AFTER EIGHT YEARS.

McConnellsburg Testimony Remains Unshaken.

Time is the best test of truth. Here is a McConnellsburg story that has stood the test of time. It is a story with a point which will come straight home to many of us.

Miss Susan Peightel, McConnellsburg, says: "I was in poor health for some time and I believe that weak kidneys caused the trouble. I suffered greatly from severe pains in my back, which often darted into my head. I often became dizzy and had chills. I was losing strength daily and felt poorly in every way. Doan's Kidney Pills, procured at Trout's Drug Store, brought me quick relief." (State ment given November 5, 1917)

Over Six Years Later, Miss Peightel said: "Whenever I need a backache or kidney medicine, I use Doan's Kidney Pills. They relieve me."

Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Miss Peightel has twice publicly recommended. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

HUSTONTOWN.

Fall sales of farming implements and stock seem to be the go now.

Our community was shocked to learn of the sudden death of Mrs. Andrew Fraker of Clear Ridge. She will be missed, not only in her home, but among her wide circle of friends who were won to her by the christain life she lived and the warmth of her heart which was always displayed.

To the Women of Pennsylvania:

Have you signed the Hoover pledge for Food Conservation?

If you have not and unless you are prepared to carry out his principles involved in your own home kitchen, you are not doing your full part to help win the war.

The form of pledge is printed below. Cut it out, sign it with your full complete address and mail it to Federal Food Administrator, Morris Building, Philadelphia.

You will receive in return for your pledge a Food Administration membership card to be hung in your window and a kitchen card. If you have already signed a pledge card and have failed for any reason to receive a membership window card, the oversight will be promptly corrected by mailing a new pledge at this time as directed above.

President Wilson desires that one of these membership cards shall be displayed in the window of every home as an emblem of loyalty.

Pledge Card for United States Food Administration

If you have already signed, pass this on to a friend.

TO THE FOOD ADMINISTRATOR:

I am glad to join you in the service of food conservation for our nation and I hereby accept membership in the United States Food Administration, pledging myself to carry out the directions and advice of the Food Administrator in my home, in so far as my circumstances permit.

Name.....

Street.....

City.....State.....

There are no fees or dues to be paid. The Food Administration wishes to have as members all those actually handling food in the home.

Anyone may have the Home Card of Instruction, but only those signing pledges are entitled to Membership Window Cards, which will be delivered upon receipt of signed pledge.

Inspiring Services.

Our local Methodist people and all others who attended the services at the M. E. church last Sunday evening were delighted and inspired by an old-fashioned Methodist meeting. The sermon was delivered and the services conducted by G. Murray Klepfer a retired preacher and lecturer now residing at Fayetteville, Pa. Mr. Klepfer will be remembered as one of the lecturers at the County Institute in McConnellsburg some twenty-five years ago.

Speaking of Salaries.

Daniel Webster didn't get $3,000 salary a year to be United States senator. His pay was only $6 a day, says Girard in the Evening Telegraph.

That sum is almost forty times as much as Poe received for his spirited poem, "The Bells."

When President Jefferson sent Lewis and Clark, in 1804 to make the first journey by white men across the country to the Pacific. The party started from St. Louis with forty men. That memorable march of 9,000 miles cost $2,500 to finance—$1,400 less than Eddie Collins obtained for his six ball games.

For these twelve hours of play the world's series winning ball tossers received more than half as much money as was paid to the author of the first great American made dictionary, who toiled for years over his immense task.

For these twelve hours of play, their pay was over four times the average salaries of all the preachers in the United States for a whole year.

It is considerably above the composite salary of American college presidents and more than double that of college professors. But high pay for special service is not limited to champion baseball teams. Charlie Chaplin's movie stunts earn a great deal more for him in a year than any other actor of the world acquired on the stage.

It was a topic for the world gossip when a generation ago the Rev. Dr. T. DeWitt Talmage contracted to deliver 100 lectures in England for $100 each. Prodigious pay for that time.

Mere chicken feed for Billy Sunday! Milton received $25 for "Paradise Lost," but another English poet not so long ago was paid $1,000 for a few lines.

Bret Harte's first story, "The Luck of Roaring Camp," netted him $100 although it made him famous and started him on the road to fame as our country's foremost short-story writer. Almost any breakfast food advertiser can do better than that in these arship days.

OK GROVE.

Had Courage of His Country

Francis Bacon, who was London January 22, 1600, had a reputation for dueling, a practice in England in his day, observed in the Washington Post. From 1560 to 1626. The great made an address against dueling in the House of Commons, sending a challenge, the other livering it. Bacon was then attorney general.
