CHEERFUL WORDS.

For Many a McConnellsburg Household.

To have the pains and aches of a bad back removed—to be entirely free from annoying, dangerous urinary disorders, is enough to make any kidney sufferer grateful. The following advice of one who has suffered will prove helpful to hundreds of McConnellsburg readers.

Mrs. Lewis Christ, 339 E. Queen St., Chambersburg, Pa., says: "I had rheumatic trouble and my kidneys acted irregularly. At times I was dizzy and my head ached fearfully. Sharp pains took me in the small of my back and across my hips. When I heard of Doan's kidney pills I got some and they surely gave me excellent relief. Doan's put me in much better condition in every way."

Price 60c. at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Christ had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props, Buffalo, N. Y.

An Old Letter.

Harry S. Carmack of Philipsburg, Pa., sent us an old letter that was in his father's possession years ago. Harry thinks that it might be interesting to some of the old folks living in the northern end of Fulton County, as it has been a few years since the death of Mr. Holland. The letter, posted before the time of envelopes, and held together by a red wafer, was written by John Covert, February 10, 1850 and addressed to John B. Holland. It reads as follows: "Dear Sir, I take up my pen to inform you that I am well at present, hoping that these few lines may find you in the state of health. Sir, take this time to inform something about the gels at the mountain school. They are considered hard cases to get ahead of. One day they got pretty bold and tried to master the boys, but they missed it the bloomist. We got them out and they owned to it. They said you were a hard case, and they said they beat you out. I told them they could not beat me out. They tried it but they missed it.

I must tell you something about a hunt I had. I had my rifle and my dogs along. They started up the hill a-flying and caught a fox by the tail and held it until I got a shot. Then I took out my pocket knife and went to skin him, when the fox jumped right up against me and

OLD SIDELING HILL.

[The following poem, published in the Somerset Democrat in its issue of January 30, 1856, has been sent to the NEWS by Miss Viola McClain, of Waterfall, Pa. While the name of the author is not given Miss McClain thinks it was written by a native of Wells Valley. Perhaps some of the older residents of the Valley may know.—EDITOR]

I have wondered through many a valley,
And traveled o'er mountain and plain.
But there's nothing my spirit can rally,
Like a view of my old hills again.
I feel like a child when I'm straying
By the side of each mountain rill,
I think of the time I was playing
Near the foot of Old Sideling Hill.

Here the sun seems to shine more brightly,
As it rises o'er the tall mountain top,
Like it shone when life beamed so lightly,
When my bosom was throbbing with hope.
If I had a cot near that fountain,
Where the purest of water did still,
I would greet a warm friend on the mountain,
That would stop at Old Sideling Hill.

Where the people are frank and kind hearted
With manners both simple and plain;
Often I think of the time we all parted
Ne'er to meet in this wide world again.
Though most of my old friends are scattered,
There are some remaining there still,
And they'll welcome the one who has wandered
When he comes to Old Sideling Hill.

When I lived by that swift little river,
With kindred and friends I was best,
I have good cause to rue that I ever
Moved off to the far distant West
When I left there in life's happy morning,
I had a foreboding of ill;
For better I had taken that warning,
And stayed by Old Sideling Hill.

My locks are now bleaching with sorrow,
My cheeks lost their once rosy hue
But I know if I die here to-morrow,
I'll die among friends that are true.

I am tired, I'm tired of roaming,
My heart is dreary and lone.
And I know the time is fast coming
When I'll go to my long silent home.
When my last day in life I do number,
And bid all of earth's sorrows farewell,
Oh, there be the place of my slumber,
At the foot of Old Sideling Hill.

JUGTOWN ITEMS.

the way we had it for a while was a caution, for it was a question which was going to whip. At last I got him down and by the throat and drew out his wind-pipe and he died. I took him upon my shoulder and carried him home on my back. One day I went up to old Mouldy Heases, and he and Judas got after me and I ran a jump or two and then suddenly stopped, took up Judas and knocked old Mouldy one on the head. He then ran up the mountain about a mile and caught hold of a tree. By that time I had Judas dressed out right.

Then I went on over to Fly-traps and he got after me. I did not run, but gave him a knock-down, jumped on him, gouged out one of his eyes and put it in to my pocket and left for the gold mines. Where I had considerable success and some big times.

I want you to come down before the school is out. I have not said anything about old Billy Cotes you and I did dress him out once and that was just right, I want you to send me an answer.

Date Second Draft Not Set.

Washington, Jan. 30.—War department legislation tentatively agreed upon by the senate military committee and designed to provide additional draft machinery was ready today for introduction in the senate.

The bills provide for the registration of youths attaining the age of 21 years since June 5, last, authorizes the fixing of quotas on the basis of Class 1 of the new classification and empowers the president to call men needed for special industrial work.

Provost Marshall General Crowder in an explanation to the committee said it was proposed to hold a new drawing to establish the order of liability of the new registrants. It is assumed, he asserted, that most of the new registrants will fall in Class 1, giving the class this year a total of more than two million men. From this class it is expected to take the next and future drafts. Secretary Bsker's plan to exempt men who have attained the age 31, disapproved by General Crowder, is not included in the legislation.

Secretary Baker has disclosed that the war department had not fixed the date for another draft and made clear that when he told the senate committee that the United States would have half a million men in France early this year and a half ready to go during 1918, he referred to the divisions now in training camps and those already in Europe.

There is a shortage of wood with many people in the country. In place of getting in a supply of wood many people worked at other things in the fall, expecting to get the wood during the winter and now the extra firing has in many cases exhausted the woodpile and the deep snow has made it almost impossible to get more from the woods.

The Thrice-A-Week Edition of the New York World
in 1918

Practically a Daily at the Price of a Weekly. No other Newspaper in the world gives so much at so low a price.

The value and need of a newspaper in the household was never greater than at the present time. We have been forced to enter the great world war and a large army of ours is already in France. You will want to have all the news from our troops on Europe's battlefields, and 1918 promises to be the most momentous year in the history of our universe.

No other newspaper at so small a price will furnish such prompt and accurate news of these world-shaking events. It is not necessary to say more.

The Thrice-A-Week World's regular subscription price is only $1.50 per year and this pays for 136 pages. We offer this unequalled newspaper and THE FULTON COUNTY NEWS together for one year for $2.15.

The regular subscription price of the two papers is $2.50.

Attar of Roses. Attar of roses, which is an oil, is obtained from three species of wild roses: Rosa centifolia, R. moschata, and R. damascena. The rose gardens at Ghazipur, India, have long been famous for their output of oil of roses. All these roses thrive with little care in California.
