Birthday Surprise.

To remind Mrs. Chas. Hixson that she had reached another milestone in life's journey, and to join in celebrating the event, a number of the friends and neighbors assembled at her home on Wednesday evening of last week and had a royally good time, winding up with refreshments in the shape of ice cream, cake, and coffee. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Hixson, Mr. and Mrs. William Bivens, Mr. and Mrs. James McQuade, Mrs. Raymond Paylor, Mrs. Daniel B. McQuade, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Harris, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Vores, M. and Mrs. Wm. Black, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Ray, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Youse, Mrs. Nettie Truax, Mrs. Watson Lynch, Mrs. Scott Alexander, Mrs. Lucina Forner, Miss Mary Knauff, Calvin McQuade, Geo. Seiders, Rev. S. E. Vance, of Harrisburg; Hazel and Florence McQuade, Ethel Stevens, Inez Black, Josephine and Mary Mel-lott, Henrietta Stevens, Helen Bivens, Ethel Truax, Rose, Hope, and Lonora Black, Helen Vores, Mildred and Netha Hixson, Donald and Ernest Harris, Charles Black, John Vores, Rowe Lynch, Clifford Forner.

Fulton Freed from Toll.

The last toll road in Fulton County was consigned to oblivion last Thursday, when the State and the respective counties took over the Waynesboro, Greencastle, and Mercersburg turnpike, that intersects with the Lincoln Highway at the east end of McConnellsburg. This information will be hailed with delight by our people. This road has been in an abominably bad condition for several years, and yet, tourists were held up at regular intervals, and the full amount of toll exacted.

The turnpike company received something like $60,000.00 for the road. Of this sum, the State paid one-half, Franklin County, $24,612.00 and Fulton about $60,000.

The road will be put in good condition just as rapidly as funds are available, and all the traffic for Mercersburg, Greencastle, Hagerstown, Baltimore and Washington, will be deflected from the Lincoln Highway at McConnellsburg, instead of having to go via Chambersburg, as heretofore.

Got There Just The Same

Jesse Barnett, Roy Early, Claire and Fred Heckman, and Harry Swope—all of Wells Valley, were ordered to appear before the local examining board last Friday, and as the roads were bad, Harry Spangler felt that he would only be doing a small bit toward winning the war for Democracy, by hitching up a pair of his good sturdy farm horses to a sled and taking the boys in to McConnellsburg. This worked all right until they reached the Lincoln Highway, where the snow had been scraped off; but not to be outdone, they commandeered Howard Hollinshead's big motor truck at Harrisonville, and reached McConnellsburg in good time for examination and a good dinner.

Educational Meeting.

The third educational meeting of Union township, was held at Harmonia School, Thursday evening, Jan. 17th. The meeting was called to order by the teacher Mr. Mellott.

A good literary program was rendered. "What Does the School Stand for? And What Should It Accomplish?" was discussed. Teachers present were Lily Ritz Oblen Hebner, Clyde Stable, and Gilbert Mellott. The next meeting was announced to be held at Center.

Early Hatching Profitable.

One of the serious drawbacks to profitable poultry keeping in Pennsylvania is the late maturity of pullets. Too many of our chickens are hatched in the months of May, June and July and do not come to maturity before February or March when eggs are cheapest. Successful poultrymen throughout the State think it highly desirable to hatch their chickens so that they will come to maturity early in the fall and lay high priced eggs. Now is the time to plan for winter eggs for another year. In order to obtain the highest yields of eggs in the months of November, December and January, H. C. Knadel, of the poultry extension department of the Pennsylvania State College, advises farmers to rely almost entirely upon pullets. If these pullets are hatched at the right time and are good, vigorous stock, they should be laying by the first of November. Of the heavier breeds, such as Wyandottes, Rocks, and Reds, the months of February and March are found to be the most suitable for incubation: In the case of the Leghorns a great deal of success has been attained by the hatching of them in February and March so that they will lay by the first of September.

One can count upon their laying through September, October and November when the eggs are highest in price and then, usually, they go into a moult in December. However, this can be overcome in some degree by hatching out a later brood so that this brood can take the place of the chickens which are going into moult. Thus we can more nearly attain a definite egg production through the entire year. It has been proved beyond a doubt that quick growth means less cost production of both eggs and meat and this quick growth is seldom found in late hatched chickens.
