The Dying Thief

By REV. L. W. GOSNELL Assistant Dean, Moody Bible Institute. Chicago

TEXT-And he said, Jesus, remember me when thou comest in thy kingdom. And he said unto him, Verily I say unto thee, today shalt thou be with me in Paradise.—Luke 23:42-43 R. V.

The highway robbers of Christ's day were often popular heroes, Jewish Rob hopes for deliver-But the other, who seems himself to have reviled Christ just a little before, turns to rebuke his companion and shows that a change has been wrought in him which continues to be an astonishment to all who read of it. The malefactor was an unlikely had forsaken Christ and fled but this sinful man joins himself to him. He was the first of a long line of trophies from among the foes of Christ. The chief persecutor of the early church became its chief apostle, and the power of the cross over Christ's enemies abides. Elijah P. Brown, for many years editor of a well-known religious weekly, was once a leader of infidel clubs, yet God brought him to Christ under a simple plea from D. L. Moody. We should count no man hopeless but should covet Christ's enemies for his

Unlikely Place for Conversion.

A cross was a unlikely place for conversion. The cross has been glorified in our eyes, but we are not to forget that it looked no more attractive to those who first saw it than a gallows looks to us. John Wesley declares that at one period he would have thought it a sin to seek to save souls outside a church building, but he was driven to the fields to preach and learned that any place can become holy ground. Samuel Hadley started heavenward from the back room of a low saloon.

The dying hour was an unlikely period for conversion. This story forever rebukes the idea that acceptance with God depends upon a round of sacraments or good works, for he had time for neither. This lesson still needs to be learned. Wesley was for many years a professing Christian, and even an ordained minister, before changes of temperature, rain, wind and he learned it. He tells how he was faith alone, to a condemned prisoner friends and relatives are so frequently and his joy when he heard the man say: "I am now ready to die. I know he has taken away my sins and there is no more condemnation for me."

Interesting Points. There are several interesting points connected with the thief's conversion. It began with the fear of God. He asks his companion, "Dost not thou fear God seeing thou art in the same condemnation?" His heart had been solemnized by the darkness which spread over the land and by all the scenes of the crucifixion. "Nobody fears God any more"-so we are told today. And indeed this frivolous, selfsatisfied age is not marked by the fear of the Lord. It may require the horrors of an awful war to bring us to seriousness and a sense of the majesty of God. Alas, for the fact that sometime even God's judgments fail in this matter, just as one of the robbers was unmoved by all he had witnessed! It was accompanied by frank confession of his sin. "We receive the due reward of our deeds." How refreshing when visiting in prisons, to find one who acknowledges his guilt and expresses contrition; there is hope for such a man. Remarkable Faith. But we would speak especially of the remarkable faith of this man. He prays, "Jesus, remember me when thou comest in thy kingdom." To the multitude, and even to the disciples, the inscription declaring Jesus to be king of the Jews must have seemed a mockery indeed. The life of Jesus appeared a complete fallure and his claims exploded. Yet, in that hour, there was begotten in the heart of this rough fellow a faith that saw the kingdom even beyond the cross. It was a faith akin to that by which Abraham was justified, of whom it is said he believed God "who quickened the dead and calleth those things which be not as though they were." We should not have been surprised to have heard the Lord say of this malefactor, "I have not found so great faith, no not la Israel."

Jesus responded to his faith with the assurance that the man should be with him in paradise, that very day. His blessing would not be delayed until the kingdom should come but would begin at once. Paradise suggests a garden of delights and the assurance, "with me," satisfies the longings of our hearts.

My knowledge of that life is small, The eye of faith is dim; But this I know, that Christ knows all And I shall be with him.

Somehow, men are prone to abuse God's gifts. We presume upon such mercy as it is set forth in this story and turn the grace of God into lasciviousness. Men argue that because the dying thief was saved, they too may be saved when dying, and so they put off repentance for their deathbeds. But how knowest thou, O man, that such an opportunity will be thine? Even if time be given at the last, the heart may be adamant and repentance an impossibility. "True repentance is never too late; late repentance is sel-

LESSON FOR MAY 6

JESUS THE SERVANT OF ALL.

LESSON TEXT-John 13:1-15.
GOLDEN TEXT-And whosoever of you will be the chiefest, shall be servant of all-Mk. 10:44.

This lesson is really a continuation of the latter part of the lesson of last week, for the glory of Jesus is his unselfishness whereby he wrought out redemption for mankind.

