Face in Pictures Seems Always to Be Gazing at You If Person Photographed Was Looking at Camera.

You probably have noticed that some faces in pictures seem to follow you, also that in other pictures there are faces which are not looking at you; but no matter where you walk, even though it be in the direction in which they seem to be looking, you will never find the face looking at you. Indeed, faces in pictures are either looking at us from wherever we look at them, or else they never look at us from wherever we look at them. The same is true of photographs.

The rule is very simple. If the person who was being painted or photographed was looking at the painter or the camera, then wherever you stand he will seem to be looking at you. If he was looking on one side, then where you stand he will seem to be looking on that side of you. This works very queerly if you have a group of people who are looking at the camera when they were photographed. If you look at the photograph from one side they all seem to turn to follow you and then to turn back if you look at it from the other side. But if they were not looking at the camera you can never get them to look at you.

Anxiety About Russia.

Russia is causing the entente allies much anxiety just now, for the labor element there is intoxicated with its new liberty and is seriously hampering the provisional government by its demands that it be allowed to direct affairs. A considerable group of radi cal socialists has declared in favor of a separate peace, and Germany is dickering with these men. The government, backed by the greater part of the military forces, is doing what it can to counteract these efforts, but money is scarce and disorganization prevails. The United States, it is expected, will step into the breach by giving financial assistance and sending a commission of railway experts to solve the transportation tangle that is holding vast quantities of munitions at Archangel.

$1,000,000 School Saving.

A saving of more than $1,000,000 to the State in the proposed school appropriation for the next two years by eliminating teachers' institutes, reducing the number of normal schools and shortening the courses of such schools retained, is suggested by Professor J. A. Cooper, former principal of the State Normal School at Edinburgh, in letters to the chairmen of the Senate and House Appropriations, Committee.

The proposed school appropriation for the next two years totals $18,-000,000. In touching on the question of reasonable economy and efficiency in the administration of State government and of the necessity of levying additional taxes to meet necessary expenditures. Professor Cooper asks the legislators: "Why don't you save money where the saving will do good ?'

He attacks Superintendent Nathan C. Schaeffer, of the Department of Public Instruction, for the retention of teachers' institutes, which he de clares have long since become obsolete, and are so recognized in advanced States. Most of the teachers, he points out, would shun institutes if attendance were voluntary, but their presence is forced and a fine is the penalty for absence.
