Sale of Poultry.

The Federal Food Administrator wishes to call the attention of the public to the following telegram received from the State Food Administrator, explaining the poultry order:

"Referring to the poultry regulation of the 11th inst. All poultry actually delivered to collector's representatives prior to February 11th, may be treated as shipped prior to February 11th, and may be sold by dealers between the 11th and 23rd inst. This does not apply to any purchaser from producers on February 11th or later. The farmers are exempt so far as poultry grown by them is concerned. They may sell such poultry direct to consumer but not to dealers; but farmers may not buy poultry from others to sell—either to dealers or consumers. Their exemption is confined to poultry grown by themselves."

JOHN R. JACKSON,
Federal Food Administrator for Fulton County.

Gives Six Sons To Uncle Sam.

Stevensville, Mont., Feb. 15—Hats off, D. E. Lockridge is passing by! He's a real American. He is giving six sons to the colors and at 67 has just licked a pro-German blattmouth. Lockridge has two sons with the colors. A third was just enlisted. Three others are going this year, as soon as they can settle up their affairs.

When a German itinerant sewing machine mender said, in Lockridge's house, that Germany would and should win the war, the old man, without removing his coat, demonstrated America's fighting strength.

The Government And The Farmer.

In his message of January 31 to the farmers of America, President Wilson points out the great governmental agencies and instrumentalities in the field of agriculture.

Our Department of Agriculture, he states, is the greatest practical and scientific organization in the world and its total annual budget of four to six million dollars has been increased during the last four years more than 72 per cent. Its staff numbers 18,000 and includes many highly trained experts. The agricultural colleges and experiment stations of the country have a total endowment of plant equipment of $172,000,000 and an annual income of more than $35,000,000. Ten thousand two hundred and seventy one teachers with 125,000 students, together with a vast number receiving instruction at their homes, evidence what is being done in the way of agricultural training, and to these may be added the 255 men and women working under the Smith-Lever Act.

The banking legislation of the last two or three years, the President shows, has given the farmers access to the great lendable capital of the country and through the Federal Reserve banking system and the Farm Loan banking system farmers can obtain the credit, both short and long term, to which they are entitled and which it is imperatively necessary should be extended to them to enable them to perform adequately the tasks the country now requires of them.

The President touches on another aspect of the relations between the farmers and the Nation—"The toil, the intelligence, the energy, the foresight, the self-sacrifice, and devotion of the farmers of America will, I believe, bring to a triumphant conclusion this great war."
