

PLENTY OF SHELLS FOR THE SERBIANS

Great quantities of ammunition at Saloniki placed at the disposal of the Serbian troops, who seem to be making good use of it.

CONGRESS TO BE ASKED TO PROVIDE FOR UNIVERSAL MILITARY TRAINING

Several Bills Being Prepared for the Consideration of the National Lawmakers—Swiss System Suggested as Pattern for the United States Plan—Considered by Experts as Ideal From Defensive Standpoint.

Washington.—Every sign points to some sort of legislation bearing on universal military training in the United States. And it is becoming more and more apparent that there may be more than one bill presented to congress to provide for the establishment of one system or another of military preparation for the youth of America.

The government will pay all bills from the time the boy starts for the training camp to the time he gets home again.

Use Military Camps. Training in military camps, such as the Plattsburg camp, or in the state-guard also will be given consideration.

United States officials will pass upon all entrants and it will be their duty to see that they are fit or unfit.

There will be no favoritism—rich and poor, black and white will have to take the training.

A plan is afoot to inject into the bill a provision making it unlawful for any employer to discriminate against a boy because he leaves his employment to take military training.

At the end of the two-year season in which active training is received the entrant must have finished the course. He will be told to go back to the paths of industry.

Howard H. Gross, president of the United States plan after the Swiss system of defensive military training and preparation. Experts are laying stress upon the difference between a military training plan looking to the defense of a country and one contemplating aggression.

It is also undecided exactly when the lad shall begin his training, but the best opinion now favors the nineteenth year.

It is estimated that about half a million young men would be given training yearly and that at the end of five years there would be a reserve force of 2,500,000 trained men.

The idea seems to be to start the youth in training and complete it before the age usual for marriage. Then, if the United States is plunged into war, the soldiers who would respond to call would be the last ones in training, the first reserves, and therefore the youngest soldiers.

It is also argued that boys will train more easily at this age, and more easily will become inured to the life.

As outlined at present, one of the bills providing for universal military training will contain the following important items:

Every lad between the ages of eighteen and twenty-three shall be subject to military training unless he is physically or mentally deficient.

INDIAN RELICS ARE FOUND

Members of a New Historical Association Get a Load of Them in California.

Klamath Falls, Cal.—Loaded down with newly-found Indian relics, including pipes, stone war hammers, dishes, grinders, 75 arrowheads, ten spearheads, several knives, 11 mortars and more than 100 pestles, J. C. Kutenie, A. C. Yaden, Floyd Brandenburg and George Snyder, members of the recently organized Klamath Historical Association, returned recently from a ten days' research expedition through the lava beds.

These beds, lying just across the California line in Modoc county, were the seat of the Modoc Indian war and have furnished many valuable relics during the last few years.

Most of those found on the present trip were gathered along the receding shore of the Tule lake, which is being drained at the hands of the United States reclamation service by diverting Lost river, which formerly flowed into it.

OLD PROPERTY MAN IS DEAD

Maude Adams Leaves Her Private Secretary to Care for Foster in Last Illness.

New Orleans.—John Foster of New York, who was property man for Miss Maude Adams, the actress, died in an infirmary here. He was taken there two weeks ago while the actress was playing in "The Little Minister."

Miss Adams was at his bedside frequently until Wednesday, when she left with her company. She left her private secretary, Miss Helen Boynton, in charge of the patient, for whom she had employed nurses and physicians. Foster was sixty-nine years old.

Property man in many of the Prohibition companies, he had been with Miss Adams in all her productions for 15 years. Other stage celebrities whom he served in a similar capacity, were Chauncey Olcott, Charles Evans, Mme. Rhea and Mme. Modjeska. The body was shipped to New York, where Miss Adams has arranged for the funeral.

YAWNS IN CHURCH, FINED $20

Kentuckian Becomes Sleepy During the Sermon and Annoys Congregation.

Lexington, Ky.—Henry Hipshire paid $20 in county court for his lack of constraint while pastor Bottom was working up to his peroration in the course of a sermon at the old Union church, Lorado, two weeks ago.

The one-piece dress offers the designer the best of opportunities for making effective combinations of materials. Serge and satin, and other cloths with satin or velvet, crepe with velvet, or fur and cloths with fur-fabrics, are a few that have been made so successfully that they pave the way to many more.

