The White Leghorn.

Observers for the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture report that in the last two years the White Leghorn has so gained in numbers that today it outnumbers all other chickens in the State.

Years ago the American Dominique led; then for many years the Barred Rock led; then the Rhode Island Red pushed this latter in the race for popularity; now the White Leghorn apparently leads.

Part of this new development lies in the premium white shelled eggs are fetching. But a bigger factor has been that the White Leghorn is universally used on the regular poultry or eggs farm and these farms usually having a "mammoth" incubator and selling day-old chicks, such chicks were readily available and hence were used.

Probably if Rock or Red chicks had been as readily available this change to White Leghorns would not have occurred.

As an indication of the tremendous number of White Leghorn eggs are produced in this State, New York produce now quotes eggs thus "Pennsylvania and nearby whites fancy."

The White Leghorn is built for egg production, has had more breeding and selection spent on it for this specialty purpose than probably all other breeds put together and perhaps this turn to popularity was inevitable.

Our School.

Now that school has begun it is to be hoped that superintendent, directors and teachers will get busy and see that moral conditions on and around the playgrounds are the best that can be had, and that all unsightly and immoral caricatures are removed from buildings and thus help to keep the minds of the children from being polluted with impure thoughts—afterward to manifest themselves in their lives.

Starting to school has been the anxious hour of many a parent who is trying to keep his child in the path of purity and virtue. Will you not help?

How To Get Money.

Sell Hogs. Seven thousand dollars is the roll that W. D. Unger, distiller and stock dealer at Foltz, got last week when he shipped 228 hogs to an eastern buyer. The porkers weighed on an average about 200 pounds each and were fattened by Mr. Unger at his place at Foltz.

Jerre Hamilton a farmer living just west of Chambersburg, sold a bunch of hogs weighing about 3400 pounds to W. H. Smith a butcher in that town, when he received a check for almost six hundred dollars.

Mr. and Mrs. Mason Mellott, of Needmore, and daughter Miss Jessie, of Washington, D. C., and Mr. and Mrs. Logue Hess in Logue's car, made a trip to McConnellsburg Monday.

FOUR HUNDRED YEARS OF PROTESTANTISM

To be Commemorated at Sunday School Convention.

PITTSBURGH, OCTOBER 9-12

One of the features of the State Sunday School Convention will be the commemoration of four hundred years of Protestantism. A big chorus choir of six hundred voices will help in the song service under the leadership of Mr. Charles M. Alexander.

DR. WARREN H. WILSON,
NEW YORK.
Rural Church and Sunday School Specialist.
(Convention Speaker.)

The Reformation session will be held on Tuesday evening, October 9, in the New Syria Temple Auditorium, having a seating capacity of four thousand. Scenes from the Reformation period will be thrown on the screen and the address of the evening will be delivered by Dr. S. Parkes Cadman, New York.

From the time Martin Luther protested against the sale of indulgences authorized by the church at Rome, which resulted in Luther nailing his ninety-five Theses upon the Castle church door at Wittenburg, October 31, 1517, and which gave birth to the Reformation Church (later the Lutheran Church) in Germany, down to the present day, Protestantism has given to the world untold blessing brought about through Civil and Religious Liberty.

The open Bible, placed now in the hands of the common people, is a direct gift of the Reformation. Every public school system is an outgrowth of the great reform movement started four hundred years ago. Christian hymns and the modern Sunday School movement all have followed in the wake of the Reformation.

Luther, Zwingli, Calvin and Knox are the big names that stand out in that early period. These are the men who with others of like courage and daring for their new found faith made possible the priceless blessings of liberty and the rights of conscience recognized, enjoyed, and guaranteed in our own great republic and now working like a leaven among all nations. These privileges are directly and indirectly, the results of the truths and principles so clearly and so forcibly proclaimed by these great heroes.

Another feature of this session will be a reel of moving pictures showing various scenes from the state conventions held in Erie and York.

