In This Department Our Readers in Fulton County and Elsewhere May journey Around the World With the Camera on the Trail of History Making Happenings.

AIRPLANE BUILT FOR WIRELESS CONTROL

This wireless-control airplane has just been built by the Burgess-Curtiss company for John Hays Hammond, Jr., and will be given a series of tests for the United States government. According to the inventor's plans, the operator can "pick up" a torpedo and, by means of the wireless-control outfit placed just back of his seat, can direct it against the object of attack.

RUINS OF MUNITION PLANT THAT WAS BLOWN UP

Close-up view of the ruins of the munition plant of the Canadian Car and Foundry company at Kingsland, N. J. The hill on the right is said to be the only thing that saved the towns of Kingsland and Rutherford from probable destruction from exploding shells and fire. The wind at the time fortunately was blowing in a direction opposite to the towns. The company was just finishing a $100,000,000 contract of shells for the Russian government, which had kept the plant busy for the last two years.

WORKING ON THE LINCOLN HIGHWAY

Miss Anna Larson and Nell Coffaney, California girls, donned jeans at the recent Oakland celebration, to help in preparing the first blast at the Pacific end of the Coast-to-Coast Lincoln highway.

JUST THE RUINS OF A GERMAN TRENCH

British official photograph taken on the western front. The ruins look a great deal like the ribs of an extinct mastodon, but are nothing but the remains of a German trench. The trenches were constructed similar to the railroad subways with which the American people are familiar.

HELPED TO CONVICT BOPP

Mrs. Annette A. Adams, assistant United States district attorney, stepped into the place of the district attorney when he was taken ill at the start of the Bopp explosion plot trial at San Francisco. Mrs. Adams opened for the government, conducted the case throughout its course and secured a verdict for the United States.

Takes No Dictation.

Church—What's become of your stenographer and typewriter?
Gotham—Flew de coop.
"Left you?"
"Sure thing."
"Your wife the cause?"
"Oh, no."
"Got another job?"
"Nix."
"What happened then?"
"She became a suffragette."
"Well, couldn't she hold her job just the same?"
"Say, boy, did you ever know of a suffragette that could be dictated to?"

Incautious Burglar.

A man who is given to doing "odd jobs" about his house was very proud of a bit of painting he had accomplished.
About midnight following the completion of the outside of the house he was awakened by a noise. Creeping to the window, he looked out, and to his horror, saw a burglar climbing up a ladder to the second-story window.
"Look out there!" yelled the householder to the burglar. "Look out for the paint."

LOOKING FOR THEIR DADDY'S NAME

A permanent war shrine in a London side street, with the names of 750 men who have gone to the front from that particular neighborhood. The picture shows two youngsters spelling out their father's names on the tablet.

KAISER AND HIS STAFF AT THE FRONT

A new photograph of the kaiser and his staff at the front. This shows him in Poland. One of the few pictures showing the kaiser's short left arm.

HEROINE OF KINGSLAND

Tessie McNamara, telephone switchboard girl at the big munition plant of the Canadian Car and Foundry company on the Jersey meadows near Kingsland, who happened to glance out of a window which overlooked a long avenue of concrete and iron one-story buildings and saw a wisp of smoke curling from the eaves of building 30, a shed stored with 200 gallons of gasoline and used for cleaning and polishing high explosive shells. With one bound, Tessie was back at the switchboard, her headgear adjusted, fighting to conquer her rising panic. She beat down her fears (she knew what smoke wisps portended in a vast plant packed with tremendous explosives) and rapidly connected with shed after shed—just a word or two: "Fire in shed 30—sure to reach shell cars on side track—don't wait a second—get all men out." As Tessie sent in her final calls, red-hot fragments of steel ripped from the bursting shells and flung high in the air descended upon the roof of the headquarters building within five feet of her head. Some of the pieces tore through, one just grazing her. She fainted. With building after building exploding, McArthur, the fire chief, and a few of his aids dragged the unconscious girl from the switchboard.

WOMAN PICKETS AT THE WHITE HOUSE

Each of the two Pennsylvania avenue entrances to the White House is being picketed by six members of the Congressional union, each of whom holds a banner with the inscription: "Mr. President, what will you do for woman suffrage?" The pickets are on duty from nine to five each day, the individuals being relieved at frequent intervals.

CHURCH OF PRESIDENTS CELEBRATES

Historic St. John's church, Washington, on Lafayette square, opposite the White House, the church of practically all Episcopal presidents, is celebrating its one hundredth anniversary.

Good Health Makes a Happy Home

Good health makes housework easy. Bad health takes all happiness out of it. Hosts of women drag along in daily misery, back aching, worried, "blue," tired, because they don't know what ails them.
These same troubles come with weak kidneys, and, if the kidney action is distressingly disordered, there should be no doubt that the kidneys need help. Get a box of Doan's Kidney Pills. They have helped thousands of discouraged women.

A Virginia Case

Mrs. J. T. Clark, 612 Cabell, V. St., Danville, Va., says: "My back was so painful, it was hard for me to do my housework. My kidneys were disordered and I felt miserable in every way. Doan's Kidney Pills gave me quick relief and continued use cured me. The cure has been permanent."

Looks the Part.

"Monkeys have a great deal of curiosity."

"I take it the camel is something of a rubberneck, too."

ACTRESS TELLS SECRET.

A well known actress gives the following recipe for gray hair: To half pint of water add 1 oz. Bay Rum, a small box of Barbo Compound, and 1/4 oz. of glycerine. Any druggist can put this up or you can mix it at home at very little cost. Full directions for making and use come in each box of Barbo Compound. It will gradually darken streaked, faded gray hair, and make it soft and glossy. It will not color the scalp. It is not sticky or greasy, and does not rub off. Adv.

Queer Preference.

"It is very odd that baldheaded men always want to sit in the front at the theater."

"Yes, one would think they'd want to get further away from the flies."

Chip Off the Old Block.

"There goes a millionaire who brags about his son to everybody who will listen."

"Evidently the young fellow is not like the average heir to great wealth."
"No, indeed. The old gentleman was trimmed in the stock market last week and when he discovered that his own son had turned the trick he was the proudest man in the United States."

Books in Prison.

Prison literature has many fine productions to its credit in prose as well as in poetry. In his prison at Athens, Socrates completed his great argument for immortality; in a Roman dungeon Galileo made some of his greatest discoveries. In his prison in Wartburg castle Luther translated the New Testament into the German language. During his twelve years in Bedford Jail Bunyan dreamed his immortal dream of the "Pilgrim's Progress." Sir Walter Raleigh wrote his fragmentary history of the world to beguile the long years of his imprisonment in the Tower of London. Much of the New Testament also is prison literature. Some of the finest of the epistles of St. Paul were written during his imprisonment at Rome, and the Book of the Revelation of St. John was written while he was an exile on the island prison of Patmos.—London Chronicle.