A lovely combination of satin and chiffon velvet is shown in the picture. In this the chiffon velvet is cut in redingote style over satin that has the effect of an underdress. A panel of satin, from collar to hem, is defined on the edges, with small velvet-covered buttons, set about an inch apart.

The dress has a long waistline and a narrow velvet belt edged with fur. The belt terminates at each side of the front panel, where it is fastened to the dress with a large velvet button.

A small plated cape of velvet, finished with a narrow banding of fur, falls to the shoulders. This is a feature which marks this dress a design for the slender figure.

The straight satin sleeves have deep cuffs of tuck-ed chiffon, which come far down over the hands, and the high satin collar is edged with the same material. This model is better for the very slender figure than those that have no definition of the waistline.

A note to be remembered by the home milliner is that should one decide to use wax flowers there should be a few of the silk posies mixed in with them. Otherwise the trimming would be too stiff.

SWELLING FISH SINK VESSEL

Dried Codfish Get Wet and Schooner Ponhook's Seams Open at Sea.

Galveston, Tex.—A cargo of dried codfish that swelled when the schooner Ponhook shipped water opened the schooner's seams and sank it, according to the crew of the Norwegian steamer Kronstad, which arrived here.

The Kronstad, two days out from the Azores, sighted the Ponhook in a sinking condition and rescued her crew on the night of October 30 in a heavy sea. The Ponhook was bound from St. Johns for Gibraltar. Captain Doyle and the seven men of the Ponhook were landed at Punta del Gorda.

SHERIFF REAL DUCK EATER

Texan Official, on Visit to Washington, Has Gastronomic Feats Advertised.

Washington.—John Turman, sheriff of Uvalde county, Texas, a neighbor and close personal and political friend of Representative John Garner of the Lone Star state, paid Washington city a visit a few days ago and was proudly exhibited by Congressman Garner. Turman is a man of tremendous physical proportions, holding a state-wide reputation as a mighty hunter and a mighty eater.

The One-Piece Gown for Afternoon.

If you are looking about for a pretty model for an afternoon gown it almost goes without saying that you want a smart one-piece straight-hanging frock. There are many materials that provide a choice for making it, but satin or chiffon velvet, or both combined, is uppermost in the mind, if the dress is to be elegant rather than practical.

The one-piece dress offers the designer the best of opportunities for making effective combinations of materials. Serge and satin, and other cloths with satin or velvet, crepe with velvet, or fur and cloths with fur-fabrics, are a few that have been made so successfully that they pave the way to many more.

Week-End Traveling Bag.

A new bag for a lady's toilet articles, when she goes traveling, is very clever. It is a made-at-home affair of heavy silk, plain or figured, lined with silk or cloth in a contrasting color. It is circular and draws upon a silk cord. Upon opening it, all the toilet requisites are discovered very tidily and cozily arranged. This particular bag may be made in miniature, with complete fittings, like an amplified vanity bag, and it is a treasure for the overnight visit.

A round powder box, enclosed in a small bag, is attached to the center of the circular piece of silk. This small bag closes with a silk cord and provides support for several compartments that are ranged about it. These compartments contain all those things which are necessary to a lady's toilet, including a small hairbrush and comb, hand mirror, toothbrush and paste in a glass holder, toilet powder, clothes brush, scissors, and needlecase.

The arrangement is so complete and compact that there is still room for a soft nightdress of batiste or silk, extra handkerchiefs, etc. The smaller bags will not carry these, but are fastenings in space arrangement. All the fittings are little, but everything that is really needed finds a place. Even when brought down to the "irreducible minimum" there are quite a number of things that the week-end or overnight visitor can do without.

The week-end bag can be made of other fabrics than silk. Cretone and worn a medium-sized sailor of the same tissue, having a crushed embroidered band around the crown.

A little North Carolina girl went with her mother to make a call. On their way home they got lost in the woods. After they had wandered about for some time trying to find the way out, the little girl, becoming weary of it, looked at her mother and exclaimed: "Mamma, why don't you phone?"—Christian Herald.

Temperance Notes

STOP AND THINK.

