mans just before the battle of the Marne. Then the Shepards drove out of Chantilly toward Paris in their big touring car 20 minutes before the first troop of Uhlans entered into Chantilly from Senlis, which they had just put to the torch.

After the battle of the Aisne, when warfare stagnated into intrenched positions, General Joffre selected Chantilly as the seat of his Great Headquarters. The "G. Q. G.," as the French abbreviate "Grande Quartier Generale," remained at Chantilly for more than two years, or up to the time that Joffre was made marshal and General Nivelle took his place as commander in chief of the French armies In the field.

Turned Over to Refugees.

Then came the German retreat to the Hindenburg line and refugees from the devastated region evacuated by the Germans began to pour into Creil, Senlis and Chantilly. Shepard turned over the rooms so recently given up by the officers attached to General Joffre's staff to the refugees and took 21 under his roof the first night. Gradunly the French authorities shifted the refugees to the south of France, and then once more the Shepard home was emptied except for the family. It was then that Mrs. Eleanor Shepard decided to open a convalescent home for sick or wounded American youths serving with the aviation, a generation have been a weekly feathe Red Cross or any other branch of ture of the musical season in London. the service. TEN RULES FOR DISLOYALISTS

"German Efficiency" Applied to Promotion of Traitorous Propaganda at Least Personal Risk.

Pro-kaiser and anti-war propagandists reveal their lack of "German efficiency" in the frequency with which they get themselves pummeled or "pinched."

In the interest of more efficiency, the Independent has condensed the methods of the most successful practitioners of disloyalty into ten rules for carrying on traitorous propaganda at least personal risk.

Most of all of these rules so accurately describe the arguments which nearly everybody has heard from one or more of the traitorous-minded that they are worth frequent perusal. The rules are:

1. Assert on every occasion that "Wall street" made the war. Never mind explaining when, how or why.

2. Get in all the sneers you can at you can find any flaw in our democracy say that "we are just as bad an autocracy as Germany." Place the 3. It is dangerous to denounce the United States directly. But rake history from end to end for mud to throw at the allies. Especially, twist the

4. Profess great concern lest sendcupied by the six Germans who were ing food to Europe will starve Amer-Support every embargo movement was armed only with grenades, and as, that applies to the allied nations and none that does not.

5. If the president asks for any extension of power rave about "dictatorship" and the "everthrow of the liberties for which our fathers, etc."

6. Spread rumors that the allies are going to betray us or take advantage of us as soon as we are deeply enough involved in the war.

7. Accept conscription in principle but hamper its working in every possible way. One good way is to start scares about revolutions and internal disorder as a pretext for keeping a large part of the army at home.

8. Demonstrate that the enemy is unconquerable and victory hopeless. Play the "candid friend" and act as a depressant.

9. Be very jealous to prevent "entangling alliances" and be much concerned about the Monroe doctrine if we "mix ourselves in European quarrels." A permanent league of nations would embarrass your junker friends if-they remain in power after the war. Germany can only hope to conquer other nations if they act selfishly and in isolation. 10. WHEN DRIVEN TO MAKE AN UNEQUIVOCAL STATEMENT PRO-TEST YOUR LOYALTY AND THEN CHANGE THE SUBJECT.

Cut this out and hand it to the next pacifist or luke-warm friend who tries to start an argument.

Gives His Opinions on Pitching and Baseball in General

New York Reporter Interviews Cardinal Player and Leaves With Impression That He is Most Extraordinary Young Man.

A scribbling sharp in New York sought to interview Roger Hornsby of the Cardinals on his opinions concerning hitting, pitching and baseball playing in general.

"How do you figure a pitcher?" was one of the questions asked the Cardinal swatsmith.

"Figure him? Not much to figure." said Hornsby. "All any pitcher's got is a fast one or a slow one or a curve or maybe a spitter. If he don't get it over you walk. If he does, bust it on the nose."

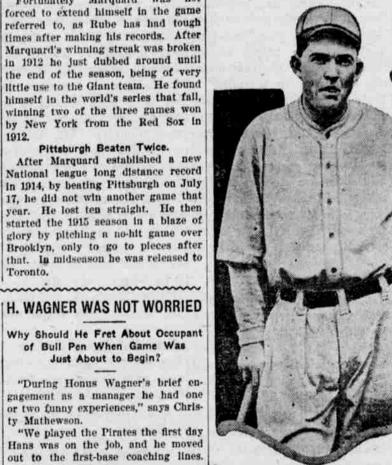

This was not enlightening, so the scribe tried a new tack.

"Were you nervous when you first faced a big league pitcher?" was the question.

"Naw, why should I be nervous? The other birds was hittin' him."

That was enough along that line, so the scribe ventured: "What position do you like best? That is, what do you think you play best?"

"Don't see any difference," said Hornsby. "If they hit a ball where you can get it, then you got to get it
