This is not a laborious job, a good team can put the road between him and the first crossing toward town, even if half a mile away, in good condition in a half day, and he will save many times the cost of such labor or expense during the year. Besides the additional value it adds to the farm, there is that personal pride that we all owe to every community, and especially to ourselves.

Steel Device Invented to Correct Certain Degree Fault of Drags on Dry Highways.

Split logs and drags and commercially manufactured drags involving the basic principle of Mr. D. Ward King's simple split-log drag, have done much for the dirt roads of the nation, and these make up the bulk of the mileage of the country roads of this nation. The originator of this type of drag advocated their use while the road was still muddy, to "puddle" the dirt of the road's surface and so make it more waterproof as well as to smooth the surface of the road. This is the best time to use them, for then they accomplish these two tasks so important to the making of a good dirt road. But for some reason or other the bulk of users of road drags persist in using them only after the surface of the road has become dry and rough after a rain, simply to smooth it up.

When used in this way, all the drags of this type have one besic fault; they or refusing to comply with any leave a ridge of loose dirt in the center of the road. If the weather continues dry and hot, this soon dries and, upon conviction shall be and pulverizes into dust, to be blown sentenced to pay a fine not exabout with the shifting winds. If it rains, this loose dirt quickly absorbs ceeding $100 00 or to undergo an a large amount of water and turns imprisonment not exceeding into mud-much quicker than it would have been if it had been packed firm and hard, instead of being loose and porous. Herewith is shown a drawing of a steel drag of this same kind which is designed to correct to a certain degree at least this fault of drags when used on dry ground. It is designed to pack more or less firmly
