Might Happen Again,

Mrs. Euphemia Johnson was attended by a confidential colored friend of her own sex when the railroad company called her in to effect a cash settlement for the death of her husband, killed on his honeymoon.

Mrs. Johnson had clouded her features with a heavy well up to the time the corporation attorney had mentloned the sum, but when he produced the bills she threw back the badge of mourning and gazed eagerly on the bundle that flashed green and yellow in thick streaks,

The lawyer withdrew after the signing of the release and the two were left alone. "Euphemin," said the companion.

"I suppose you'll be gettin' married again, now that you're so rich." Euphemia paused with a thick long to the Lord thumb half-way to her mouth for moisture and reflection. "Ef Ah do," she observed before resuming the counting of the roll, "it'll be some pusson on de Senbode Ayeh Line."

That Was Different.

"I want," said the grim-faced commander, "a dozen men who will give their lives to their country." The entire regiment stepped forward. The commander selected twelve.

"Now," said he, "you are to hold this position until you are wiped out." "But we shall be killed !" quavered

"Did you not volunteer to give your life to your country?" asked the commander sternly.

"Oh, 'life!' I thought you said; wife !" "

It's Poor Economy to Endure a Bad Back

N these days of rising prices, we need every ounce of strength and the ability to do a full day's work every day. The man or woman with weak kidneys is half crippled. Sore, aching kidneys; lame, stiff back, headache, dizzy spells, a dull, tired feeling and urinary disorders are daily sources of distress. You can't afford to neglect kidney weakness and make it easy for gravel, dropsy or Bright's disease to take you. Get a box of Doan's Kidney Pills today. They have helped thousands. hard things come into the Christian's William E. Martin, of Lancaster, nce, but these may be the only way he can guard them from danger. He had to guard David from coming to the throne unprepared by allowing many a hard experience to come to him. If this should meet the eye of some child of God passing through deep waters, it may be that the deep waters are just the needed guard. In the second place they are his own peculiar care to guide. How often would they, like sheep, go astray but for his care in guiding them. Sometimes, 'tis true, he leads them in paths that look from the outside most uninviting, but once in those paths the Christian discovers they lead beside the still waters into pastures green and fresh. In the third place they are his own peculiar care to provide for. His provision is new every morning and fresh at eventide. It is never old nor stale. His own miss much that he provides by being out of his place. He told the ravens where to place Elijah's food and he told Elijah where to go. Elijah might have delayed, but the ravens would have fulfilled their part. The provision of course would become stale and useless if Elijah was not there to use it. He provides plentifully for all his own, and if any of them grow faint maybe they are missing his provision which is plling up in his appointed place. If your place is at home, do not be surprised if you miss his provision by going to China. And if his place for you is upon some foreign field do not be surprised if you find yourself with little spiritual vigor in America. His Own Loved. Having loved his own, he loves them to the end. Christians sometimes are tempted to think his love varies with their own changing affections. But he loves them always with the same unwearied love. Loves them in spite of failure, as the history of Peter so fully shows. Peter thought he would be ready to lay down his life rather than forsake him. But how quickly he was put to shame by the question of a stranger maid. How pitiful the failure as the oaths slipped from his lips! But did the Lord's love weaken? Nay, rather it burned, if possible, a bit brighter in his great heart and flamed out from his eyes, bringing Peter back to the place of bitter tears through which he saw the path of return. In the second place, he loves his own in spite of all backwardness. Think of him walking and talking with Philip for three years, instructing by example; and by word all those days while he was about his Father's business, only at the end to find that Philip had not learned the first lesson, but must needs say, "Lord show us the Father," not knowing "He that hath seen me hath seen the Father." How trying such backwardness is, but to the Great Teacher it did not lessen in any degree his love. The tender passion by which he held Phillp was just as deep that moment when his backwardness was revealed as ever it was. Do not allow any hint that his love for you grows cold when you discover how little progress you have made.

First by gift from the Father. In his prayer in John 17 our Lord says "thine they were and thou gavest them to

In the second place they are his own by purchase. He has paid to the uttermost farthing and now can say to them "Ye are not your own, ye are bought with a price." That price was nothing less than his own precious blood poured out on the cross of Calvary. He gave his life for his sheep, He laid down his life as a ransom for them. He was the "merchantman

His Own Care.

Peter exhorts the Christians to be "casting all your care upon him for he careth for you." This last sentence might be worded, "It is his business to care for you," and he will care for each one of his own. As they are his property, purchased by such a price, he will guard them from all harm, protect them from all evil and set a hedge round about them against all that might injure them. Sometimes
