainment. The method of determining such amount, so to be deducted, may be prescribed by the General Assembly. In incurring indebtedness for any purpose the city of Philadelphia may issue its obligations maturing not later than fifty (50) years from the date thereof, sufficient to retire said obligations at maturity, the payment to such sinking-fund to be in equal or graduated annual or other periodical installments. Where any indebtedness shall be or shall have been incurred by said city of Philadelphia for the purpose of the construction or improvement of public works of any character from which income or revenue is to be derived by such city, or for the reclamation of land to be used in the construction of wharves or docks owned or to be owned by said city, such obligations may be in an amount sufficient to provide for, and may include the amount of, the interest and sinking-fund charges accruing thereon, and which may accrue thereon throughout the period of construction, and until the expiration of one year after the completion of the work for which said indebtedness shall have been incurred; and said city shall not be required to levy a tax to pay said interest and sinking-fund charges as required by section ten, article nine of the Constitution of Pennsylvania, until the expiration of said period of one year after the completion of such work.
