Live Stock vs, Crops

Feeding crops is much like feeding live stock. The farmer who feeds his crops heavily of the right kind of plantfood will have the largest crops of the best quality. Our showmen know that if the baby flesh is once lost from the calf, pig or colt, it is an expensive process to get it back and the young stock never mature into such splendid animals as they would have done had they been kept growing from the start. Plenty of feed gives the calf a quick sure start. An abundance of the right kind of plantfood gives the plants a running start, enables them to keep ahead of the weeds, helps them to resist disease and to mature their crops easily. These are all important but the one that we often lose sight of is the first, namely, giving the crops a quick start. The man who sees that his soils and crops are well supplied with the right kind of plantfood will have the earliest, best matured crops of highest quality.

About noon Monday of last week, the roof of Howard Zimmerman's dwelling house in Hancock was discovered to be on fire and the wind was blowing a regular gale. It was with much difficulty that the firemen saved the building. The damage, which is covered by insurance is about $400. It was supposed the fire originated from a spark from a locomotive on the Western Maryland railway.

Pays for Itself in Better Crops

Even if you have only a small farm the New Idea Spreader will make you enough money to pay for itself and give you a profit besides.

Scientists and experiment stations have determined that the value of manure is from $8 to $10 per animal. Ordinarily half of this is lost through absorbtion in the barnyard and through improper spreading with a fork. Save this half by using a New Idea Spreader and you'll save $300 to $400 a year even on an 80 acre farm—more on a larger place.

That's why you should increase your profits by spreading with the

NEW IDEA Registered U.S. Pat. Off.

Spreads 7 Feet—Across 3 Corn Rows

The wide spreading New Idea saves you half a mile of travel per acre. It spreads beyond the wagon tracks and you don't have to drive over the spread manure. It spreads uniformly and the spread can be varied 3, 6, 9, 12, 15, 18 loads per acre merely by pushing a lever.

The double cylinders and distributor take two whacks at the manure. Every particle goes onto the ground—none left to freeze or rot. There is no danger of clogging so the New Idea can be loaded as high as the ordinary wagon box. Strong chain conveyor brings the manure unfailingly to cylinders. Cannot slip from under load and will not race going up hill.

Chain drive—no gears to freeze, break or strip. Power to conveyor and spreader mechanism is derived direct from rear axle—no side strain or lost power.

The New Idea is made by spreader specialists with more than 16 years experience, who have the confidence to back their machine with a 1 year guarantee on workmanship and material. We unhesitatingly recommend it.

See This Spreader

Let us show you how it works and you'll understand why we're so enthusiastic about the New Idea. It costs you nothing to investigate and you will not be urged to buy against your will.

Special Book FREE

When you come in be sure you ask for a free copy of "Helping Mother Nature"—the special book which has been prepared by the manufacturers. This is not a catalog, but is a book of information on the proper way to spread manure to get the best results. This book is really worth money, but we'll give you a copy free if you'll call at the store.