I. Selfishness Amid Holy Surroundings (vv. 1-11). The world does not appreciate Jesus. It never has, "His own," the Jews, did not appreciate him. We are considering him today as he was about to depart from the world that had despised and rejected him to one that appreciated him (Heb. 1-6). The development. Verse 2 tells of the Satanle suggestion that came to the heart of Judas. In it was personal desire, and, connected with it, human conspiracy. The coming to this upper room has been pointed out by a man bearing a pitcher (Mk. person to be converted. The disciples | 14:12-16), the pitcher being suggestive of the Holy Spirit which was about to come in the place of the visible Christ, and it is in the midst of such sacred surroundings as this that Satan enters the hearts of students. This is a suggestion as to the power of environment, Environment is an aid, but it does not produce effective safety. No moment is too holy for Satanic suggestion. Jesus knew that the hour was come when he was to depart out of the world. "Having loved his own, he loved them to the end." Even though the Father had given all things into his hands, still it was necessary for him to teach the disciples once more. and finally, the lesson of humility. He knew and remembered the strife among the disciples (Luke 22:24-28). Doct of Bonard's famous dream, analyzing z n' as being made up of ambition, p de and elements other than the love of God is worthy of consideration in this connection. We need to realize the danger of selfishness even in our ser fee for God. Have we examined our motives? If the consequences of our superiority, either of rank or ability, tempts us to shirk the lowliest of services, it is time for God's children to recall this scene, and remember that "the servant is not greater than his Lord." Peter's strong protest (v. 8) brings out the fact that the washing by Christ of the disciples' feet was deeper than merely the outward application of water (See Rom. S:0). It also brought out the fact (v. 10) that Jesus knew that all present were not clean inwardly though he may have made the application outwardly, for he knew who should betray him (v. 11). Therefore, said he, "Ye are not all clean."

Christ, himself, had confided the knowledge to John especially as to the one who was about to betray him (See John 13:22-30).

II. Service, the Evidence of Divine Humility (vv. 12-15). (1) This service was tender. Jesus had all things (v. 3), yet he became the servant of all. (2) It was for all. All needed a washing. All the disciples needed to learn, and all servants must learn, to obey. (3) It signified sanctification. We are saved once for all, but we are constantly being stained by our contact with sin in the world; hence the need of renewed cleansing. New light reveals new need of cleansing. (4) It signified deity. Jesus read the thoughts of his disciples. He became their servant that in years to come they might know the meaning of service. He became their example, and in years to come they remembered his knowledge and service. (6) It was for "his own." The disciples did not know what it was he had done to them. Little do we understand oftentimes what it is the Lord has done to us, Jesus set them an example whereby he would remove the dirt of crime, self-seeking and every manifestation of selfishness from their sin-stain t souls. We may call Jesus Lord and Master, and it is well that we do so, for Master and Lord he is indeed, but, If we call him so, let us not do aught than make him In our lives what we call him with our lips. The idea here emphasized has given rise to much religious literature. "The Imitation of Christ" by Thomas a'Kempis, is the most popular book in the world next to the Bible. No modern book has had the sale that has Sheldon's "In His Steps," William Stend wrote, "If Jesus Christ Came to Chicago." Still we ask not only what did Jesus do nineteen hundred years ago, under circumstances widely different from our own, but what would Jesus do if he were in my place to-

16). This introduction shows how important Christ considered his teaching at this point, "The servant is not greater than his Lord" (See Matt, 10: 24: Luke 6:40: 22-27). If the Lord they, the servants, should not think it beneath them to do likewise, nor should the one that is sent (an apostle) consider himself greater than he that sent him. John, who wrote this epistle, was one of the apostles guilty | Jacob B. Schurman, president of Corof an unholy strife for power and position, and desirous of bringing fire down upon those who did not acknowledge and follow Jesus, but he became a marvel of love and tenderness. Knowing these things, "happy are ye if ye do them." "If ye know,"—that is knowledge which Christ gives in response to our asking today. "If ye do,"-that is obedience which faith gives to Christ.

SENTIMENT IN RUSSIA.

The Petrograd correspondent of the Neue Zuricher Zeitung, in a survey of the two years sobriety in Russia, quotes a representative of the duma as saying that "the very thought of the fearful consequences on the battlefield and in the country itself of a continuation of the alcohol regime makes every patriot shudder." The writer continues: "We are, therefore, more than overloyed to know that it has been statistically proved that the daily producing capacity of the workingman, since the promulgation of that message of salvation, has been increased by 15 per cent, and that Monday, the day when millions of muzhik (farmers) were found in the gutters, ans become a normal work day in Russia. But not only the mir (village community) felt the consequences; the life also in the city was as if of a sudden transformed. How quickly the population grasped the prospective benefits of the great reform is best shown by the fact that when it became known that the imperial ukase, in order to become legally valid, would need the express consent of the majority of the mirs, only an exceedingly low percentage refused the indorsement.

