The Shortage of Sugar.

The truth about the sugar situation seems to be that while for one reason and another the supply of the commodity is unusually scanty, enough of it is on hand or in sight to meet the public need, if a reasonable degree of economy be practiced.

That Americans have a sweet tooth is a well-known fact. They consume more sugar per capita than any other people in the world, and to a great extent their use of it is so lavish as to be wasteful. Now the conditions are such that for a time at least, they will have to put some restraint upon their appetite and deny themselves the unlimited indulgence to which they have become accustomed. We are at war and we shall have to submit with as good a grace as possible to the various deprivations and hardships which war inevitably involves. We ought to be willing to make some sacrifice for the benefit of our associates in the great struggle which is proceeding.

Most people eat more sugar than is good for them, anyhow, and a good many waste almost as much as they eat. They put two or three spoonfuls in a cup of coffee, although one or two would be plenty and some of it is pretty sure to be left in dissolution at the bottom of the cup. Every one will dispense with one spoonful at each meal the resultant aggregate saving will be something very considerable. Let every one do his or her patriotic duty in this connection, as in all others, and the problem which the situation presents will be readily solved.

And it should be clearly understood that the person who tries to get ahead of the rest by laying in a supply materially in excess of his weekly needs is committing an unpatriotic act and is helping to make the situation worse. The retailer should refuse to sell sugar in more than normal quantities to any of his customers, and it is gratifying to know that most retailers are very properly doing so.

The New Dog Law.

The new law prohibits the running at large of all dogs whether licensed or unlicensed, unless accompanied by their owner or keepers and provides that constables and police officers shall seize and detain all dogs so found. All dogs running at large and not licensed are to be immediately killed by the constable or police officers. Copies of the law may be obtained by writing the Department of Agriculture at Harrisburg.

How to Address Mail

for Soldiers Over There.

Making certain that letters will reach American soldiers now in active service in Europe is an easy matter if letter-writers will follow a few simple instructions, advises the Pennsylvania committee of public safety.

There is a standard form of address for all men in the army service abroad and this is how the war department wants all letters addressed (substituting the correct name, company and regimental or other designation in place of the one used here):

John Smith,
Co. K, 18th Infantry,
American Expeditionary Forces.

No other address is allowable. Be careful to set down the name company initial and regiment number plainly and correctly.

Then attach a United States three-cent stamp for each ounce or fraction of an ounce. Foreign stamps must not be used.

In the upper left corner of the envelope place your own name and address. In other respects the mail will be handled subject to the same regulations that control mail service in the United States.

Educational Meeting.

The second local institute of Bethel township was held at Warfordsburg Advanced school last Friday evening. Topics for discussion were as follows: 1. Value of Education. 2. How can we bring our schools to the highest ideal? Teachers present: Clara Norris, Frances Norris, Earle Golden, Mary Breakall, Myrtle Remsburg, Elias Lynch, Blanche Smith and Gladys Charlton, from Bethel; Orben Hebler from Union and Oliver Winters from Thompson. The next institute will be held at Alpine November 10th. Secretary.

The first local institute of Union township held at Excelsior last Friday evening was called to order by the teacher Miss Ritz and Calvin Ritz acted as president. Topics for discussion were: 1. The Dull Pupil. 2. Grammar; Value of, and How Taught. 3. How to Excite Interest in School Work. The topics were ably discussed by the following teachers: G. B. Mellott, Lily Ritz and ex-teacher Jessie Hoopengardner and Marv McKibbin. An excellent program was rendered which speaks well for both teacher and pupils. Surely the time has come when we need in our nation better schools and how can we as teachers afford to miss these educational meetings? It was decided to hold the next meeting at Fairview November 16th. We encourage every teacher to be present.—Jessie Hoopengardner, Sec. pro tem.

The second local institute of Ayr township was held at Cito last Friday evening. The excellent literary work rendered by the school and the astute decisions

Good Citizenship

A bank account makes a good citizen. That's a broad assertion but it is universally true.

A good citizen is one who is independent, self supporting, and who does things conducive to the best interest of the community. The man who has a bank account is independent, he is able to pay his way and he contributes to the general wealth of his community. His funds are in circulation. He pays taxes and helps to make things go. Likewise a man who has money and property in a community is anxious to see that the community prospers. We pull for the man with a bank account.

Start the Day Right

It's not much fun crawling out of the comfy covers at five or six o'clock on frosty mornings. But the alarm has a pleasanter sound when you know a Perfection Oil Heater is waiting—ready to make things warm at the scratch of a match. However, to get perfect results, always use

ATLANTIC Rayolight

It gives a steady, room-filling heat or a clear, brilliant yet mellow light without smoke, soot, smell or charred wicks. That's because Rayolight Oil is more highly refined than ordinary kerosenes—yet it sells at the same price.

Ask for it by name at the store that displays the sign: "Atlantic Rayolight Oil for Sale Here." Then you'll be sure of getting the genuine.

It's a scientific fact that, of any artificial light, a kerosene lamp is the most restful and pleasing to the eyes.
