Why? You have an old pair of scissors handy. You keep snipping a little here, a little there, trying to keep the flame even. The same thing every evening; but don't blame it all on the wick. If you use

ATLANTIC Rayolight

Instead of ordinary kerosene, you won't have charred wicks. There's a great difference in kerosenes. Rayolight Oil is so perfectly refined and scientifically purified that it always gives a sure, true light and an even, steady heat without smoking, sputtering or any nasty burny odors. Results like that are worth being particular about. Insist on getting Rayolight Oil. You'll always find it at stores that display the sign: "Atlantic Rayolight Oil for Sale Here." That store is a good place to deal regularly, too.

It's a scientific fact that, of any artificial light, a kerosene lamp is the most restful and pleasing to the eyes.

All the hotel bars and wholesale liquor dealers' places of business within five miles of the soldiers' camp at Gettysburg were closed by order of the United States authorities last week. The order extended to the Elks and Eagles and they will not be allowed to dispense liquors to their members at their lodges.

Judge Thomas J. Frather, who has made and kept Crawford County dry, got through the September primaries with flying colors. He had four opponents for the nomination, all of them men of standing and strong personal following. Nevertheless, he polled 53 per cent of the entire vote cast and goes on the November ballot without opposition.

The man who goes to France to fight has 14 chances out of 15 of returning home in safety, according to figures compiled by Roger W. Babson, the noted statistician. Mr. Babson's conclusions are based on the mortality figures of the French army during the three years of the war, which include the heavy losses at the Marne and Verdun. According to the death rate of the last year, a man has 39 chances in 40 of surviving warfare and is only about three times as likely to meet death as he would be at home.

New Income Taxes.

As there seems to be a great deal of confusion over the new income taxes, it is worth while to explain concretely what they mean to the man of comparatively small income. The present revenue bill provides super taxes in addition to the existing tax law of just about a year ago, and the law increases taxes over the one originally passed early in the Wilson administration. The existing law and the one about to be enacted must be read together to understand the total tax.

In the first place, unmarried men are allowed only $1000 exemption and married men but $2000, plus $400 for each dependent child, not exceeding two in all. Let us take the case of a married man without children, with a net income of $5000, which is the limit from which the new super taxes begin; his taxes for the current year will be:

On incomes from $2000 to $4000 (new)..... $40

On incomes from $4000 to $5000 (double)..... 40

Total..... $80

This is based on a net income after all deductions of taxes, interest on debts, untaxable income or income tax paid by corporations. Usually this will represent a man with a gross income of at least $6000.

If the net income is $75000, he must pay five per cent. on the additional $2500 (or $125), making $205 his total income tax. Incomes beyond $7500 have a rapidly rising surtax and supertax.

In case the above man is unmarried, his tax will be $100 on a net income of $5000 and $225 on $7500. The new law makes changes in methods of administration which must be carefully studied, especially those clauses dealing with exemptions and payments at the source, which latter are abandoned except for tax-free securities. It is expected that in a short time the Treasury Department will issue a complete statement dealing with the law and regulations permissible under it. The new taxes are payable on incomes for the whole of this year and it is incumbent on every taxable to have his accounts in good order ready for governmental inspection if that is found necessary. Philadelphia Inquirer.

when those handfuls will be worth their weight in gold. We refer to the sinful waste of corn annually on Halloween night. We stand for everything that will furnish our boys and girls clean sport, but we are constrained to appeal to the patriotism of parents, teachers and guardians to begin at once to impress the boys and girls with the enormity of the waste and to test young people to test by voluntarily refraining from eating corn this year on Halloween night. Self restraint can be developed by individuals and here is a good opportunity for the young people to begin. How about it, will you see to it that less boys and girls are of our suggestion?
