Help the Women First.

The more we see of practical life in the home, the more thoroughly are we convinced that conveniences in the house should take preference over those at the barn or in the machinery department. The barn, the machinery, and all that is raised on the farm are supposed to lend themselves solely to the refinement and betterment of the home. All our labor is for the maintenance of a home in which to spend our days on earth. It is for the sake of a home that every man strives for a place in the business world and a share of the good things of life. Why, then, do we so often see the natural order reversed and the house left to get along in some way with the old fashioned tools of labor that have sent so many country women to our asylums, while the farm work is being done in easy ways? We insist that running water, power washing, and a woodpile under cover at the door are positive necessities if the women are to manage their part of home-making on an economical scale.

ENTERTAINMENT DAY AT THE LYCEUM FESTIVAL

Rosani, Wonder Worker and Prince of Jugglers.

Rosani, Wonder Worker and Novelty Entertainer. For pleasing, refined and astonishing novelties he cannot be equaled. Dexterity, combined with natural skill and pleasing manner, goes far toward making his entertainment the most artistic, instructive as well as amusing, as it appeals to all, both old and young. As this act needs a little explanation, we wish to say he is no juggler, but a manipulator and balancer of various objects, among them being whips, plates, balls, pipes, sticks, bowls, bottles, glasses, hats, swords, tops and many other peculiarly shaped articles of different weights and sizes. Rosani lives in topsy turvy land. His rapid fire manipulations and balancing stunts afford no end of unique entertainment. For the time being all ideas of the natural laws of the universe are forgotten.

The NEWS makes no apology for again asking "What will you read this winter?" Despite all arguments to the contrary young people grow up to think in the channels along which they are led by what they read. Parents who honestly review their own lives can recall instances when what they read left an influence that has followed them for good or for evil down to the present moment. Will these parents criminally neglect to see to it that their growing boys and girls have wholesome reading matter placed at their disposal? Boys and girls will read something—whatever can be procured. One earnest parent in a neighborhood can start a movement to organize a reading club that will result in as much good this winter as will probably be accomplished by a Sunday school—and that is saying a good bit. Let each member buy one book or subscribe by one magazine. Then, if there are six members there will be six good books to be read this winter at a cost of but one to each member. Try it friends,

A JOINT RESOLUTION

Section 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, and it is hereby enacted, That the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, in accordance with the provisions of the eighteenth article thereof:—
Amendment to Article Nine, Section Eight.
That section eight of article nine of the Constitution be amended by striking out the said section and inserting in place thereof the following:—
Section 8. The debt of any county, city, borough, township, school district, or other municipality or incorporated district, except as incorporated herein, and in section fifteen of article nine, shall never exceed, in the aggregate, two (2) per centum upon the assessed value of the taxable property therein, but the debt of the city of Philadelphia may be increased to such amount that the total city debt of said city shall not exceed two per centum (2) upon the assessed value of the taxable property therein, nor shall any such municipality or district incur any new debt, or increase its indebtedness to an amount exceeding two (2) per centum upon such assessed valuation of property, without the consent of the electors thereof at a public election in such manner as shall be provided by law. In ascertaining the borrowing capacity of the said city of Philadelphia, at any time, there shall be excluded from the calculation and deducted from said debt so much of the debt of said city as shall have been incurred, and the proceeds thereof invested, in any public improvements of any character which shall be yielding to the said city an annual current net revenue. The method of determining such amount, so to be deducted, may be prescribed by the General Assembly in ascertaining indebtedness for any purpose of the city of Philadelphia may issue its obligations maturing not later than fifty (50) years from the date thereof, with provision for a sinking-fund sufficient to retire said obligations at maturity, the payment to such sinking-fund to be in equal or graduated annual or other periodical instalments. Where any indebtedness shall be or shall have been incurred by said city of Philadelphia for the purpose of the construction or improvement of public works of any character from which income or revenue is to be derived by said city, or for the reclamation of land to be used in the construction of wharves or docks owned or to be owned by said city, such obligations may be in an amount sufficient to provide for, and may include the amount of the interest and sinking-fund charges accruing and which may accrue thereon throughout the period of construction, and until the expiration of one year after the completion of the work for which said indebtedness shall have been incurred, and said city shall not be required to levy any tax to pay said interest and sinking-fund charges as required by section ten, article nine of the Constitution of Pennsylvania, until the expiration of said period of one year after the completion of said work.