"Nobody has so quickly and completely grasped the import of the social revolution as woman, the greatest sufferer from the old alcohol curse. We are, therefore, not astonished to learn that as soon as the saloons were definitely closed the peasant women marched to the churches in Indian file to burn a candle each, thanking the Lord for the great delivery.

"When last spring the question of repermitting the sale of beer and red wine came up in the duma, Tarasov, a farmer-deputy, exclaimed: 'If the women would hear you they would pull you down from this platform."

A NEW YORK HOTEL MAN'S VIEW. Mr. Frank Case, for 14 years proprictor of the Algonquin hotel, New York city, has closed his bar to stay closed. The fact is chronicled by the New York Times. Being asked "why" by a group of astonished friends to whom he made the announcement, Mr. Case pointed to a small boy crossing the hotel lobby with a bunch of school books under his arm. "There's one reason right there," he said. "That youngster is my own son, just coming home from school. I have decided that I don't want to pay his school bills and the other costs of bringing him up on the profits from booze. I guess that's my chief reason, but there are others,

"The large profits made by the bar, ($10,000 last year)," he went on, "made me sick. I had to admit to myself that I was a rumseller, and that is something I don't want to be. I am not posing as a reformer. I take a drink myself occasionally, but I don't want to sell it to another man. Would you want to?" Everybody said no, although there was not a total abstainer in the

TO MEMORIALIZE CONGRESS.

Speaking at a meeting of the Dry Chicago federation concerning the memorial to congress in behalf of national prohibition, ex-Governor Foss of Massachusetts said: "The memorial is cast in very radical terms, but it has won the support of most persons of great importance in the most conservative circles and in all walks of life. Professors of Harvard, Yale, Columbia, Princeton, heads of great railroad corporations, presidents of banks and leaders in the industrial and commercial world, as well as scientists and alienists, have signed this document. We think that both congress and the country will be astonished at the character of the signatures ween they are published."

SIGNIFICANT ADS.

Saloons-Several first-class locations, for sale or rent. . Apply United States Brewing company, 2519 Elston

The above advertisement is from the Chicago Tribune. Like the many other ads of the same nature, it is a pretty good indication of what the trade thinks about the "receding prohibition wave!" Also of the real opinion of saloon men as to whether or not prohibition prohibits.

A SAFETY MEASURE.

The new liability and compensation aws give the employer no option; he must pay for an injured workman, irrespective of the cause. If he tolerates alcohol-users on his premises, he must pay the cost of their mistakes. . . . As a result of these laws employers are installed safety appliances and surted "safety campaigns." Their new rules against alcohol have precisely the same inspiration.-Harper's Magazine.

PROHIBITION BAD FOR BUSINESS. Prohibition is bad for some kinds of business, and this fact must be admitted. It is bad for the business of loafing, bad for the fellow that runs a drunk cure establishment, bad for the fellow whose business is robbing drunks "Verily, verily, I say unto you" (v. on the street, bad for the failkeeper, bad for the bawdy house, bad for the wives who have formed the habit of being beaten up every Saturday night by a drunken husband, bad for the parasites who live off saloon keepers by bent to this lowly service, certainly permitting them to disobey the law .-Cole's Review.

COLLEGE IDEAL.

"The ideal for the college student should be total abstinence," says Dr. nell. "Total abstinence is what we ought to have among our students. No railroad, no industrial concern today will take a student graduate from Cornell university unless it has my assurance that he is a total abstainer."

I suffered from a serious female trouble and the doctors said I could not live one year without an operation. My husband objected to the operation and had me try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to any woman as a wonderful health restorer."—Mrs. Blanche Jefferson, 703 Lyon St., Des Moines, Iowa.

Another Operation Avoided.

Richmond, Ind.—"For two years I was so sick and weak from female troubles that when going up stairs I had to go very slowly with my hands on the steps, then sit down at the top to rest. The doctor said he thought I should have an operation, and my friends thought I would not live to move into our new house. My daughter asked me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound as she had taken it with good results. I did so, my weakness disappeared, I gained in strength, moved into our new home, do all kinds of garden work, and raised hundreds of chickens and ducks. I cannot say enough in praise of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. M. O. Johnston, Route D, Box 190, Richmond, Ind.

Of course there are many serious cases that only a surgical operation will relieve. We freely acknowledge this, but the above letters, and many others like them, amply prove that many operations are recommended when medicine in many cases is all that is needed.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.
