Lonely and Troubled.

There is no need of suffering from the depredations of rats and mice now that Stearns' Paste is readily obtainable at nearly every store. A small box of this effective exterminator costs only 35 cents and is usually sufficient to completely rid the house, store or barn of rats and mice. The U. S. Government has bought thousands of pounds of Stearns' Paste for use in cities where rats and mice are plentiful. The Paste is also efficient in destroying cockroaches and waterbugs. Adv. As her daughter was obliged to be away during the day, and she was living in a large city, she was naturally somewhat lonely, but loneliness was not her chief trouble. What Made the Difference? Sin makes a terrible difference. The first four words of the Book of Genesis are "In the beginning God." The last four words of the same book are "a coffin in Egypt." In between came sin in a serpent's coll, the sin of our first parents, an appalling heritage to all mankind. So terrible was it that the only remedy was the substitutionary sacrifice of God's son. If men could only realize that there is, perhaps, in some sense, a corresponding difference between a human life lived in the glorious liberty of the sons of God and one in which sin as a tyran sways its black scepter over every ar and thought, they would seek doller ance from sin's guilt and movement

THE ALCOHOL AGE.

"What is the matter with the world?" asked Dr. Charles Gilbert Davis, noted surgeon of Chicago, in a thought-arresting article in the Illinois Issue. His answer is, "A thousand years of alcoholic saturation."

"All life should evolute," he says; "alcohol produces evolution. Take the largest and finest breed of dogs-the Great Dane, for example-and for three or four generations feed them daily a little alcohol and what is the result? What was previously a large, noble animal will deteriorate into a snapping, snarling, fighting, almost hairless, insignificant little cur. And yet we feed men on this lethal polson for thousands of years and then wonder why we have disease, pestilence, Insanity and war.

"In this dawn of the twentieth century it may be truthfully affirmed that the aggressive war brain is the brain that directly, or indirectly through heredity, has been poisoned by alcohol. The alcoholic brain cannot evolve those emotions of the human soul that make for peace. We may talk peace, legislate for peace, and make peace treaties, but wars will never cease till the brain is freed from the corroding effects of alcohol.

"One thousand years from now the historian will record the events of today and classify them under the general heading, 'The Age of Alcohol.' It will be pathetic but interesting lit-

BREAD OR BEER.

Sir Alfred Booth, chairman of the Cunard steamship line, was, when the war began, neither a prohibitionist nor a total abstainer. Early in 1916 he startled Great Britain by declaring that "the transport problem demands prohibition until the war is over." "I am not thinking of the temperance side of the question," he said, "we have got beyond that now. I am thinking of the demand which the trade makes upon the services of our ships, our railways and car's, and our labor," He denounced the use by the breweries and distilleries of thousands of tons of coal mined a. sent to them every week, the barley and other produce carted and hauled b, rail to the brewery, brought back again and distribmaintain our armies in the field, we shall before very long have to choose between bread or beer."

TO SYMBOLIZE A CLEAN LIFE. Four thousand men in the First Reserve Officers Training camp at Fort Sheridan, Ill., signed this pledge:

Method in His Madness.

A story brought from Comp Funston, says the Kansas City Star: A young draft soldier paced the parade ground alone. Stooping suddenly he picked up a small block of wood, studled it a moment, and cast it aside with the remark: "That ain't it." Walking farther, he stooped and brought up scrap of paper, scanned it, and threw it away, again saying: "That ain't it." A third pause a minute later brought his attention to a cigarette stub, but close scrutiny brought the same rejection, "That ain't it."

His captain stood within hearing, watching the draft soldier closely. It was apparent the young man's mentality was wavering. The guard was called, and the patient was sent to the hospital. The next day the captain went to the hospital with the patient's discharge papers. On their delivery, the sufferer held the papers up to the light, examined them closely, and then

A Quiet Week. A man recently bereaved of his wife interviewed the minister about the ar-
