Letter to the Public.

DEAR EDITOR:— I was much surprised when I read the Ford announcement in your last week's issue, wherein it stated that E. R. McClain was Proprietor of McClain's Garage, McConnellsburg, Pa.

I wish to state that I paid rent up until April 1st., and would therefore like Mr. McClain to explain how he comes to be Proprietor. I do not want the people to get the impression that I have been a tool in the hands of him, who announces to be the Proprietor, and wish to state that I will run the garage I now occupy until April 1, 1917, after which I will be located in the Central Garage, just in the rear of the City Hotel, and wish to announce to all patrons and others, that they will receive the same fair treatment, as I have endeavored to give in the past and will be in position to take care of all who come, with free air, and free service on small troubles.

I have the Studebaker Agency one six cylinder touring car in stock. Come in and see my stock of tires and accessories and let me quote you prices before you buy. Repairing a speciality. J. W. LINN.

Dramatic Club Organized.

One of the most public spirited local associations ever launched in our town was the organization recently of The McConnellsburg Dramatic Club, with the Cast of The Old New Hampshire Home given last week at the Auditorium as charter members.

The money received from the sale of seats last week was given to the Civic Club.

It is the purpose of the Dramatic Club to continue giving entertainments and dramatic performances for Public and Charitable benefits, as well as to foster a love of dramatic art, and help along any public spirited enterprise that will accrue to the betterment of our town and community.

While the charter members are those who so successfully rendered The Old New Hampshire Home last week, new members will be added as occasion demands, and as outlined for the purpose principally of Charity or Public betterment. The organization is one that all may be proud of, and willing to help along.

It is the intention of the organization to render the Old New Hampshire Home again on the night of March 19th, the proceeds to be devoted to a fund for the Dramatic Club to cover expenses of costumes, scenery and such incidentals as may be necessary to carry out the program outlined.

All Churches, Secret orders, Civic Clubs, Schools and Public organizations are asked to cooperate.

Chesnut Writes Verse.

From Everett Press. Clem Chesnut, Democratic legislator from Fulton county, says he believes in keeping in touch with the home folks. In order to keep in touch with the situation in Harrisburg, he admits that he has composed a little verse which has been sent traveling around his home country and reads some thing like this: "Beldeman runs the senate, Baldwin runs the house, Penno runs the two of them As a cat runs a mouse, Brumbaugh runs the Sunday School, Mulvihill runs the bar, Grandy runs the whole outfit, So, darn it, there you are."

"Preparedness"

Preparedness is a topic of national importance, no matter which side of the question you may take. Is the nation properly prepared? It is a grave question.

But that is a question for the nation to answer. There is one question nearer home, the matter of financial preparedness of the individual against the rainy day of adversity that may come. Are you financially prepared to meet that sickness which may come to you or your family? Are you prepared for the time when there may be loss of employment or loss by fire, flood, or mismanagement? Are you prepared for the old age that's sure to come? These are serious, vital questions to every one of us. If you are not prepared, resolve to open a savings account at our bank today and thus make the first step toward your own preparedness.

DELCO-LIGHT

ELECTRICITY FOR EVERY FARM.

DELCO-LIGHT MAKES ELECTRICITY UNIVERSAL

For the first time electric light and power are available to anyone—anywhere. Heretofore, the benefits of electricity have been confined to those who live in the larger towns and cities. Now Delco-Light makes electric current universally available.

Delco-Light is today furnishing thousands of farm-houses with brilliant, convenient, safe and economical light. It is furnishing power to operate pumps, washing machines, churns, cream separators, milking machines, vacuum cleaners, etc. It is lighting country churches, stores and public halls. It is furnishing light and power to summer homes and camps, to houseboats and yachts, etc.

Delco-Light is a complete electric plant—the engine and dynamo in one compact unit combined with a set of specially built and wonderfully efficient batteries for the storing of current. The plant is so simple a child can care for it, and so economical that it actually pays for itself in time and labor saved. It operates on either kerosene, gasoline or natural gas.

(It is lighting rural railway stations and construction camps. It is lighting the camps of United States troops on the Mexican border and it is disclosing heretofore undreamed-of beauties in the depths of Mammoth Cave, Kentucky. Altogether, over 15,000 Delco-Light plants are in operation, and Delco-Light offices are to be found in almost every part of the world.)

National Songs.

National Song Week has just been observed in the schools of Illinois. It would be interesting to know just what songs the children sang and whether they really put some heart into them.

There is a lack of a good singable national song characteristic of the American temperament. "The Star Spangled Banner" is difficult as its notes run both high and low with wide intervals. People would sing it more cheerfully if it had better rhythm. "America" is merely borrowed from John Bull. One very good air is commonly called "Keller's American Hymn" but it is not well known. It is vigorous and expressive but too much the choral style for our restless and enthusiastic temperament.

The song best fitting our national temperament from the musical viewpoint, is "Dixie" which will stir enthusiasm even in a Northern audience.

A song will need something of that tingling contagious enthusiasm before an American crowd will sing it with any "pep." Rag time is really the expression of American feeling. The musicians see that there is value in even this despised type of musical notation. It is up to some song writer with a genius for expressing the temperament of a people, to produce a patriotic song having a touch of rag time tingle about it, yet dignified with strong, virile harmony and with a melody having some animal and impetuous quality. The National Song Week will be served with some enthusiasm and it will promote patriotic feeling.

"Soaked" Peas and Beans.

Reports received by officials in charge of the enforcement of the Food and Drugs Act reveal the following: The great demand for consequent high prices for canned peas and beans, many canners are putting on the market products made by soaking dried peas and beans and then canning them. The process of soaking gives the peas and beans the same appearance as the fresh article. Products made in this way may be wholesome, but, as pointed out, they are generally less desirable than those prepared from fresh peas and beans. Furthermore, if the consumer desires the dried product much cheaper to buy the dried peas and beans directly from the grocer and soak them at home. In this way the same article served at a much less cost.

The food and Drugs Act does not prohibit the sale in interstate or foreign commerce of canned soaked peas and beans, provided the label on the cans indicates plainly and conspicuously that the contents are made from soaked, dried product. Consumers can learn by carefully reading labels whether they are getting a product that was made from the dried or from the fresh peas and beans.

The Value of Lent.

The traditional observance of Lent is an interesting contrast with the spirit of the modern world, with its emphasis on physical pleasure, the value of money and the search for diverting amusements. The modern world questions such a custom and pokes fun at it, as merely a relic of formalism. Yet it may have a value not suspected in our hurrying life.

The church feels the spirit of the age enough that the old rigors of its observance have disappeared. Of course there are still a large number of persons having a keen spiritual and mystical sense, who follow it in much of the old fashioned manner. They deny the flesh the things flesh craves. Thereby they feel that the galling grip of material thoughts upon their spirits is relaxed. Earth seems more distant and heaven nearer.

The burdens and the fascinations of the world fill their minds and can't be evaded. Life is a struggle in which they need all of the physical strength they possess. The churches make liberal modifications of the old rule of Lent to "working people." Most people in this unspiritual age give their bodies the benefit of doubt, and live a good deal as usual.

Yet there are thousands and thousands of society people to whom a Lenten season of self denial would be a godsend. It would rest their strained nerves give their overloaded stomachs a rest from hearty late eating give them needed sleep. Many of them instinctively feel this and welcome a period of quiet and abstinence. But the majority still continue wearing out body and soul in the frenzied effort to kill time and fill life even fuller of thrills and novelty.