From a bulletin issued by the Chicago health department:

"You had a glass of beer or three fingers of rye today, didn't you? You think that it puts snap in your wits and steam in your cylinders. You feel fine and you think you are ready to tackle your job and meet any problem in sight with a clear head and a strong hand. But your feeling has deluded you. The fact is that the drink you took actually diminished your power to add numbers, to memorize, to associate ideas and to see, hear and think quickly.

This statement is not the result of guesswork or a question of antithesis or antithesis on moral grounds. It is based on experiments made by an eminent scientist, Professor Kraepelin of Vienna, who has devised a series of tests and applied them to many individuals before and after they have taken alcoholic liquor. His findings have been duplicated by other scientific men.

In all cases the ability to add, to memorize and to think quickly were greatly reduced within a few minutes of taking the drink, and the handicap lasted for as long as three days. The more difficult the task, the greater was the handicap, and the more numerous were the mistakes made by the one tested.

This should make you think before you order another stein; for while you may drink another fellow's health in it, you are hurting your own brain power. And who does not need all the mind he can muster in these days?"

BEWARE OF SNAKES.

Beer is the diamond rattler of the liquor snake family. Some think it is innocent, while in fact it is more vicious than the rest. This is one reason why it bites so many. There can be no such thing as a harmless solution of a poisonous ingredient, no matter whether that poisonous ingredient is placed directly in the solution or engendered there by fermentative processes. Beer contains about 3 1/2 per cent alcohol. This amount of alcohol is always poisonous to human tissue, the rapidity of destruction being measured by the quantity taken.

The brewer reduces the percentage of alcohol in beer to quiet the alarm of his customer and then increases the volume of the drink without apparent detection. The drinker then plays his money for his share of imaginary sunshine on the basis of the old familiar game: Head up, the brewer wins; tail up, the drinker loses.

The opinions of the medical profession on the liquor traffic ten years or more ago are practically worthless, because those opinions were based on popular beliefs since known to be false. Our opinions now are based on unanswerable scientific demonstrations.—Dr. R. E. Minahan, Green Bay, Wis.

ALCOHOL AND MEMORY.

Professor Vogt of the University of Christiania made tests upon himself to determine the effects of alcohol upon memory. He daily committed to memory 25 lines of Greek poetry and recorded the number of minutes required to learn them. On the days when he took as much alcohol as one would get in from one and one-half to three glasses of beer, it took him on the average 18 per cent longer to learn the lines than when no alcohol was taken. Six months later, when he reviewed and relearned the same lines, he found that the lines learned on the alcohol days required more time for relearning.

AUTHORITIES ON BEER.

Beer comes next to brandy as a poison drink. It limits the capacity and lowers mind, soul and body. The soldier who abstains altogether is the best man.—Count Von Haesler, Late Commander of the Sixteenth Army Corps, Germany.

There is no justification for calling beer "liquid bread." A glass of heavy beer costing 25 pennings has no more nourishment than a piece of cheese costing one penny. . . . Beer is not the harmless drink it is supposed to be.—From a German Army Pamphlet.

WHAT IS INTEMPERANCE?

"Intemperance does not necessarily mean only obvious and palpable drunkenness. From the very moment in which alcohol has disturbed the healthy exercise of the mental faculties, or has impaired the moral sense by unduly exciting the animal passions or has in any way unfitted a person for discharging his duties in the proper struggle for survival, from that moment has been guilty of intemperance."—T. B. Hyslop, M. D. Royal Hospital for the Insane, England.

BOOZE PRIMER.

Booze makes bumps. Bumps make business for jail builders. Jail builders make the people pay higher taxes. Bumps, jails and high taxes heap burdens on innocent people. Get rid of booze and you get rid of bumps.—Cole's Michigan Review.

BAR LIQUOR ADS.

Daily newspapers reaching more than 5,500,000 readers are now bearing liquor advertising.

SOCIAL VALUE.

A pathetic evidence of the social value of prohibition is the fact that the number of suicides in Seattle in the first six months of prohibition was only half as large as for the corresponding months of last year. Drink ruins a man, drives him to despair, takes his last nickel and then dumps him in the river.

MILITARY TACTICS.

Twentieth-century military tactics. "Trust in God and keep your army dry."

Green's August Flower

Of Course Not.