BISHOP FRANKLIN HAMILTON,
Resident Bishop M. E. Church,
Pittsburgh, Pa.
(Convention Speaker.)

The State Sunday School Convention at Pittsburgh will be advertised as a convention of new ideas and the program from start to finish will be replete with suggestions that will make for Sunday School progress.

Go-To-Sunday-School-Day will be one of the new ideas to enlist recruits for the Sunday School and to impress the great truth upon the young that while this war is changing the map of the earth and overturning customs and institutions, God and His word of truth are still the same and will abide unchanged. Sunday, November 11, will be promoted as Go-To-Sunday-School-Day. For other convention features and information, write to the State Sunday School Headquarters, 1511 Arch street, Philadelphia, Pa.

Time to Make Sauer Kraut.

The time is ripe for making sauer kraut, say officials of the United States Department of Agriculture. Tremendous rainfall throughout the country has resulted in an enormous cabbage crop which must be taken care of. Lack of rain last year sent the price of cabbage from $2 to $5 a ton to $100 and $200. One

PITTSBURGH CHOSEN FOR ANNUAL MEETING

Sunday School Workers Representing Over 2,000,000 Members.

To Assemble in Great Convention October 9, 10, 11, 12.

Ian McClaren, the author of the "Bonnie Brlar Bush," whose Christian name is John Watson, when traveling through the United States some years ago was asked, what he discovered in America to be one of the mightiest factors in the making of good citizenship. The Scotchman's quick reply was the American Sunday School.

DR. M. A. HOULINE,
Professor U. B. Theological Seminary,
Dayton, O.
(Convention Speaker.)

The people that go to Sunday School in Pennsylvania are a mighty host, they represent one-fourth of the population. According to the enumeration made in October, 1916, the total State Sunday School enrollment is 2,284,583, and of this number over 600,000 are of adult age.

Pennsylvania's Sunday School workers will assemble in the city of Pittsburgh, October 9, 10, 11 and 12 in a state-wide convention which will attract delegates from every one of the sixty-seven counties. General Secretary W. G. Landes, of Philadelphia, estimates this convention will bring together over 3000 accredited delegates.

The convention sessions will be held in the New Syria Temple Auditorium, having a seating capacity of 4000. This auditorium is located in the Schenley district, one of the beautiful spots of the steel city. In close proximity to the auditorium hall is located the Carnegie Music Hall, the Carnegie Museum, the University of Pittsburgh building, the Schenley Hotel and the famous soldiers' Memorial Hall.

This great annual convention is one of Pennsylvania's largest gatherings of religious workers, for the State Association represents all Protestant Evangelical bodies.

CLINTON HOWARD ROCHESTER,
N. Y.
Lecturer: Temperance Reform Movement.
(Convention Speaker.)

The Pennsylvania State Sabbath School Association is a state-wide associated movement on the part of Sunday School workers of all denominations for the purpose of Sunday School improvement. Just as tradesman manufacturers, mercantiles, public school educators, and others with many interests in common, organize in associations for the improvement of their several professions, so the Sunday School workers have organized and by means of conventions and institutes have secured for the Sunday Schools of Pennsylvania a higher rating.

The Pittsburgh convention will bring together a great company of Sunday school specialists from all parts of the country. The Board of Directors, under the leadership of such men as Hon. John Wanamaker, of Philadelphia, and Mr. H. J. Heinz, of Pittsburgh, who for many years have been outstanding champions of the Sunday School cause, have set a pace for organized Sunday School work that has stimulated the movement in every state in the union.

Further details concerning the convention can be secured by writing to the Pennsylvania State Sabbath School Association, 1511 Arch street, Philadelphia, Pa.

million dollars' worth of last year's crop of cabbage was made into sauer kraut, but even with this amount there was such a shortage of this valuable food material that the price rose from $3.50 a barrel to $35. Sauer kraut is easily made and a very healthy food. Do not allow cabbage to go to waste when it can be made into such a valuable product.
